3,000 MECHANICS IN PROTEST

Area Convoy Joins Lansing Blast Against New Repair Act

LANSING — Nearly 200 auto mechanics and body repairmen from Berrien and Van Buren counties drive in convoy to Lansing yesterday to join a protest of some 3,000 garagemen on the capitol steps against the state's motor vehicle service and repair act.

The new law, which became effective March 1, requires repair shops to provide a written estimate of repairs if they exceed $20, requires the shops to pay an annual license fee ranging from $25 to $300, and requires all mechanics to pass a certification test by 1981.

The southwestern Michigan repairmen, mostly owners and managers of independent garages, joined an estimated 3,000 others from all over the state in a peaceful, 3½-hour protest in front of the capitol, which was surrounded by parked low-trucks driven in from all over the state.

At noon, most of the demonstrators piled into their tow-trucks, jeeps, pick-ups and drove with police escort to the Ingham county courthouse in Mason where a hearing was to begin on a suit challenging the law.

That hearing was recessed at 5 p.m. and was scheduled to resume at 9:30 a.m. today. The Michigan Automotive Service Council was seeking a preliminary injunction against the law until the case can be tried. The council also organized yesterday's demonstration.

The convoy from Berrien and Van Buren counties was hastily organized Tuesday by George Schmalbach, partner in the Selfridge Body Shop, 2034 M-139, Benton township. He said he had urged area garagemen Tuesday to join the protest while at a Benton Harbor meeting called by the state to explain the law.

An estimated 70 vehicles, half of which were tow-trucks, left Benton Harbor at 5:45 a.m. yesterday with their red and yellow lights flashing and with protest slogans splashed all over.

Once at Lansing, the area garagemen found their elected legislators had sympathetic ears for their complaints.

Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) told three mechanics who had stalked his office all morning that Rep. Wayne Sackett (R-Kalamazoo) was drafting a repeal bill, but Mittan warned it had little chance as the Democrat-controlled legislature favored the law.

Later, Sen. Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) told a group of 17 area garagemen that he would introduce the repealer in the senate.

Mittan and Zollar had voted against the bill when it was passed in 1974. Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor), Rep. Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) and Rep. DeForest Strang (R-Sturgis) also opposed the original bill. Mittan said that before the bill was brought to a vote, he and other Republicans had believed it "was so bad that no one would vote for it anyway."

He said he did not learn until the day of the vote that the bill was strongly supported by the AFL-CIO. That knowledge influenced many legislators to change their vote at the last minute, he said.

Mittan said he and Gast unsuccessfully attempted to soften the bill with amendments after

Cass Jury Awards $450,000

CASSOPOLIS — A Dowagiac man here yesterday received what is believed to be the largest award ever from a civil lawsuit in southwestern Michigan — $450,000.

Awarded the damages by a six-member Cass county circuit court jury was Alvina (Mack) Starrett, 56, who testified he was hospitalized with burns for 8½ months after the metal tank he was cutting into scrap exploded in his face on March 9, 1973.

The decision went against Sundstrand Heat Transfer corporation, a Dowagiac firm.

The jury of five men and one woman deliberated for about 4½ hours at the conclusion of the 11-day civil trial which began March 8 before Cass Circuit Court Judge James Hoff.

Starrett had not sought a specific amount in the suit he filed, but his attorney in his closing arguments had asked the jury for up to $1,250,000 in damages.

The jury, in its 5 to 1 decision

— a split permitted by Michigan law in civil cases — also awarded $50,000 to Starrett's wife, John, for loss of companionship and for her services as her husband's nurse.

A similar suit by Starrett's brother, Lawrence, 50, injured in the same accident, is pending in the court.

Judge Hoff said he believes the $450,000 award is the largest ever in Cass county and court officials in Van Buren and Berrien counties said they cannot recall any suit in their counties that carried a higher award.

At the time he was injured, Starrett was employed by a Dowagiac scrap metal firm, Franklin & Sons.

He claimed in his suit that a large metal tank sold by Sundstrand to Franklin as scrap contained a residue of magnesium dust inside it and exploded when touched off by a spark from a cutting torch.

Starrett claimed Sundstrand had been negligent in not warning of the residue.

Attorneys for Sundstrand claimed Franklin and Sons, and Starrett had been negligent in not exercising caution.

Starrett was represented by three attorneys headed by Eugene Field of Kalamazoo.

Sundstrand was represented by William Buchanan of Grand Rapids.

Buchanan said there has been no decision yet on whether his client plans an appeal.

No Help Offered Robbery Victim, BH Police Say

Benton Harbor police said several witnesses did not aid a beer truck driver who was robbed of $500 in cash after a scuffle of several minutes with the thief.

Joe Pratt, a driver for Bud Kerly Sales, Inc., Stevensville, was not injured in the robbery about noon Thursday near the intersection of Empire and Broadway.

According to a report filed by Patrolman Phil Harris, "numerous citizens witnessed the robbery, however (they) refused to give any information." Harris also said the witnesses did nothing to prevent the robbery.

Pratt told police he had just made a delivery in the 200 block of Empire and was getting into his truck when a man grabbed the wallet out of his pocket. Pratt said he wrestled with the man several minutes before the man escaped on foot. The $500 was from collections made earlier, police reported.

The robber was described as black, about 17, and wore a red sweatshirt, khaki pants and a green stocking cap, police reported.

PAUL ROBERTS HOISTS HIS PACK

Bar Bet Has 750-Mile Ending

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A hearty Hawaiian who says outsiders can make it in rugged Alaska is walking 750 miles with a 78-pound pack, $100 and a promise not to hitchhike or cross-country ski to prove it. He has 48 days to make it and collect $5,000. It all began in a bar when Paul Roberts, 32, spoke up for the worth of non-Alaskans lured to the state for its magnificent scenery and promise of big dollars on the pipeline. Three days after that, Thursday, Roberts was marching down one of the state's few highways to the tiny Yukon Territory community of Keno Hill — 750 miles away. "They kept saying how outsiders can't make it up here," Roberts said. "Finally I told them to put up or shut up. I'd probably had about five drinks too many." Eight Alaskans drinking with Roberts in a local bar put up a total of $5,000, which was flown to Keno Hill to await his arrival. He has 48 days to make the hike, $100 in his pocket and a promise not to hitchhike or cross-country ski. "I plan to average 15 miles a day," he said Wednesday. "If the weather holds, I can move at two miles an hour for 10 hours a day."

New Allegan Judgeship Advances

LANSING — Michigan would have nine new judges, including a second district judge for Allegan county, under legislation the House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The House approved, 77-27, the measure sponsored by Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, (D-Battle Creek), after he said it was necessary to help handle growing court caseloads.

District Judge Gary Stewart, Circuit Judge George Corsiglia, and Probate Judge Dwight M. Cheever, currently serve Allegan county. The Allegan circuit court post was created by the legislature in 1974, with Judge Corsiglia being elected in November, 1974, thus dividing the former Allegan-Ottawa circuit district.

Stevensville Rejects Heyn's Resignation

Stevensville village council last night rejected an offer by Councilman William Heyn Jr. to resign.

Heyn on Monday was charged in federal district court in Grand Rapids with embezzling $7,534.95 from the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, Benton Harbor, when he was employed there.

Heyn made his offer verbally to the council. He said, "In view of what has happened to me during the past six to eight months, I would like to submit for your consideration, my resignation from this council." In a voice vote, the council rejected the offer. No negative votes were heard on the motion made by B. W. Yastick. Others voting were council members Lloyd Mallett, Donald DeMorrow, Charles Kerlikowske and Richard Krainer.

Heyn was re-elected to a new term on the council in the village's March 8 election. He stood mute to eight counts filed against him when he appeared in federal court and a plea of innocent was entered for him. He was freed under $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await trial.

Prior to the motion to reject the resignation, Heyn replied "no" to a question from Kerlikowske, if he planned to move to Chicago.

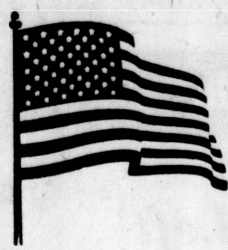

Heyn reported at the time of his rejection that his occupation was sales manager for Travel Enterprises, Park Ridge, Ill.

In other business, council granted a sign ordinance variance to John Froehlich, manager of Stevensville Arco service station, Red Arrow highway, to erect a three by 10 foot illuminated sign south of his business. A sign, approximately six by eight feet, is presently located directly in front of the station. The ordinance allows only one sign per business.

Permission was also granted to the Fred Jung Real Estate agency to change the lettering on an already existing one by 12 foot sign located in the Village Square Shopping center. Jung plans to open his office in a location now occupied by a wallpaper and paint business.

With the exception of Mallett, council agreed no variance was needed because the sign was erected prior to the approval of the new sign ordinance, which

The bill also creates two other district court judgeships in Macomb county and for Grand Traverse — Leelanau counties plus six new circuit court judges in Genesee county, Saginaw county, Washtenaw county, Calhoun county, Lenawee county, and one for Mecosta and Oshtemo counties.

The new judges would be elected in the November general election, if the bill becomes law. Russell Sill, Allegan county clerk, said petitions to be placed on the ballot must be submitted by June 1.

Rosenbaum said the new judges would receive salaries of over $26,000 each.

Stevensville Rejects Heyn's Resignation

Stevensville village council last night rejected an offer by Councilman William Heyn Jr. to resign.

Heyn on Monday was charged in federal district court in Grand Rapids with embezzling $7,834.95 from the Farmers and Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, when he was employed there.

Heyn made his offer verbally to the council. He said, "In view of what has happened to me during the past six to eight months, I would like to submit for your consideration, my resignation from this council."

In a voice vote, the council rejected the offer. No negative votes were heard on the motion made by B. W. Yaslick. Others voting were council members Lloyd Mallett, Donald DeMorrow, Charles Kerlikowske and Richard Kramer.

Heyn was re-elected to a new term on the council in the village's March 8 election. He stood mute to eight counts filed against him when he appeared in federal court and a plea of innocent was entered for him. He was freed under $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await trial.

With the exception of Mallett, council agreed no variance was needed because the sign was erected prior to the approval of the new sign ordinance, which allows only one sign per shopping center.

Approval was given to purchase four "no right turn on red light" signs to be used if necessary at the John Beers road-Red Arrow highway intersection. State law will permit the turns beginning April 1, except where local law prohibits. Council instructed Richard Beck, police chief, to patrol the intersection for two weeks and make his recommendation at the April 15 council meeting.

Council was notified by the state highway department it has until July, 1977, to agree to change the parallel parking to angle on St. Joseph avenue and John Beers road. The parking procedure would have to go into effect by 1980 or the village will lose its state aid for maintenance of the two roads, the letter stated.

It was voted to purchase six Bicentennial flags at $17 each and 24 American flags at $5 each to be displayed throughout the village on July 4.

Permission was granted to the Lakeshore Lions club to conduct a White Cane sale within the village on Friday, April 30 and Saturday, May 1.

Democratic Hopeful Switching Brands

Besides demonstrating Chicago's mayor, Richard J. Daley, still swings a hefty clout, the Illinois primary on Tuesday confirmed a growing belief drawn from the four similar engagements preceding it that a candidate taking a far left or right stance will not move very close to the White House this year.

Ronald Reagan's conservatism is not hurting Jerry Ford as the President's friends at first feared.

Jimmy Carter and Henry (Skip) Jackson are leading the Democratic pack by the studied art of staying clear of the limousine liberal crowd.

Birch Bayh and Fred Harris already have bitten the dust, a fact not going unnoticed by Rep. Morris Udall from Arizona.

The western Congressman is now the Lone Ranger among the liberal candidates and in a swing through Wisconsin this week he took the unusual step of seeking to shed that label.

Busing is a hot potato in Milwaukee this year and since the Milwaukee area is the largest geographical voting bloc in the Badger state, all candidates have to approach that question cautiously.

Before reaching the town that Blatz made famous, Udall quietly dropped the liberal label. While continuing to regard himself as a liberal, henceforth for campaigning purposes he wants to be known as progressive.

"It's just like Jerry Ford with denture," he told one reporter, "When a word takes on connotations you don't like, it's time to change the label."

Continuing the lament, Udall added, "The word liberal is associated with abortion, drugs, busing and big spending, wasteful government."

Presently running fourth or fifth in a field of six or seven candidates, Udall most apparently has studied the statistical background in the Carter-Jackson 1-2 position to conclude how adjectives can mean more than nouns.

Possibly he recalls the 1972 contest when too late in the day George McGovern tried to soft peddle the hairier schemes he had proposed early in the campaign to save the country.

Different Areas Have Different Groundhogs

A blast of cold weather along the East Coast recently sent amateur forecasters back to the books to look up the Groundhog Day predictions of last February. Alas, there were two contradictory reports. It seems that the Punxsutawney, Pa., groundhog named Phil saw his shadow after emerging into temperatures measuring 10 degrees below zero. But Woodrow K. Chuck of the Turtle Back Zoo in Orange, N. J., didn't see anything at all. "The zoo director said at the time, 'he tried to make a run for the heated office.' So, if one believes in tradition, Punxsutawney is assured of winter weather until at least March 16, while Orange may get a better break.

Technically, the first day of spring arrives on the day of the vernal equinox — when the sun's center crosses the equator and days and nights are of equal length in all parts of the world. This will occur on Saturday, March 20. But as Henry Van Dyke has written, "The first day of spring is one thing, the first spring day is another."

Regardless of when the warm weather arrives, the advent of spring is always accompanied by certain rituals. It is frisbee time on campus as well as a signal that final exams are creeping up. For baseball fans it is a time of new trades and spring training camps — a ritual that has been held up this year because of stalled contract negotiations.

In the nation's capital, spring is celebrated with the annual Cherry Blossom Festival. Residents were a bit worried about the health of the cherry blossoms after a recent snowfall, but the National Park Service reports they were unaffected and are expected to be in full bloom on March 22. If the blossoms are killed in a future frost, however, Dr. Henry M. Caffey of the Department of Agriculture's ornamentals laboratory is ready with an alternate plan. It seems that the Japanese, who have trouble with natural blossoms because of pollution problems and tree disease, make pink paper flowers and attach them to cherry trees. Washingtonians, says Caffey, could do the same.

Notre Dame Prof Scoffs At Tale Of Killer Bees

bad scare with little substance? That is what a Notre Dame biology professor believes they are.

Dr. Harold Esch says the stories of super-aggressive African bees making their way through Brazil and heading northward may be due to nothing more than ignorance. Native Brazilian bees, he says, do not have stingers. The African variety does.

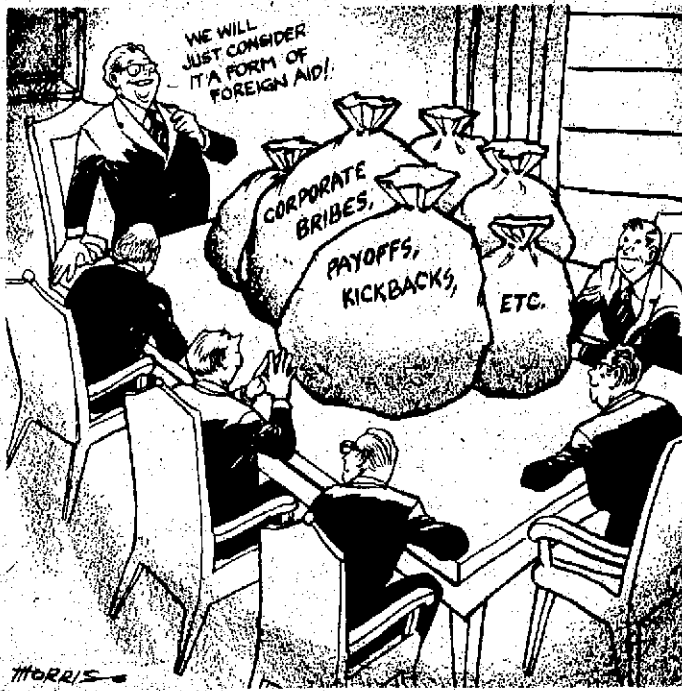

Brazilians accustomed to breaking into bee hives for honey get stung when they chance upon an African bee hive. At that point, their imaginations take over, he believes.

"The problem in Brazil is that people who have read reports about killer bees get fearful and they start trying really dumb things to eradicate them. The bees react to this treatment and sting people and the whole thing goes in a vicious cycle, creating new stories about killer bees."

What about the reports of Brazilians dying from the bee stings?

"If you are allergic to bee stings, one sting can be enough to kill you if you do not receive proper care immediately," Esch said, adding that a high proportion of Brazilians may be allergic to bee venom because they are unaccustomed to it.

PROTESTS KILLING OF SEAL PUP

Editor,

Many of your readers must have been as shocked as I was at the photograph of the brutal killing of the Harp Seal pup, and wonder what we, as individuals, can do to help bring about a stop to this appalling slaughter of harmless and defenseless creatures for profit.

SAYS SEAL PICTURE DEPICTS 'HUNTING'

Editor,

The picture of the baby seal on the front page of your newspaper should have been in living color, and then everyone could see what really happens. Of course, this is considered a part of the great sport called hunting. It matters not if the animals are clubbed to death or left to suffer, starve and die in steel traps or are wounded and maimed by guns and arrows. It's still considered to be part of the sport!

You had a wonderful article in the paper recently entitled "Man Remains No. 1 Enemy of Wildlife." The facts were true and well stated and I certainly hope many people read the article.

Many states are trying to enact laws which will outlaw the cruel steel traps (which, by the way, do indeed snare domestic animals as well, as a friend of ours in Ohio recently told the story of his dog being caught by one leg in such a trap and not being found for three days); other states are promoting conservation laws and trying to update the very loosely regulated use of animals in the medical laboratories of this nation. The Animal Welfare Act (S.1941) and H.R. 96 to protect our wildlife from the steel traps, are both bills which should be supported by those who find this inhumane treatment of animals so repulsive.

"The Fund for Animals, Inc." is a very good organization with state offices as well as a national office at 140 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Thank you for bringing your recent articles to the public's attention.

HIS BOOK ON BI WOULD BE TEARJERKER

Editor,

I would write a book about Benton Harbor except that nobody would buy it. To begin with, it would be too irritating and the end would be too sad.

Chapter one would be subtitled "Benton Harbor: Past, Present and Future". It would first describe a vital, swinging, busy city. Secondly a dying, deeply troubled town, and then Junktown, U.S.A. Junktown is an appellation used by certain non-residents to describe our city.

Chapter two is called "Six To Three at City Hall" and is all about how night makes right.

Chapter three, "Financial Problems of the City" would delineate the reasons for spending large sums of taxpayers money for attorney contracts, surveys and newsletters.

Chapter four, "Dirty Streets and Dirtier Alleys" would delve into the reasons for garbage and trash being strewn about and why existing ordinances are not enforced.

The next two chapters could be combined. They are entitled "The Unemployable and the Unwilling" and "Revenue Sharing and Other Federal Funds; How They Are Spent".

Chapter six is "Local Codes and Uninhabitable Housing". This is a probe into boarded up, burned out, falling down wrecks which are still standing, more or less, in Benton Harbor.

Chapter seven, the last of the book, is very short. It consists of a word picture of an elderly native resident standing alone at Main and Pilestone. He's wiping his eyes. It's 9:00 p.m. and he is the only one on the street.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It is difficult now to imagine Arvo Gus Hallberg as the scourge of America, a man so notorious he had to alter his name to get work. Yet Gus Hall and his American Communist party threw fear into millions in days past. Now 65 and 57 years old, respectively, he and it are only shadows of what was, and serve for most Americans as merely a reminder that there are few political monsters here who warrant the worry given to them.

Assuredly, there was something of a viable U.S. Communist menace when Hall was in the tabloids. The party in 1943 had an estimated 100,000 members. Yet the American reaction failed to take into account the strength of the nation and the weakness of the enemy. Reds are not supermen, as Edwin O. Reischauer has since said. "Their feet of clay extends up to their brains." In sum, we gave Gus Hall too much credit.

A scourge? A worry? American democracy is in fact fortunate that Hall has been in charge of those who would do it in. For 40 years an influential Communist organizer, he has succeeded only in proving to the U.S. people that his ideas are unappealing.

His presidential attempts, actually, are a measure of the futility of American communism under Hall. He spent $200,000 last time around, and got 25,222 votes, some of them cast in humor or in error. This year more will be spent — God forbid he qualifies for matching funds — and in the process he will as ever claim that ballots for a Communist are nails in the coffin of the Rockefeller and monopolists. Hall talks like that

Hall's campaign is undoubtedly worker-oriented. He promises a 30-hour week for 40 hours pay, which is probably why there are always a few who'll pull his lever.

Hall has spent his life urging trust of Moscow. Constantly on guard against new thoughts, Hall has passed the word to his (approximately 7,500) members that anti-Sovietism is not to be.

It is ironic that Russia has seldom replied in kind to Hall's devotion. Seen in Moscow years ago as a lightweight, the Soviet world treats him merely with tolerance. Candid Communists say Hall is humored by Russians, his staying power is appreciated, but that the only reason he is not shuffled aside is that his heirs are even less swift than he.

To his credit, Hall has hung on. Other leftists come and go but Hall's CP remains the most active and obstinate organization of this kind of U.S. extremism.

The party newspaper, The Daily World, continues to have a 40,000 press run. The grimy party headquarters on New York's 28th Street continues to receive some small contributions. The old bomb throwers continue to get together with the new radicals in quiet local sessions, dreaming of the day when private property is abolished.

And of course the quest for the White House goes on never ending. The party hopes to be on ballots in 25-30 states this year, a group of workers has been gathered, a publicist has been employed. Gus Hall for President. Is anybody anywhere really worried anymore?

Economic Plan Won't Work

WASHINGTON — President Ford is more optimistic about the economy than most of us, who feel almost daily from another bus fare increase, another property tax increase, another parking fee increase, another increase in the cost of shoes.

The President talks to fancy economists and looks at statistics, but we pay the bills.

That's why it will take more than presidential rhetoric in an election year to calm public fears of continued high unemployment and inflation, coupled with slow growth and a decline in efficient services.

What will it take, short of a speedy miracle? Some prestigious economic experts believe the answer may be a good six-year centralized economic plan, such as many other nations have tried.

The Senate Government Operations Committee will hold hearings later this spring on a measure which would establish a national planning agency for the American economy to draft a balanced growth plan, aimed at solving long-term economic problems. The bill was introduced a year ago by Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.) and has provoked widespread controversy.

The idea behind the bill is that the development of full employment and price stability can no longer be left to chance but must be rationally managed. United Auto Workers president Leonard Woodcock, in support of the bill, observed, "Experience has taught us that the unseen magic of the so-called free market does not work."

The trouble, however, is that Big Government planning has fallen into public disfavor. Public sentiment leans toward less government interference in private business affairs rather than more. Large-scale government programs to right social imbalances have come under increasing criticism for waste, misuse and ineffectiveness.

And now along comes a thoughtful study by the Institute for Contemporary Studies of past experiences with economic planning both in this country and abroad. The Institute's report concludes that economic planning simply doesn't work. Furthermore, it charges that in the great majority of cases it has actually aggravated economic problems.

Business planning is often held up as the model for similar efforts to organize economic thinking in government. But the study contends that in fact business planning is just as chaotic as has been centralized economic planning in such countries as France and Great Britain.

Fifteen economists and political scientists contributed to the report. Indiana University political scientist Vincent Ostrom argues that economic planning does not work because a planner cannot begin to know enough in a complex society to plan successfully. It takes so long to gather information from a wide variety of sources that the earlier data is outdated before the later data is even collected.

A. Lawrence Chickering, director of the Institute, contends that even if the proper information were available, the chances are overwhelming that the planner either would not or could not use that information in making his plans. Even if a planner wants to make decisions apart from his own personal ambitions — which is not always the case — competing interests, constituencies and pressure groups will not permit him to do so, Chickering says.

Politics, in other words, invades the field of official planning just like everywhere else.

Chickering is not talking about awful things like bribes, only the normal desire to please those who in turn can be helpful.

Democratic Hopeful Switching Brands

Besides demonstrating Chicago's mayor, Richard J. Daley, still swings a hefty clout, the Illinois primary on Tuesday confirmed a growing belief drawn from the four similar engagements preceding it that a candidate taking a far left or right stance will not move very close to the White House this year.

Ronald Reagan's conservatism is not hurting Jerry Ford as the President's friends at first feared.

Jimmy Carter and Henry (Skip) Jackson are leading the Democratic pack by the studied art of staying clear of the limousine liberal crowd.

Birch Bayh and Fred Harris already have bitten the dust, a fact not going unnoticed by Rep. Morris Udall from Arizona.

The western Congressman is now the Lone Ranger among the liberal candidates and in a swing through Wisconsin this week he took the unusual step of seeking to shed that label.

Different Areas Have Different Groundhogs

A blast of cold weather along the East Coast recently sent amateur forecasters back to the books to look up the Groundhog Day predictions of last February. Alas, there were two contradictory reports. It seems that the Punxsutawney, Pa., groundhog named Phil saw his shadow after emerging into temperatures measuring 10 degrees below zero. But Woodrow K. Chuck of the Turtle Back Zoo in Orange, N. J., didn't see anything at all. "Not only didn't he see his shadow," the zoo director said at the time, "he tried to make a run for the heated office." So, if one believes in tradition, Punxsutawney is assured of winter weather until at least March 16, while Orange may get a better break.

Technically, the first day of spring arrives on the day of the vernal equinox — when the sun's center crosses the equator and days and nights are of equal length in all parts of the world. This will occur on Saturday, March 20. But as Henry Van Dyke has written, "The first day of spring is one thing, the first spring day is another."

Notre Dame Prof Scoffs At Tale Of Killer Bees

Could those "killer" bees tales from South America be little more than a bad scare with little substance? That is what a Notre Dame biology professor believes they are.

Dr. Harold Esch says the stories of super-aggressive African bees making their way through Brazil and heading northward may be due to nothing more than ignorance. Native Brazilian bees, he says, do not have stingers. The African variety does.

Brazilians accustomed to breaking into bee hives for honey get stung when they chance upon an African bee hive. At that point, their imaginations take over, he believes.

"The problem in Brazil is that people who have read reports about killer bees get fearful and they start trying really dumb things to eradicate them. The bees react to this treatment and sting people and the whole thing goes in a vicious cycle, creating new stories about killer bees."

What about the reports of Brazilians dying from the bee stings?

"If you are allergic to bee stings, one sting can be enough to kill you if you do not receive proper care immediately," Esch said, adding that a high proportion of Brazilians may be allergic to bee venom because they are unaccustomed to it.

SAYS SEAL PICTURE DEPICTS 'HUNTING'

Editor,

The picture of the baby seal on the front page of your newspaper should have been in living color and then everyone could see what really happens. Of course this is considered a part of the great sport called hunting. It matters not if the animals are clubbed to death or left to suffer, starve and die in steel traps or are wounded and maimed by guns and arrows, it's still considered to be part of the sport!

You had a wonderful article in the paper recently entitled "Man Remains No. 1 Enemy of Wildlife." The facts were true and well stated and I certainly hope many people read the article.

Many states are trying to enact laws which will outlaw the cruel steel traps (which, by the way, do indeed snare domestic animals as well, as a friend of ours in Ohio recently told the story of his dog being caught by one leg in such a trap and not being found for three days); other states are promoting conservation laws and trying to update the very loosely regulated use of animals in the medical laboratories of this nation. The Animal Welfare Act (S.1941) and H.R. 66 to protect our wildlife from the steel traps, are both bills which should be supported by those who find this inhumane treatment of animals so repulsive.

"The Fund for Animals, Inc." is a very good organization with state offices as well as a national office at 140 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Thank you for bringing your recent articles to the public's attention.

HIS BOOK ON BH WOULD BE TEARJERKER

Editor,

I would write a book about Benton Harbor except that nobody would buy it. To begin with, it would be too irritating and the end would be too sad.

Chapter one would be subtitled "Benton Harbor: Past, Present and Future". It would first describe a vital, swinging, busy city. Secondly a dying, deeply troubled town, and then Junktown, U.S.A. Junktown is an appellation used by certain non-residents to describe our city.

Chapter two is called "Six To Three at City Hall" and is all about how might makes right.

Chapter three, "Financial Problems of the City" would delineate the reasons for spending large sums of taxpayers money for attorney contracts, surveys and newsletters.

Chapter four, "Dirty Streets and Dirtier Alleys" would delve into the reasons for garbage and trash being strewn about and why existing ordinances are not enforced.

The next two chapters could be combined. They are entitled "The Unemployable and the Unwilling" and "Revealing Sharing and Other Federal Funds; How They Are Spent".

Chapter six is "Local Codes and Uninhabitable Housing". This is a probe into boarded up, burned out, falling down wrecks which are still standing, more or less, in Benton Harbor.

BH Firms Plan $3.5 Million In New Machines

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Two Benton Harbor industries have announced plans to install more than $3.5 million in new machinery, which is expected to add new jobs at the two plants.

Robert A. Kish, president of Superior Steel Castings Co., said the company is adding equipment worth more than $2 million. The new machinery will enable Superior Steel to compete with foreign markets, Kish said. Forty new jobs are anticipated.

Edwin Mendel, vice president and treasurer of Michigan Standard Alloys, said the company is adding $1.5 million in machinery that will increase employment by 10 to 20 people at its Arthur Mendel road plant.

The new installations at Superior Steel and Michigan Standard Alloys do not entail building construction.

The two companies are applying for tax exemptions on the expansions under the Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Districts Act of 1974. A public hearing is scheduled Monday before the Benton Harbor city commission on the requests.

Industrial firms building new additions or installing new equipment may qualify for a 50 per cent taxes for 12 years on the assessed valuation of the expansion. The state act is aimed at encouraging industrial expansion and the creation of new jobs.

Alvin Chase, economic development director for the City of Benton Harbor, noted that new jobs in other areas of the companies may be created after the new machinery is installed and production is increased.

The equipment at Superior Steel is expected to increase employment by 40 people when the company reaches full production capacity, Kish said. The Graham avenue company currently employs 300 people a total of 400 when in full production. Superior Steel's expansion will include new molding machinery, anti-pollution equipment, and upgraded furnaces and overhead cranes. A subsidiary of Matigood Corp. of Chicago, Superior Steel produces castings for the automotive, railroad and construction industries.

Michigan Standard Alloys' machinery addition will include a new "dross" mill, located outside the company's aluminum plant on Mendel road, according to Mendel. Michigan Standard Alloys produces zinc and aluminum alloys for the automotive and appliance industries and employs a total of 250 people.

BH University Center Eyes Future Locations

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

A committee is studying possible future locations for the continuing education center of Michigan State University and Western Michigan University, presently at 777, Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

The universities and Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce have jointly leased quarters in the Riverview office complex since 1967. The lease expires Dec. 31, 1977.

The location study group is a subcommittee of the University Center Advisory committee, an advisory arm of the continuing education center. Lee Auble, retired Berrien Springs school superintendent, is committee chairman and John Dietrich of Whirlpool Corp. is subcommittee chairman.

Dr. Albert Mowry, director of the MSU center, said purposes of the study are to determine if the present location is the right spot for regional offices that serve three counties and if it will meet needs for the next five to 10 years.

He noted the Chamber of Commerce has required additional space and leased offices formerly occupied by an insurance company.

Auble said MSU and WMU have cooperative programming and working relationships with two community colleges and Andrews university.

He explained that growth of the centers' programs makes it "quite evident that the demand for lifelong education is greater today than ever and people are asking that the universities extend their services to local areas through centers like we now have in Benton Harbor."

Other subcommittees of the advisory group are program, chaired by Helen Reinhardt, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, and finance, chaired by Gordon Fowler of Clark Equipment.

The program committee currently is surveying the need for a master's degree in nursing and a bachelor's degree in engineering that would be obtainable through the centers. MSU currently has two resident degree programs, master of business administration and master of arts in classroom teaching. WMU has a resident degree in educational leadership.

The finance committee noted that most of the students served by the centers are not in need of financial assistance because educators are rewarded with salary increases as they move up the professional ladder and industry finances employees who are in job-related courses.

However, the committee expressed concern over fees that are higher for off-campus classes than those on campus.

GOP Chairman, Justice To Be Dinner Speakers

The Berrien county Republican Bicentennial dinner Monday at 6 p.m. at Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor will have two top officials as guests, according to Lee Auble, Berrien GOP chairman. They are Lawrence B. Lindemer, appointed to the State Supreme court last year by Gov. William Milliken, and William McLaughlin, state Republican chairman.

In addition, Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate have been invited, but appearance of all of them had not been confirmed as of Thursday.

Lindemer will be in the Twin Cities to address a joint meeting of Twin City Rotary and Benton Harbor Kiwanis clubs at noon Monday. He also will speak at a Lake Michigan Catholic high school assembly.

Auble said the dinner program will feature the St. Joseph high school stage band, the Lake Michigan college Hagtime ensemble, and the Niles Folk Mass singers.

Tickets are available from Robert U. McDowell at Berrien county courthouse or from Republican headquarters, in the Inner City bank building, Wall street, Benton Harbor.

CONSULTANTS PRESENT REPORT

'Move Fast' On Office District, SJ Told

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

The final planning report by Barton-Aschman has urged the City of St. Joseph to "move fast" to start developing an office district which would reinforce its position as Berrien county's leading professional office center.

A summary of the report was presented last night by Rodney E. Engelen, of Barton-Aschman, an Evanston, Ill., planning firm contracted to study the city's downtown business district development.

Engelen presented the report through the use of slides at a special meeting of the St. Joseph planning commission held at the Maud Preston library and attended by about 30 people. Copies of the printed final report were distributed at the meeting.

The report stated, "Since market conditions are right, St. Joseph must move fast to exploit its advantages and capture existing demand. If not, office development will occur elsewhere and opportunities will be lost."

Barton-Aschman has been working with the St. Joseph planning commission on the St. Joseph development plan which will fit in as part of a new master plan for the city, presently being developed.

At a Feb. 5 meeting between the planning commission and Engelen, tentative plans for an office district to be centered at Pleasant and Court streets were presented. At that meeting the office district emerged as the "top priority" project for the city. Details of that meeting and the office district were carried in the Feb. 6 edition of this newspaper.

According to the final report, "The courthouse and Law and Title building make it (St. Joseph) the center for legal and related professions; downtown has 68 per cent of all attorneys and 32 per cent of all accountants (in the county)."

The report added St. Joseph may be able to further capitalize on the fact that "Very little competitive office space remains in downtown Benton Harbor where vacancies are extensive."

Engelen said last night that it would take a number of years to get the new office district developed, but what was needed now was "commitment" by the city to the project.

James Heathcote, president of the planning commission, said the planners support development of the new office district, but the planning commission will not present a recommendation on the project to the city commission until they have gone over the completed new master plan. He said it will then be up to the city commission to set the tempo as to how fast the city pursues the project.

The report continued, "Demand for office space is growing at the rate of 65,000 square feet per year. This

Engelen noted one of the first steps might be in locating a developer that would build a large office building to "anchor" the district.

Although the office district would be centered at Pleasant and Court streets, long range plans are for it to expand to be bordered by Main street on the west, Port street on the north, Wayne street on the east and Broad street on the south. Much of the area is now residential.

Plans are for the office district to be connected to the retail core (State street) and the courthouse by developing pedestrian "corridors". The report said State street "is currently fractured by vehicular traffic and curb parking. Sidewalks are narrow, in poor condition, with few pedestrian facilities."

The report said traffic should be "de-emphasized" on State street between Elm and Ship. Court street between Broad and Port and Pleasant street between State and Court.

Under parking, the report noted there is a shortage of about 100 parking spaces in the retail core and that there is a minor parking shortage at the courthouse square commercial block. Under lakefront (area below the bluff on Lake boulevard) Engelen noted there is "very great potential" for development and suggested the possibilities of a new hotel or convention center, a civic auditorium, marina or restaurant being developed in the area.

At the conclusion of the meeting Engelen told the audience "You have a remarkably attractive downtown. It has its grubby corners, but it also has many beautiful areas, too. You have something worth working for. The city has very solid potential."

Buhl Seeking New Term As District Judge

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — William C. Buhl of Paw Paw has announced his candidacy for election to the position of Seventh district court judge he now holds. Buhl, 31, was appointed to the post by Gov. Milliken on Dec. 8, 1974 to fill the unexpired term of Luther I. Daines, who resigned. Although Daines' term does not expire until Jan. 1, 1979, by law a successor must be selected in next fall's general election to fill the remainder of the term.

Judge Buhl attended the University of Michigan for both his undergraduate work and law degree. Buhl was appointed an assistant Van Buren county prosecuting attorney in February, 1968, and was elected prosecuting attorney in 1968 and 1972 as a Republican.

He is a member of the Van Buren county, state, and American bar associations, and the Michigan District Court Judges association.

Buhl and his wife, Leslie, have four children. He is a member of the First Presbyterian church of Paw Paw.

Buchanan Board To Consider Cutbacks

BUCHANAN — Buchanan school board will meet in special session Monday, March 22, to consider program cutbacks.

The board will be considering how to trim a goal of $240,000 from a projected budget of $3.1 million next year. Voters in the district rejected a 20-mill operating levy in a special March 8 election and the district is currently without any extrajudgetal millage. The budget hinged on approval of the millage.

The special meeting was set at Monday night's meeting of the school board.

The board said that it may have to lay off some teachers and must notify them of the layoffs by the end of March because of a 90-day notification provision in the teachers' master contract.

Loose Plug Puts WHFB Off The Air

Radio stations WHFB and WHFB-FM were off the air for about three minutes this morning. According to J.P. Scherer, general manager of the stations, a delay patch plug used to connect both stations to one studio for the 8 a.m. news was loose, causing the brief interruption.

CALE 'TERMINATED' — SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — University of Utah researchers have put to death a Holstein calf that held the world's record for living on an artificial heart. The calf, Aopa, had lived 122 days with an air-driven aluminum and polyurethane heart about the size of a large grapefruit.

Committee Endorses Attorney

PAW PAW — Atty. William J. Dwyer of South Haven has received the endorsement of the Van Buren county Republican party executive committee for the post of Van Buren probate judge, according to Mrs. William (Bee) Lackey, party chairman.

The post became open March 1 with the appointment of Judge Meyer Warshawsky to the Van Buren circuit court bench. A successor, to be named by Gov. Milliken, will serve until the general election next November.

Other announced candidates for the post are Frank D. Willis of Paw Paw, Van Buren prosecutor; and Atty. Charles Wickert of Bloomington.

Mrs. Lackey indicated she would send a letter on behalf of Dwyer to the governor.

She also said she has appointed Mrs. Ruth Lytle of Keeler as chairman of the county Ford for President committee.

Newton Woods A National Landmark

DOWAGIAC — Newton woods, a 40-acre tract within the larger Russ forest in Cass county's Volina township, has been added to the National Registry of natural landmarks, according to the U.S. Department of Interior. The Cass county woods was one of five sites in Michigan added to the registry, according to a recent announcement by Thomas S. Kleppe, secretary of the Interior. The others are Dead Swamp in Roscommon and Missaukee counties; Tobacco marsh in Bay county; Towney woodlot in Ingham county; and Haven Hill state natural area in Oakland county.

The landmark designation is intended to encourage owners to preserve nationally significant natural values. Areas become eligible if they have been maintained in a relatively undisturbed state, a department of the interior spokesman said. Newton woods is owned by Michigan State university and is located just southwest of Volina, bounded by Decatur road to the west, Gards Prairie road on the east and Marcellus highway to the north.

The department of interior spokesman said the woods contains an old growth stand of the oak-hickory type forest, one of the last such stands on Michigan's lower peninsula. The forest is not virgin, but has remained largely undisturbed for 139 years, the spokesman said. The landmarks designation program began in 1963, and since that time 421 areas have been recognized as natural landmarks.

BH Firms Plan $3.5 Million In New Machines

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Two Benton Harbor industries have announced plans to install more than $3.5 million in new machinery, which is expected to add new jobs at the two plants.

Robert A. Kish, president of Superior Steel Castings Co., said the company is adding equipment worth more than $2 million. The new machinery will enable Superior Steel to compete with foreign markets, Kish said. Forty new jobs are anticipated.

Edwin Mendel, vice president and treasurer of Michigan Standard Alloys, said the company is adding $1.5 million in machinery that will increase employment by 10 to 20 people at its Arthur Mendel road plant.

The new installations at Superior Steel and Michigan Standard Alloys do not entail building construction.

The two companies are applying for tax exemptions on the expansions under the Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Districts Act of 1974. A public hearing is scheduled Monday before the Benton Harbor city commission on the requests.

Industrial firms building new additions or installing new equipment may qualify for a 50 per cent taxes for 12 years on the assessed valuation of the expansion. The state act is aimed at encouraging industrial expansion and the creation of new jobs.

Alvin Chase, economic development director for the City of Benton Harbor, noted that new jobs in other areas of the companies may be created after the new machinery is installed and production is increased.

The equipment at Superior Steel is expected to increase employment by 40 people when the company reaches full production capacity. Kish said the Graham avenue company currently employs 300 people a total of 400 when in full production.

Superior Steel's expansion will include new melting machinery, anti-pollution equipment, and upgraded furnaces and overhead cranes. A subsidiary of Mangood Corp. of Chicago, Superior Steel produces castings for the automotive, railroad and construction industries.

Michigan Standard Alloys' machinery addition will include a new "dross" mill located outside the company's aluminum plant on Mendel road, according to Mendel. Michigan Standard Alloys produces zinc and aluminum alloys for the automotive and appliance industries and employs a total of 250 people.

BH University Center Eyes Future Locations

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

A committee is studying possible future locations for the continuing education center of Michigan State university and Western Michigan university, presently at 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

The universities and Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce have jointly leased quarters in the Riverview office complex since 1967. The lease expires Dec. 31, 1977.

The location study group is a subcommittee of the University Center Advisory committee, an advisory arm of the continuing education center. Lee Auble, retired Berrien Springs school superintendent, is committee chairman and John Dietrich of Whirlpool Corp. is subcommittee chairman.

Dr. Albert Mowery, director of the MSU center, said purposes of the study are to determine if the present location is the right spot for regional offices that serve three counties and if it will meet needs for the next five to 10 years.

He noted the Chamber of Commerce has required additional space and leased offices formerly occupied by an insurance company.

Auble said MSU and WMU have cooperative programming and working relationships with two community colleges and Andrews university.

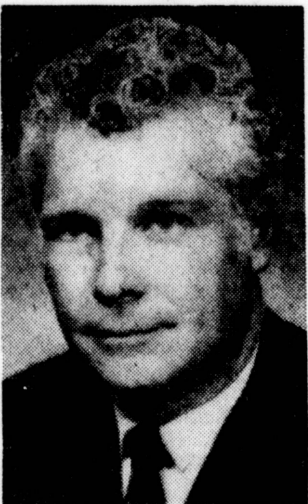

He explained that growth of the centers' programs makes it "quite evident that the demand for lifelong education is greater today than ever and people are asking that the universities extend their services to local areas through centers like we now have in Benton Harbor."

Other subcommittees of the advisory group are program, chaired by Helen Reinhardt, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, and finance, chaired by Gordon Fowler of Clark Equipment.

The program committee currently is surveying the need for a master's degree in nursing and a bachelor's degree in engineering that would be obtainable through the centers. MSU currently has two resident degree programs, master of business administration and master of arts in classroom teaching. WMU has a resident degree in educational leadership.

The finance committee noted that most of the students served by the centers are not in need of financial assistance because educators are rewarded with salary increases as they move up the professional ladder and industry finances employees who are in job-related courses.

However, the committee expressed concern over fees that are higher for off-campus classes than those on campus.

GOP Chairman, Justice To Be Dinner Speakers

The Berrien county Republican Bicentennial dinner Monday at 6 p.m. at Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor will have two top officials as guests, according to Lee Auble, Berrien GOP chairman. They are Lawrence B. Lindemer, appointed to the State Supreme court last year by Gov. William Milliken, and William McLaughlin, state Republican chairman.

In addition, Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate have been invited, but appearance of all of them had not been confirmed as of Thursday.

Lindemer will be in the Twin Cities to address a joint meeting of Twin City Rotary and Benton Harbor Kiwanis clubs at noon Monday. He also will speak at a Lake Michigan Catholic high school assembly.

Auble said the dinner program will feature the St. Joseph high school stage band, the Lake Michigan college Rag-

WELDUN COOLING UNITS: Weldun Tool & Engineering officials hired a Hinsdale, Ill. - based helicopter service to take air conditioning units to roof of its main plant in Bridgman yesterday. Company spokesman said six air conditioning units, weighing in excess of two tons each, were lowered to roof in less than 30 minutes. Weldun spent in excess of $90,000 to keep its 40,000 square foot plant cool this summer. Building was not air conditioned previously. Weldun's mold division plant, now under construction, will be cooled by ground-level cooling units, spokesman said. (Nifodora Krumrie photo)

CONSULTANTS PRESENT REPORT

'Move Fast' On Office District, SJ Told

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

The final planning report by Barton-Aschman has urged the City of St. Joseph to "move fast" to start developing an office district which would reinforce its position as Berrien county's leading professional office center.

A summary of the report was presented last night by Rodney E. Engelen, of Barton-Aschman, an Evanston, Ill., planning firm contracted to study the city's downtown business district development.

Engelen presented the report through the use of slides at a special meeting of the St. Joseph planning commission held at the Maud Preston library and attended by about 50 people. Copies of the printed final report were not distributed at the meeting.

The report stated, "Since market conditions are right, St. Joseph must move fast to exploit its advantages and capture existing demand. If not, office development will occur elsewhere and opportunities will be lost."

Barton-Aschman has been working with the St. Joseph planning commission on the St. Joseph development plan which will fit in as part of a new master plan for the city, presently being developed.

At a Feb. 5 meeting between the planning commission and Engelen, tentative plans for an office district to be centered at Pleasant and Court streets were presented. At that meeting the office district emerged as the "top priority" project for the city. Details of that meeting and the office district were carried in the Feb. 6 edition of this newspaper.

According to the final report, "The courthouse and Law and Title building make it (St. Joseph) the center for legal and related professions; downtown has 68 per cent of all attorneys and 32 per cent of all accountants (in the county)."

The report added St. Joseph may be able to further capitalize on the fact that "Very little competitive office space remains in downtown Benton Harbor where vacancies are extensive."

Engelen said last night that it would take a number of years to get the new office district developed, but what was needed now was "commitment" by the city to the project.

James Heathcote, president of the planning commission, said the planners support development of the new office district, but the planning commission will not present a recommendation on the project to the city commission until they have gone over the completed new master plan. He said it will then be up to the city commission to set the tempo as to how fast the city pursues the project.

The report stated, "According to recent surveys, little vacant office space exists in the area. In general, vacancies are highest in older buildings and lowest in newer first-class structures. Of the 140,000 square feet surveyed in eight selected downtown buildings (including the courthouse and Law and Title Co.), only 1,200 square feet was vacant."

The report continued, "Demand for office space is growing at the rate of 65,000 square feet per year. This

Engelen noted one of the first steps might be in locating a developer that would build a large office building to "anchor" the district.

Although the office district would be centered at Pleasant and Court streets long range plans are for it to expand to be bordered by Main street on the west, Port street on the north, Wayne street on the east and Broad street to the south. Much of the area is now residential.

Plans are for the office district to be connected to the retail core (State street) and the courthouse by developing pedestrian "corridors."

The report said State street "is currently fractured by vehicular traffic and curb parking. Sidewalks are narrow, in poor condition, with few pedestrian facilities."

The report said traffic should be "de-emphasized" on State street between Elm and Ship, Court street between Broad and Port and Pleasant street between State and Court.

Under parking, the report noted there is a shortage of about 100 parking spaces in the retail core and that there is a minor parking shortage at the courthouse square commercial block. Under lakefront (area below the bluff on Lake boulevard Engelen noted there is "very great potential" for development and suggested the possibilities of a new hotel or convention center, a civic auditorium, marina or restaurant being developed in the area.

At the conclusion of the meeting Engelen told the audience "You have a remarkably attractive downtown. It has its grubby corners, but it also has many beautiful areas, too. You have something worth working for. The city has very solid potential."

Free-Use Films Available At Libraries

More films will be available for free-use from the Library System of Southwestern Michigan as a result of a federal grant to western Michigan libraries used to purchase more than 275 16mm films, according to Carolyn Suttler, director of the area library system.

The films were purchased for the six library systems in western Michigan with a $100,000 grant from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), according to Mrs. Suttler, and will be available for free use by the 12 member libraries of the Southwestern Michigan library system.

The area library system currently owns some 20 general interest films and 30 more films remain at the library system for one month periods. The system is made up of libraries and their branches in Benton Harbor, Berrien Springs, Bridgman, Eau Claire, Gullen, New Buffalo, Sadus, Watervliet, Van Buren county and Decatur township. Because the films purchased are made available by a federal grant, non-member libraries will also be able to order and use the films, Mrs. Suttler said.

The films purchased are divided into two categories - general interest and specific subjects.

The general interest films will rotate among the library systems in western Michigan and include such films as "Hollywood, Dream Factory," "King Kong, Angel and Big Joe, and We are Woman." These films can be ordered and picked up at local libraries, Mrs. Suttler said.

The specific subject films, which include such films as "Transactional Analysis, I Am Joe's Heart, America with Abigail Croker, About Sex, and Let My People Go," must be ordered from a bibliography at local libraries and will be shipped from western Michigan library headquarters in Kalamazoo. Mrs. Suttler said people desiring the specific subject films should order the films at least two weeks in advance.

A film, "Don't Give Up On Me," will be shown and a question and answer session will follow.

Make Wardrobe Fit Budget

Children encounter growth spurts and outgrown clothing becomes an overnight phenomenon, it seems. Plan carefully for a small, but interchangeable wardrobe, to make it a little easier on the budget. A minimum number of garments will serve well for the few months of proper fit if selections are made with easy care in mind. Machine laundering and reweaving is the key that makes the difference in dollars.

Nursery play sessions will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Mothers must be YWCA members.

Varied Activities

The YWCA, St. Joseph, has listed single-session programs as well as a co-ed scuba class in its spring schedule of classes.

Persons interested in any class may contact the 'Y' from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, March 24 and 25, or from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27.

Single session programs include beginning "CPR: Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation. Save a Life," April 1; "Metric Change-Over in the USA," April 19, by Art Shultz; "Berrien County - This Side of Paradise," April 28, by Mrs. Harry (Frances) Laity.

Others include "My Child Is Poisoned! What Shall I Do?" May 4; "Beauty Inside and Out," May 13, Marsha Freer; "Managing Your Home for Personal Satisfaction," May 18, Mary Search, and intermediate CPR, May 19.

Beginning astrology, beginning conversational Spanish and beginning bridge are the adult classes offered for the term.

Physical education classes for women include fitness classes, mini fitness, slim down, beginning and intermediate belly dancing, gym rhythms, barre/ballet, yoga, golf, tennis and volleyball.

Plunges are scheduled for women only, women with pre-schoolers, adult co-ed, families and children.

Swimming classes for women will include absolutely terrified, non-swim, to beginner, intermediate/advanced and aquacise.

The 'Y' nursery department has scheduled play sessions and pre-kindergarten classes.

Pre-schoolers classes in the gym will be "Mom/Me," creative activities and "Get Set" workshop series.

All swimming classes will be available this term, including pre-school through adult.

Youth activities include baton, creative movement, tramp and tumbling, gym workshop, "Eat-It-Up" cooking, cheerleading, project art, volleyball and intermediate and advanced ballet.

Special activities planned include the annual spring ride for shut-ins, bus trips and a perceptual-motor program.

Additional information may be obtained by reading the YWCA advertisement in The Herald-Palladium Tuesday, March 23, or by contacting the YWCA, a participating member of Blossomland United Way.

Ticket Information For Symphony Drive

Membership drive for the 1976-77 Twin Cities Symphony is currently underway and season tickets for the nine concerts may be secured by contacting the Symphony office, 520 Pleasant street, St. Joseph.

For the first time, a modified form of reserved seating will be available with tickets in the central portion of the auditorium priced at $13 for adults, $7.50 for students and senior citizens, and $30 for families. Peripheral and rear seats will be $10 for adults, $5 for students and senior citizens, and $25 for families.

All concerts will be performed in the St. Joseph high school auditorium except for the Christmas concert which will be held in the Lakeshore high school auditorium.

Renewal night for present members will be held at the Sunday, March 28, concert which will feature works of American composers with Barry Ross, concertmaster of the Kalamazoo Symphony, as featured soloist.

As an incentive to purchasing tickets early, the first concert of the 1976-77 season will be held Sunday, April 18, this year at 4:30 p.m. in the St. Joseph high school auditorium.

Robert Vodney is conductor and music director for the Symphony.

To Perform At South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN - Twin Cities Symphony will present a special concert in the Central school auditorium Tuesday, March 23, at 8:30 p.m.

Admission to the concert is free. All the music will be by American composers in celebration of America's Bicentennial.

Free-Use Films Available At Libraries

More films will be available for free-use from the Library System of Southwestern Michigan as a result of a federal grant to western Michigan libraries used to purchase more than 275 16mm films, according to Carolyn Sutter, director of the area library system.

The films were purchased for the six library systems in western Michigan with a $100,000 grant from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), according to Mrs. Sutter, and will be available for free use by the 12 member libraries of the Southwestern Michigan library system.

The area library system currently owns some 20 general interest films and 30 more films remain at the library system for one month periods. The system is made up of libraries and their branches in Benton Harbor, Berrien Springs, Bridgman, Eau Claire, Galesburg, New Buffalo, Sodus, Watervliet, Van Buren county and Decatur township. Because the films purchased are made available by a federal grant, non-member libraries will also be able to order and use the films, Mrs. Sutter said.

Child Abuse Program Thursday

Mrs. Floyd (Elodia) Flynn, sponsor of Berrien County Parents Anonymous, will present a program on parents and child abuse Thursday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the club room of the YWCA, St. Joseph.

All interested parents are invited. A film, "Don't Give Up On Me," will be shown and a question and answer session will follow.

divided into two categories - general interest and specific subjects.

The general interest films will rotate among the library systems in western Michigan and include such films as "Hollywood, Dream Factory," "King Kong," "Angel and Big Joe," and "We are Woman." These films can be ordered and picked up at local libraries, Mrs. Sutter said.

The specific subject films, which include such films as "Transactional Analysis," "I Am Joe's Heart," "America with Alister Cooke," "About Sex," and "Let My People Go," must be ordered from a bibliography at local libraries and will be shipped from western Michigan library headquarters in Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sutter said people desiring the specific subject films should order the films at least two weeks in advance.

Art Show Opens Tomorrow

AAUW Names Judge For Annual Exhibit

John Mothoany, professional artist who has exhibited extensively in Michigan, has been announced as judge for the 28th annual American Association of University Women Art Show.

Judges' tour for artists will be Saturday, March 20, at 10 a.m. at the Benton Harbor public library.

The exhibit, on the library's second floor, will open to the public Saturday at noon. Hours will be noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, March 20-21; 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, March 22-23, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 24.

A judge's brunch will be held Saturday at noon at the Capt. Tully, Benton Harbor.

Motheany, a native of Mount Pleasant, attended Howe Military Academy at Howe, Ind., and graduated from high school in Burlington, Ontario, Canada. He received his early art training at Alma college and received a bachelor of fine arts, master of arts and master of fine arts degrees from Michigan State university.

The artist has held one-man exhibits at Saginaw, Art Museum; Grand Rapids, Art Museum; Muskegon's Hackley Gallery; Battle Creek Art Center; Four Winds Gallery, Kalamazoo, Rentschler Gallery, Grand Rapids; Traverse City Contemporary Art Gallery, and a retrospective exhibition of 70 paintings at the Gilmore Art Center (Kalamazoo Art Institute).

Motheany's works have been shown at Edith Cooke Gallery, Cambridge Wells, England, and at many museums and galleries in the United States including the American Academy of Arts in New York, where he was awarded the Child Hassam purchase award.

He has also exhibited at Allied Artists, Inc., New York; Midtown Galleries, Max Gilman Gallery and Chicago Art Institute, Chicago; J.L. Hudson Gallery and Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit.

His paintings have won top awards in the Marietta International "Mainstreams" competition two years running.

Many of Motheany's paintings have been purchased for private and public collections including Michigan State university's permanent collection; University of California; Western Michigan university and Kalamazoo college.

One of his works was purchased by the University of

JOHN MOTHANOY

Pennsylvania and has been included in a traveling exhibition which will tour throughout the United States in 1976. Motheany has also completed two mural commissions for the City of Kalamazoo in its downtown mall area as part of the city's beautification program.

Women's Workshop On MSU Campus

EAST LANSING — Advice for the woman considering a career outside the home, but who doesn't know where she's going or how to get there, will be given at "Choices: A Career Workshop for Women," offered by the Michigan State University Alumni Association Thursday, April 1, in the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

"Women who have been out of the job market for a long time, or are entering it for the first time, have many questions that they want to ask," according to Dorothy Doane, director, alumni constituent programs and coordinator of the workshop. "We'd like to offer some answers from some very knowledgeable people."

Opening the program will be Priscilla Jackson, a consultant for "Women-in-Management," a Birmingham firm which helps place women in management positions. An authority on how women make the step from home to job, she will discuss assessing the responsibilities of the home and a job and how women can combine them.

Academic and career counseling and testing services available at MSU and elsewhere will be discussed by Dr. Gwen Norrell, assistant director of MSU's counseling center.

The MSU placement services and part-time jobs will be the subject of a presentation by Gail Draverman, assistant director of MSU's placement services.

Heath Steele, owner and manager of the Snelling and Snelling employment agency in Lansing, will discuss employment opportunities for women and describe the services of an employment agency.

"One thing we've discovered is that many women are afraid of the job interview," Mrs. Doane said. "That's why we've included a presentation by Sandra Huggins, assistant director of employment at MSU's personnel center, and Edwin Fitzpatrick, assistant director of MSU's placement services. We'll have mock interviews with audience participation."

Women who have an urge to start their own business can hear the success stories of three women. Speaking on the panel will be Marcia Jensen, a partner and sales associate of Moore-Jensen Associates, an East Lansing real estate company; Alice Schmid, co-owner of the Yarn Studio in East Lansing, and Betsy Pentecost, a partner in Tennis Barnabas, an East Lansing sportswear firm.

"Another problem we've identified is that many women are unsure of what opportunities they have and what career goals they should aim for," Mrs. Doane said. "Nancy Asim, an instructor in family ecology, will discuss how women can evaluate the opportunities they do have."

"With more and more emphasis on women in the job market, we hope to offer a brief one-day course on what to expect, and what to prepare for," Mrs. Doane said. "But besides having experts discuss the why's and wherefore's, we've left a long lunch period open for workshop participants."

The workshop will begin at 8 a.m. with registration and coffee and should be completed about 4 p.m. Cost of the workshop is $8 and includes the coffee and the lunch. Further information or registration may be obtained by contacting the MSU Alumni Association, P.O. Box 482, East Lansing.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Could Break His Camera!

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has developed a new hobby. He tries to catch me nude so he can snap pictures of me. I have a good figure, but I don't care to have pictures of my naked body circulated around the shop where he works — which is exactly what is happening.

Matt is an excellent amateur photographer. He used to take great pictures of birds, animals, the neighbors' kids and their pets, but in the last three months he hasn't taken a single picture I can share with the family.

Outside of this loony quick, Matt is a swell guy. Any suggestions? — Camera Shy

Dear Shy: I'm afraid your options are limited, honey. Start with less walking around the house nude. Next comes locking the door when you're in the buff. Add if Matthew Brady still doesn't get the message, you'll just have to break his camera.

Here's Why

Dear Ann Landers: In reference to the question of whether one will be unharmed if he hangs onto a rod across the top or jumps in the air when an elevator crashes:

Since the human body falls at the same rate of speed as the elevator, it will impact just as hard as the elevator crashes.

If a person jumps into the air immediately before the elevator hits, he (she) will still hit just as hard, but a fraction of a second later.

To illustrate this point, suspend a glass bottle by a string inside a box, then drop the whole thing off a rooftop. The bottle will hit just as hard regardless.

Technically, all falling bodies on earth fall with the acceleration of gravity and nothing can be done about it, unless one has wings or a rocket to provide an opposing acceleration. — Arlan Keith Andrews, Sc.D., Registered Professional Engineer (Greensboro, N.C.)

Dear Arlan: Thank you for coming up with a simple answer to a complicated question. I knew, Dr. Jerome Wiesner, President of M.I.T., was right, but you've explained why.

Worried

Dear Ann Landers: I am expecting a baby in approximately four weeks and am worried sick. Why? Because my husband is a terrible driver under ordinary circumstances, but when he is excited or upset he is a menace on the street.

I have recurring nightmares that we are on our way to the hospital and Jack slams into another car or gets hit broadside running a red light. I'm so concerned that I have considered sneaking out of the house and going to the hospital in a taxi. Then the thought occurs to me that if Jack wakes up and finds me gone, he'll be even more of a maniac and kill himself rushing to the hospital.

Is there a solution to this problem that I can't see? Please, Ann, don't suggest that I ask a neighbor or a friend to take me. I believe a woman's husband is the only person who should be on hand for the birth of her first child. — P.G. Lady

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband was told that he has high blood pressure. From the day he was told this he has made himself a chronic invalid. He has aged 10 years in the last two months. From an active, happy human being he has become depressed. He is sure that his behavior is due to his "disease." Could this possibly be true?

Mrs. G.Y. Mass.

Dear Mrs. Y.: Many people, when told that they have some illness or disorder, react with anger, hostility, depression and personality changes.

Underlying fears and anxiety about such a new threat to their existence call forth these unusual reactions.

To a great many people, an illness of any kind is taken as a personal insult. "Why me?" is their first response. Next, of course, comes the fear of an upheaval in their economic and social security.

The need to change a lifestyle tends to reinforce their behavioral changes.

It is for this reason that physicians everywhere spend a good deal of time with their patients, explaining the cause of the condition and how it can be helped with proper planning and medical attention.

Hypertension, or high blood pressure, is one of the diseases for which modern medicine has been able to provide better control, with specific drugs.

The medical approach to your husband's problem will be obvious when exhaustive tests have shown the exact cause of his high blood pressure.

The treatment for his psychological behavior changes may not be as easy. It will take the coordinated efforts of you, his doctor and, perhaps, a psychiatrist or psychologist.

Patience and kindness, without overindulgence, are the keys to his more rapid recovery. The people who surround your husband must not make him believe that he is a chronic invalid.

I recently read that the cholesterol in eggs is no longer considered dangerous. Does that mean that middle-aged people like myself can have as many eggs as we want?

Mrs. S.T. Fla.

Dear Mrs. T.: The yolks of eggs are reported to have high cholesterol content. It is also generally accepted that cholesterol does play a significant role in the formation of arteriosclerotic changes in the arteries of the body.

Every so often a new study will seem to deny these two scientific facts. Until there is more definite and universal substantiation of this denial the public would be wise to continue to limit their egg intake.

The Sodas township fire department will sponsor a pancake breakfast Sunday, March 21, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the township hall.

The public is invited. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Proceeds will be used for the Sodas Bicentennial celebration in July.

Separate meetings will follow the dinner.

Serving on the dinner committee are Mrs. George Stout, Mrs. Edward Koch and Mrs. Wilson B. Schantz, all of Buchanan.

Not A Rock Fan

The number of pet rocks sold over the counter last Christmas was no less than phenomenal. We received two. A male and a female.

Now, I'm not the greatest rock lover in the world. Oh sure, they're sorta cute if they sparkle and are mounted on your ring finger. And I get a good feeling knowing my insurance company is built on one, but I don't get too choked up about having them all over the house.

The pet rock number was just as I knew it would be.

At Christmas, the kids couldn't put them down. They fondled them, took them for walks, taught them tricks and every time we had company, they'd trot out the rock in the box.

Then I didn't see them for awhile until one morning at breakfast. I said to my son, "Hey, I bumped into your pet rock last night on the way back from a drink of water."

"Where?"

"With my foot."

"What foot?"

"The one with the cast on it."

They're your rocks and you have to take care of them. do you hear?" Within two months, the rocks began to appear everywhere. Under beds, behind doors, in the clothes hamper, in pockets, in the car, and we even found one grinding away in the disposal.

"Look," I admonished, "I don't have time to fiddle with your pets. Why don't you find them a good home? After all, you never play with them anymore."

"What's to play with?" he grumbled. "All they do is sleep."

"No," I said shaking my head, "that's not ALL they do. They're multiplying faster than the King Family. Start looking for homes for them."

We put a sign out in front. Pet

Rocks — 1 cent each. It was like trying to unload pregnant kittens. No one, but no one wants a pet rock anymore.

I tried calling my friends and got answers like, "I'm sorry, but we live in an apartment," or "If I weren't expecting the baby in three months, I'd take one off your hands."

"Maybe we could take them out to a river and leave them," "Abandon a pet rock?" I said. "What kind of an animal are you? Who would take care of them? They couldn't survive in the wilds."

To make matters worse, our other son brought in two stray rocks the other night and put them by the sink. This morning, I went to move them and under one was a pile of gravel.

Here we go again.

For Saturday, March 20, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful today not to be lavish with an opportunist while passing over one who is truly deserving.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It might cost you more to do business with friends today than with strangers because of your reluctance to ask for better terms.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In social situations today you'll draw far more favorable attention by underplaying everything.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You may be tempted to make some decorative changes at home today. Be sure what you buy is something you can live with.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could be disappointed today if you expect more from loved ones that they are able to deliver. Be reasonable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're conducting an important matter today where a partner or an associate's involved, spell everything out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Usually you work well with others, but today you're likely to get better results if you perform your tasks alone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You may need some self-discipline today to keep extraneous tendencies in check. Don't let temptation override prudence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're far more resourceful and have greater resolve than you're apt to credit yourself with today. Challenge awakens the real you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may have an opportunity to do something constructive regarding a secret ambition. Keep your motives to yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be budget-minded if you're involved in social activities with friends today. Let each pay his fair share.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Chances will not be denied you today if you're prepared to make the proper effort. Give it your very best.

Bridge watchers can recognize the second-rate defender by his plaintive cry: "How was I to know?"

One way to know is to watch your partner's cards and see if he is trying to give you information.

East held the first trick with the ace of diamonds and promptly led the queen of clubs. West signalled as enthusiastically as he could by playing the fair spot and East continued with the king. West completed the echo by dropping his deuce, but East was fresh out of clubs, and had to let declarer collect the rest of the tricks.

West gave a plaintive cry but no one sympathized with him. The normal way for East to play clubs would have been to lead the king and continue with the queen. Then why did he lead the queen first?

To try to tell his partner that he only held two clubs and wanted his partner to win the second club and give him a ruff. West didn't know, but he might well have worked it out.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Could Break His Camera!

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has developed a new hobby. He tries to catch me nude so he can snap pictures of me. I have a good figure, but I don't care to have pictures of my naked body circulated around the shop where he works — which is exactly what is happening.

Matt is an excellent amateur photographer. He used to take great pictures of birds, animals, the neighbors' kids and their pets, but in the last three months he hasn't taken a single picture I can share with the family.

Outside of this loony quirk, Matt is a swell guy. Any suggestions? — Camera Shy

doesn't get the message, you'll just have to break his camera.

Here's Why

Dear Ann Landers: In reference to the question of whether one will be unharmed if he jumps onto a rod across the top or hangs in the air when an elevator crashes:

Since the human body falls at the same rate of speed as the elevator, it will impact just as hard as the elevator crashes.

If a person jumps into the air immediately before the elevator hits, he (she) will still hit just as hard, but a fraction of a second later.

To illustrate this point, suspend a glass bottle by a string inside a box, then drop the whole thing off a rooftop. The bottle will hit just as hard regardless.

Medics Mounting Counterattack Against Lawsuits

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan physicians are going on the offensive in the courts in an effort to stem the large number of malpractice suits filed against them.

A Livonia doctor this week filed a countersuit against two attorneys who had sued him for malpractice. The doctor is being assisted in the suit by the 2,000-member Physicians Crisis Committee, a Detroit-based group seeking solutions to the malpractice problem.

At the same time, the Michigan State Medical Society is working on a program to help doctors sued for malpractice decide whether to file countersuits.

In the Wayne County Circuit Court suit, Dr. Seymour Friedman, a urologist at St. Mary Hospital, charged attorneys Robert H. Golden of Southfield and Peter Dazore of Troy with filing a groundless suit against him strictly for their own gain. The attorneys denied the charge.

The original suit in the death of a woman suffering an incurable blood disease was dismissed in December 1974 when Judge Charles Farmer ruled the plaintiffs failed to show Friedman contributed to the woman's death.

The Michigan Court of Appeals recently upheld the dismissal.

A spokesman for the Physicians Crisis Committee said Friedman's damages as a result of the suit totaled more than $100,000, including an increase in the cost of insurance premiums.

In Lansing, A. Stewart Kerr of Detroit, legal counsel for the state medical society, said the group's countersuit plans will be presented at the May 1 House of Delegates meeting in Troy.

PATRICIA HEARST
"Dying or surviving"

Under the proposal, a doctor who believes he is the victim of a suit that does not have merit could ask a medical society committee to review the suit.

The committee would then advise the doctor whether it felt the suit had merit, or whether he had grounds to file a countersuit.

The House of Delegates would have to approve the plan before it could go into effect.

Jurors To Weigh Hearst Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jurors in Patricia Hearst's trial enter deliberations with two conflicting portraits of the newspaper heiress — one by the prosecutor who insists she is a cunning liar, the other by the defense who argues she robbed a bank to save her life.

In final arguments Thursday, U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. repeatedly urged the seven-woman, five-man jury to base their verdict on the evidence. Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey stopped just short of suggesting they ignore it and rely instead on their own testimony.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter planned to issue final instructions and send the bank robbery case to the jury today. The trial is in its eighth week.

Browning, his voice occasionally rising in an impassioned two-hour address, implored the jury to watch again the film of Miss Hearst robbing the bank, read her underground writings, listen to her strident voice on taped messages and her profanity-laced jailhouse conversation with a friend.

Bailey, in a 45-minute oratory that barely mentioned the evidence, said the trial dealt with "dying or surviving. That is all that Patricia Campbell Hearst thought about."

Miss Hearst, 22, testified that she was a terrified hostage of her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers and participated in an April 15, 1974, bank robbery under fear of death. Bailey argued that a guilty verdict would encourage similar kidnappings in the future.

The government contended she was a willing convert to terrorism and Browning dismissed her defense as "too incredible to be believed."

He recited the major points in her defense, summed it up as if she were saying, "I didn't mean it," and then, leaning forward over a lectern, he said slowly and emphatically, "It's too big a pill to swallow, it just doesn't wash."

The tall, lanky prosecutor, glancing at a prepared text, made only one direct reference to Miss Hearst's Feb. 4, 1974, kidnapping at the hands of the SLA.

"I'm sorry that Patricia Hearst was kidnapped," he said. "I'm sorry anyone was kidnapped... but can you assume that she was a kidnaper victim for the next 19 months?"

"Don't be misled by the smokescreen the defense has raised," he urged the jury. "Judge this case on the merits. Judge this case on the evidence."

Bailey, discarding notes and a microphone, hammered away at the kidnapping and Miss Hearst's professed fear of the SLA as coloring all the evidence against her.

"You have to resort to something besides the evidence

In this case," he said. "It's riddled with doubt and always will be."

Bailey, peppering his speech with dramatic pauses and sometimes almost whispering, said there was no question that she robbed a bank.

"The question you are here to answer is why?" he told the jurors. "And would you have done the same thing to survive? Or was it her duty to die to avoid committing a felony?"

Separation Decree On Way

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham palace officials are putting the finishing touches to a royal proclamation announcing the legal separation of Princess Margaret, Queen Elizabeth II's younger sister, and her photographer husband, the Earl of Snowdon, palace sources disclosed today.

The Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, said a statement on the marriage would be issued this afternoon.

The sources said Lord Snowdon wanted a divorce to end the 16-year marriage, but this was rejected because of constitutional questions it might raise, the opposition of the Church of England to divorce and the embarrassment to Queen Elizabeth II of a divorce trial involving her sister.

BERRIEN'S YOUNG OFFENDER RESULTS 'AMAZING'

By JIM DELAND
Assistant City Editor

More than 90 per cent of the juvenile offenders referred to the Berrien county Youth Service Bureau from June of 1973 through June of 1975 were not subsequently petitioned to juvenile court.

"I feel this statistic is amazing," Berrien Probate Judge Ronald H. Lange told the county board of commissioners Thursday while presenting the 1975 annual report for the probate and juvenile court.

"I think it shows the effectiveness of this program in keeping young people out of the courts,"

Judge Lange also cited the county juvenile center at Berrien Center for running an "excellent program" while detailing highlights of the report, presented on behalf of himself and fellow Probate Judge Zoe S. Burkholz.

The report showed that during 1975 1,133 referrals were made to the Youth Service Bureau, located at 89 West Main street, Benton Harbor. Of this total, 684 were referred for adult-type crimes while 449 were referred for juvenile or "status" offenses that would not apply to adults.

The most common criminal offenses were shoplifting (314) and larceny (181) while the leading "status" offenses were truancy (89), curfew violation (82) and incorrigible at home (80) and at school (60). The Youth Services Bureau is a counseling, guidance, and referral agency established to try to solve the various problems of delinquent youths, according to Charles Kehoe, director of juvenile court services. He noted youths referred to YSB but not petitioned to court are not branded with criminal records.

Judge Lange said he had learned from state police sources unofficially that the number of juveniles arrested in Berrien county decreased 10 per cent during 1975, but that official figures were not yet available.

The report showed 1975 expenditures of some $200,000 for the probate division of the court and $325,000 for the juvenile division plus expenditures of $743,000 for the child care fund (including juvenile center and foster homes), $181,000 for the Youth Service Bureau and a $92,000 grant to the juvenile center of which state and federal funds provided 85 per cent.

A total of 2,979 formal hearings were held in both divisions of the court — 6.3 per cent over 1974 — and the two probate judges also presided as acting Circuit judges at 481 hearings, mainly domestic relations cases in Niles.

New state laws and codes were cited as the reason for much of the increased work load, and Judge Lange told commissioners that the inclusion of everyone under 18 as juveniles under the new Child Protection law will "probably mean we'll have more cases next year than this year."

Special mention was given by Judge Lange to the home detention program instituted to keep young people out of the juvenile center pending court hearings and the educational program for youths in the residential unit of the center.

He noted that of 96 juveniles involved in the home detention program during 1975, fewer than 10 per cent were returned to detention during that period of supervision.

"The way I look at it, that's a 90 per cent rate of success," he said. "I wish all our programs were that successful."

The report showed that 20 of 13.8 months although their stays at the center averaged only eight months.

"I think this shows that youngsters can be educated if the right methods are used," Judge Lange said.

Berrien Seeking State Approval To Extend Metro Crime Unit Life

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday agreed to apply for a nine-month extension to continue third year operations of the county's Metro Crime Unit, and learned fourth-year funding could cost the county $400,000.

The board agreed to apply to the state Office of Criminal Justice programs for the nine-month extension, which would run from July to April 30, 1977. A state and federal grant would provide for 50 per cent of the $240,000 cost, and the remaining monies would come from the county and participating municipalities.

Commissioner Frank Pourman stressed the application won't bind the county to fourth year funding, which would be 100 per cent at the county level. The grant under which Metro operates is one of a number of programs running under a complicated state formula, in which acceptance of third year funding obligates the county to fourth year funding.

Commissioner Pto Graub noted if the county accepts the third year it is obligated to the fourth year, but the application is merely to see if the state will fund Metro in the third year. If the grant is approved at the state level, the county must still decide whether to accept it, Graub added.

"The State of Michigan is one of the few states that sucks you in in this kind of program," complained Graub. He also stressed that some kind of arrangement must be worked out with the municipalities that supply officers for Metro so that the municipalities would pay part of the officers' salaries.

Graub said the municipalities will pay 50 per cent of the officers' salaries during a three-month extension to the second year grant, which will run from April to June 30. He said the county seeks the same agreement for the nine-month extension, so that the actual county share of the $240,000 being sought would be $120,000. The Metro Crime squad currently has 15 officers and two secretaries. Fourteen of the officers are from county and local police agencies and the other is a state trooper.

When Graub informed the board the cost of fourth year funding, which would be entirely at the county level, could hit $400,000, Commissioner Lad Slacey, chairman of the finance committee, responded: "There's no way the county can pick up the whole tab."

Graub labeled Metro "a good, worthwhile, and effective unit," but noted the board would have to "seriously evaluate" it again before the county would commit $400,000.

In another matter, as detailed in Wednesday's Herald-Palladium, Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes made a presentation to the board seeking the creation of a fourth circuit judgeship. The request must be passed at the county level, and then needs approval from the state legislature and state court administrator.

The board took no immediate action on the request. Hughes stressed a decision should be made before April to meet various deadlines and Graub, chairman of the administration committee, under whose jurisdiction courts fall, said the board would consider the request and would hold a special meeting if necessary. "We'll work on it," Graub promised.

The board yesterday also pledged the county's full faith and backing in to sell $100,000 notes for the Nelson drain project in St. Joseph township, with the notes to be sold at an interest rate not to exceed 4.1668 per cent per year.

The county's share for the project will be $10,000, because county roads border the drain, and the remainder will come from residents in the township. The contract also includes a "hold-harmless" clause, in which the county would advance the funds if St. Joseph township cannot make the payments, but then can take all actions available for the reimbursement of those funds.

In other business, the board:

—Authorized installation of an updated telephone system for the courthouse to reduce the number of unauthorized long-distance calls and alleviate the necessity for more personnel. County Coordinator Roger Petrie noted $81,000 is set aside in the current budget for the courthouse telephone system.

The new system will cost $9,981 for installation, with a monthly rate of $1,559 for three years and then $1,900 per month afterwards. Petrie noted the present monthly rate is $2,781.

—Approved an agreement with the State Department of Social Services to continue the prosecutor's welfare fraud division, with the county contributing $15,000 and the state paying $53,933.

—Authorized purchase of six patrol cars for the sheriff's department costing a total of $18,890; purchase of two cars for the detective bureau for $6,627; and purchase of a pickup truck for the dog warden at a cost of $2,100.

—Re-appointed Pourman to a five-year term on the board of health.

He noted that of 96 juveniles involved in the home detention program during 1975, fewer than 10 per cent were returned to detention during that period of supervision.

"The way I look at it, that's a 90 per cent rate of success," he said. "I wish all our programs were that successful."

Post Office Closing Opposed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday went on record opposing "any closing or shifting of services from the St. Joseph post office." The board's unanimous resolution came in the wake of reports that the U.S. Postal Service may transfer part of the St. Joseph post office operations to the Benton Harbor post office.

A postal official Monday said no decision has yet been made on the switch, but John Van Eck, section center manager-postmaster in Kalamazoo, who made the statement, said a "package is being put together" of cost analysis and other factors involved in a partial consolidation of the two Twin Cities post offices. He earlier said if the transfer goes through, the same services now offered to customers at the St. Joseph office would be maintained.

The board's resolution said commissioners received information that there is a "strong possibility that the St. Joseph post office would either be a small sub-station or be closed entirely."

The resolution notes St. Joseph is the county seat, and Berrien county government postal charges run in excess of $80,000 per year, requiring a full-service post office. The resolution also states: "Berrien county (will) do everything it sees fit to keep a full service post office in the county seat, St. Joseph." The board also voted to send copies of the resolution to state and federal legislators and postal officials. The board's resolution joins one already passed by the St. Joseph city commission, which also opposes any transfer.

"LOOK LIKE A MILLION - NOT LIKE A MILLION OTHERS"

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

More than 90 per cent of the juvenile offenders referred to the Berrien county Youth Service Bureau from June of 1973 through June of 1975 were not subsequently petitioned to juvenile court.

"I feel this statistic is amazing," Berrien Probate Judge Ronald H. Lange told the county board of commissioners Thursday while presenting the 1975 annual report for the probate and juvenile court.

"I think it shows the effectiveness of this program in keeping young people out of the courts,"

Judge Lange also cited the county juvenile center at Berrien Center for running an "excellent program" while detailing highlights of the report, presented on behalf of himself and fellow Probate Judge Zoe S. Burkholz.

The report showed that during 1975 1,133 referrals were made to the Youth Service Bureau, located at 89 West Main street, Benton Harbor. Of this total, 664 were referred for adult-type crimes while 469 were referred for juvenile or "status" offenses that would not apply to adults.

The most common criminal offenses were shoplifting (314) and larceny (161) while the leading "status" offenses were truancy (99), curfew violation (62) and incorrigible at home (60) and at school (60). The Youth Services Bureau is a counseling, guidance, and referral agency established to try to solve the various problems of delinquent youths, according to Charles Kehoe, director of juvenile court services. He noted youths referred to YSB but not petitioned to court are not branded with criminal records.

Judge Lange said he had learned from state police sources unofficially that the number of juveniles arrested in Berrien county decreased 10 per cent during 1975, but that official figures were not yet available.

The report showed 1975 expenditures of some $200,000 for the probate division of the court and $328,000 for the juvenile division plus expenditures of $743,000 for the child care fund (including juvenile center and foster homes), $191,000 for the Youth Service Bureau and a $92,000 grant to the juvenile center of which state and federal funds provided 95 per cent.

A total of 2,979 formal hearings were held in both divisions of the court — 6.3 per cent over 1974 — and the two probate judges also presided as acting Circuit judges at 481 hearings, mainly domestic relations cases in Niles.

New state laws and codes were cited as the reason for much of the increased work load, and Judge Lange told commissioners that the inclusion of everyone under 18 as juveniles under the new Child Protection law will "probably mean we'll have more cases next year than this year."

Special mention was given by Judge Lange to the home detention program instituted to keep young people out of the juvenile center pending court hearings and the educational program for youths in the residential unit of the center.

He noted that of 96 juveniles involved in the home detention program during 1975, fewer than 10 per cent were returned to detention during that period of supervision.

"The way I look at it, that's a 90 per cent rate of success," he said. "I wish all our programs were that successful."

The report showed that 20 of 138 months although their stays at the center averaged only eight months.

Post Office Closing Opposed

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday went on record opposing "any closing or shifting of services from the St. Joseph post office." The board's unanimous resolution came in the wake of reports that the U.S. Postal Service may transfer part of the St. Joseph post office operations to the Benton Harbor post office.

A postal official Monday said no decision has yet been made on the switch, but John Van Eck, section center manager-postmaster in Kalamazoo, who made the statement, said a "package is being put together" of cost analysis and other factors involved in a partial consolidation of the two Twin Cities post offices. He earlier said if the transfer goes through, the same services now offered to customers at the St. Joseph office would be maintained.

The board's resolution said commissioners received information that there is a "strong possibility that the St. Joseph post office would either be a small sub-station or be closed entirely."

The resolution notes St. Joseph is the county seat, and Berrien county government postal charges run in excess of $60,000 per year, requiring a full-service post office. The resolution also states: "Berrien county (will) do everything it sees fit to keep a full service post office in the county seat, St. Joseph." The board also voted to send copies of the resolution to state and federal legislators and postal officials. The board's resolution joins one already passed by the St. Joseph city commission, which also opposes any transfer.

Berrien Seeking State Approval To Extend Metro Crime Unit Life

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday agreed to apply for a nine-month extension to continue third year operations of the county's Metro Crime Unit, and learned fourth-year funding could cost the county $400,000.

The board agreed to apply to the state Office of Criminal Justice programs for the nine-month extension, which would run from July to April 30, 1977. A state and federal grant would provide for 50 per cent of the $240,000 cost, and the remaining monies would come from the county and participating municipalities.

Commissioner Frank Poorman stressed the application won't bind the county to fourth year funding, which would be 100 per cent at the county level. The grant under which Metro operates is one of a number of programs running under a complicated state formula, in which acceptance of third year funding obligates the county to fourth year funding.

Commissioner Pto Grau noted if the county accepts the third year it is obligated to the fourth year, but the application is merely to see if the state will fund Metro in the third year. If the grant is approved at the state level, the county must still decide whether to accept it, Grau added.

"The State of Michigan is one of the few states that sucks you in on this kind of program," complained Grau. He also stressed that some kind of arrangement must be worked out with the municipalities that supply officers for Metro so that the municipalities would pay part of the officers' salaries.

Grau said the municipalities will pay 50 per cent of the officers' salaries during a three-month extension to the second year grant, which will run from April to June 30. He said the county seeks the same agreement for the nine-month extension, so that the actual county share of the $240,000 being sought would be $54,000. The Metro Crime squad currently has 15 officers and two secretaries. Fourteen of the officers are from county and local police agencies and the other is a state trooper.

When Grau informed the board the cost of fourth year funding, which would be entirely at the county level, could hit $400,000, Commissioner Lad Stacey, chairman of the finance committee, responded: "There's no way the county can pick up the whole tab."

Grau labeled Metro "a good, worthwhile, and effective unit," but noted the board would have to "seriously evaluate" it again before the county would commit $400,000.

In another matter, as detailed in Wednesday's Herald-Palladium, Berrien Circuit Judge Julian Hughes made a presentation to the board seeking the creation of a fourth circuit judgeship. The request must be passed at the county level, and then needs approval from the state legislature and state court administrator.

The board took no immediate action on the request. Hughes stressed a decision should be made before April to meet various deadlines and Grau, chairman of the administration committee, under whose jurisdiction courts fall, said the board would consider the request and would hold a special meeting if necessary. "We'll work on it," Grau promised.

The board yesterday also pledged the county's full faith and backing in to sell $100,000 notes for the Nelson drain project in St. Joseph township, with the notes to be sold at an interest rate not to exceed 4.1668 per cent per year.

The county's share for the project will be $10,000, because county roads border the drain, and the remainder will come from residents in the township. The contract also includes a "hold-harmless" clause, in which the county would advance the funds if St. Joseph township cannot meet the payments, but then can take all actions available for the reimbursement of those funds.

In other business, the board:

—Authorized installation of an updated telephone system for the courthouse to reduce the number of unauthorized long-distance calls and alleviate the necessity for more personnel. County Coordinator Roger Petrie noted $81,000 is set aside in the current budget for the courthouse telephone system.

The new system will cost $9,981 for installation, with a monthly rate of $3,559 for three years and then $1,800 per month afterwards. Petrie noted the present monthly rate is $2,761.

—Approved an agreement with the State Department of Social Services to continue the prosecutor's welfare fraud division, with the county contributing $15,600 and the state paying $53,933.

—Authorized purchase of six patrol cars for the sheriff's department costing a total of $19,890; purchase of two cars for the detective bureau for $6,627; and purchase of a pickup truck for the dog warden at a cost of $2,180.

—Re-appointed Poorman to a five-year term on the board of health.

Grass Fire Takes Shed And Tractor

Benton township firemen were called to two grass fires Thursday that burned over a total of about 15 acres, destroyed a storage shed and tractor and injured a fireman.

A fire that spread over about five acres in fields around Hillandale and Meadowbrook roads, burned the 20 by 20 foot building owned by John Kozlik, route 1, Hillandale. A tractor was destroyed. Firemen said no loss estimate was reported.

Fireman Freeman Reed, 26, was struck in the eye by a piece of hot debris and was released after treatment from Mercy hospital. The fire was blamed on a trash burner that burned out of control.

The other field fire burned about 10 acres in a vacant field off Whitney avenue near Napier avenue, the third fire there in about a week. Firemen believe children were responsible.

Elm Disease Sweeping England; 6.5 Million Trees Gone

By GRAHAM HEATHCOTE
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — A tiny beetle carrying the spores of a tree-killing fungus from Canada has killed off 6.5 million of Britain's 30 million stately elm trees.

And the beetles are chomping on.

Over the last 10 years the fungus, called Dutch Elm disease because most of the research on it was done in Holland, has spread through the elms in southern England as no previous affliction of trees has ever done, and is beginning to march northwards. One million dead trees have been felled. The other 5.5 million still stand, because there is no labor and no money to cut them down and the market for elm wood is slumped.

The fungus kills by poisoning the tree and blocking the vessels that carry water. The leaves die first, then the branches, then the trunk. A tree can be defoliated and killed in five weeks or it may take 18 months. A dead tree continues to stand but it rots and becomes dangerous because limbs and branches fall off easily.

The landowner has to pay the cost of felling, up to $140 per tree, and many cannot afford it.

The fungus is carried from tree to tree by two types of elm bark beetle, no more than one-quarter inch long, which burrow through the bark to lay their eggs. The eggs hatch and the grubs eat their way through the wood, making galleries as they go. The galleries help the fungus to spread. The grubs pupate in the tree and then emerge, carrying fungus spores in and on their bodies, and fly off to infect healthy trees. One infected elm may contain a million beetle grubs.

The disease got into 11 elms at Buckingham Palace in 1873 and they had to be felled. Other elms there were injected with a fungicide which costs $20 to $40 a shot and has to be repeated every year. Even then a tree might not be saved. The high cost of injection has meant only elms of outstanding environmental value have been treated for example the driveways of famous homes such as Blenheim Palace. Winston Churchill's birth place which draw thousands of tourists a year.

Spraying the trees with insecticide was tried but proved expensive, and harmful to useful insects. The elm is not grown for its timber but as an adornment of the landscape. If they are close together the fungus can also spread through their root systems.

Dr. J. N. Gribbs, forestry Commission research scientist, said one strain of the disease was present in Britain for years but elms rarely died from it. Years of detective work traced the cause of the current outbreak to a shipment of rock elm timber from Canada's Toronto region in the 1960s. The logs came in with their bark on.

Boat-Lover Wins Big

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — David Overholt loves boats and today the 38-year-old Grand Rapids autoworker can afford a lot of boat to love.

Overholt won the top prize of $200,000 Thursday in the Michigan Lottery Bureau's Superplay Drawing.

"I guess I can spend this summer on Lake Michigan," the happy father of four teenagers said after the lucky drawing.

Overholt's wife, Sharon, who is a secretary at Grand Valley State College, said she had no intention, however, of giving up her job.

Second prize of $25,000 was won by Robert Kukura, 35, of Ann Arbor, a school teacher in the Livonia system. The father of two said he would buy a new car with his prize money.

A prize of $15,000 was won by Eleanor Jones, who celebrated her 55th birthday Thursday. Mrs. Jones, of Anchorage, who works as a secretary at a Detroit realty firm, didn't say how she would use her windfall. Her husband, Theodore, is a retired GM worker. They have three grown children.

Monroe car salesman Albert Kock won $12,500 and Pontiac elementary school teaching assistant Iralda Garcia, 20, won $10,000.

"We cannot find anything to stop them," said Forestry Commission spokesman Geoffrey Seal. "Only a very cold winter or a series of cold winters could kill a lot of beetles and slow down the spread of the disease or make it taper off. But we have had four mild winters in a row."

Over the last 10 years the fungus, called Dutch Elm disease because most of the research on it was done in Holland, has spread through the elms in southern England as no previous affliction of trees has ever done, and is beginning to march northwards. One million dead trees have been felled. The other 5.5 million still stand, because there is no labor and no money to cut them down and the market for elm wood is glutted.

The fungus kills by poisoning the tree and blocking the vessels that carry water. The leaves die first, then the branches, then the trunk. A tree can be defoliated and killed in five weeks or it may take 18 months. A dead tree continues to stand but it rots and becomes dangerous because limbs and branches fall off easily.

The landowner has to pay the cost of felling, up to $140 per tree, and many cannot afford it.

The fungus is carried from tree to tree by two types of elm bark beetle, no more than one-quarter inch long, which burrow through the bark to lay their eggs. The eggs hatch and the grubs eat their way through the wood, making galleries as they go. The galleries help the fungus to spread. The grubs pupate in the tree and then emerge, carrying fungus spores in and on their bodies, and fly off to infect healthy trees. One infected elm may contain a million beetle grubs.

The disease got into 11 elms at Buckingham Palace in 1973 and they had to be felled. Other elms there were injected with a fungicide which costs $20 to $40 a shot and has to be repeated every year. Even then a tree might not be saved. The high cost of injection has meant only elms of outstanding environmental value have been treated for example the driveways of famous homes such as Blenheim Palace, Winston Churchill's birth place which draw thousands of tourists a year.

Spraying the trees with insecticide was tried but proved expensive, and harmful to useful insects. The elm is not grown for its timber but as an adornment of the landscape. If they are close together the fungus can also spread through their rooting systems.

Boat-Lover Wins Big

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — David Overholt loves boats and today the 38-year-old Grand Rapids autoworker can afford a lot of boat to love.

Overholt won the top prize of $200,000 Thursday in the Michigan Lottery Bureau's Superplay Drawing.

"I guess I can spend this summer on Lake Michigan," the happy father of four teenagers said after the lucky drawing.

Overholt's wife, Sharon, who is a secretary at Grand Valley State College, said she had no intention, however, of giving up her job.

Second prize of $25,000 was won by Robert Kukura, 35, of Ann Arbor, a school teacher in the Livonia system. The father of two said he would buy a new car with his prize money.

A prize of $15,000 was won by Eleanor Jones, who celebrated her 55th birthday Thursday. Mrs. Jones, of Anchorville, who works as a secretary at a Detroit realty firm, didn't say how she would use her windfall. Her husband, Theodore, is a retired GM worker. They have three grown children.

Monroe car salesman Albert Kock won $12,500 and Pontiac elementary school teaching assistant Iraida Garcia, 20, won $10,000.

Migrants Replaced By Machines And Full-Time Workers

Michigan farmers appear to be hiring more full-time workers and fewer migrant seasonal workers, according to Michigan State University's Center for Rural Manpower and Public Affairs.

Last season the number of migrant workers employed in Michigan continued to decline while the number of full-time workers increased some 20 per cent, says Allen E. Shapley, farm labor specialist at the Center.

The figures, which are estimates, show that more farm work is being done with mechanical aids, says M.J. Buschlen, operations manager of the Farm Labor division of Michigan Farm Bureau.

To escape the expense of maintaining migrant housing facilities, "harassment by inspectors of all kinds" associated with migrant workers and the general increased cost of labor, farmers and fruit growers cut back on the use of migrants, said Buschlen.

But with more machines, which require maintenance and operators, farmers at the same time are hiring more full-time workers at their farms, he explained.

Referring to migrant-advocacy agencies which have sued farmers on the behalf of migrant workers, Buschlen added "And the machine won't take me to court if something goes wrong."

U.S. Department of labor figures indicate that from 1964 to 1974 the number of migrants working in Michigan fell from 83,000 to 22,000. The number of full-time employees increased slightly during that period from 16,000 to 17,000, Buschlen said.

Another yardstick used to measure the seasonal migrant population is the number of licenses issued for farm labor camps. That figure fell slightly in 1975, according to Norman Papsdorf, chief of the agricultural labor camp section of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

In 1974 there were 1,129 camp licenses issued, he said. Those camps had a capacity for 32,190 adults. In 1975 there were 1,084 camps, with a capacity for 31,492 adults, were licensed.

But Papsdorf, who said there is no accurate way to count the number of migrants, pointed out that the camp capacity figure doesn't show whether those camps were in fact full during the season. Nor does it tell whether just one, or more than one, family occupied a cabin during the season. And it doesn't show how many children were in the camps. The more children, the less space for adults.

Michigan keeps better figures "on our number of cattle than on migrants," he said.

Shapley said that the decrease in camp numbers in 1975 was much smaller than the average annual decrease over the last five years. The number fell four per cent last year compared to the average annual reduction of 11 per cent, he said.

Papsdorf reminds growers who plan to operate a camp this season that license applications should be in his office 30 days before the camp is to be occupied. This will give inspectors time to go over the camp and issue the license, he said.

Fruit Growers, You Better Listen Up

A free hearing check to be offered during Michigan State University's Farmers' Week should be of interest to fruit growers, who suffer greater hearing losses than other groups of Michigan farmers.

Howard J. Doss, a farm safety expert with MSU's extension service, reports that a survey of 80 full-time farmers taken in 1973 pointed out that fruit growers have "substantially greater hearing losses" than other farmers.

Wheat, Corn Targets Increased

The Commodity Credit Corporation has increased target prices for 1976 corn and wheat, reports Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

New target prices are $2.29 per bushel of wheat, an increase of 24 cents, and $1.57 per bushel of corn, up 18 cents.

If, within six months after harvest, the average price per bushel of corn or wheat falls below target, a payment by United States Department of Agriculture could be made, Francis said. In the event that disaster payments are made, they will be based on the target price, he added.

New loan rates, per bushel, are $1.50 for wheat, $1.25 for corn and $2.50 for soybeans.

Meet Called To Consider A Sheep Association

A meeting for people interested in forming a sheep producers' association will be held March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Van Buren County Farm Bureau building, west of Paw Paw, according to Van Buren Extension Agent Fred Hinkley.

Hinkley said that interest in such a group was shown at extension meetings for sheep producers this winter in Southwestern Michigan.

An organization could encourage sheep production, serve an educational function for farmers and suggest that homesteaders make or use items of wool instead of synthetics, he said.

Hinkley pointed out that there is a statewide sheep producers' association, but he said farmers feel that a group based in Southwestern Michigan might be more effective.

It isn't known how many farmers raise sheep, said Hinkley. He added the profit is in marketing lambs. Wool sales are an added benefit of sheep production.

'Gras Grade Set, Price Is To Come

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

The Michigan Asparagus Growers, an official bargaining agent, and processors have agreed upon grade standards for this year's crop, and now price negotiations are ready to begin.

According to Harry Foster, manager of the bargaining unit and other divisions of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA), the industry grading standard was decided before price this year so that bargainers "know what we're talking about when we start quoting prices."

During recent talks processors and growers decided that the best asparagus spears with a maximum length of 7 1/2 inches will be called Select. Spears over 7 1/2 inches but under 9 inches will be called Number 1.

The term Cull will describe overlength (that portion of the spear over nine inches in length), undersize (spears that measure less than 14-inch diameter four inches below the tip) and white butts (present when the spear was snapped below ground level).

Subject to rejection under the standard would be loads with over 10 per cent Cull or loads with battle eggs evident on over two per cent of the spears, he said.

The definitions will be used during price talks, which

Foster said are about to begin. The first day of the asparagus marketing period is April 23 this year, according to Thomas Moore, administrator of the state marketing and bargaining board. The board administers the 1972 Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act.

In contrast to last year, when 10 asparagus processors stated they would not buy product from the bargaining unit (Michigan Asparagus Growers), no processors have indicated they will stay out of the market this year, Moore said. They have until March 23 to "opt out," however.

Produce asparagus cheaper than domestic growers, Foster said. Imports have grown from "virtually nothing in the mid-60's to about 20 million pounds last year," he added.

Foster said that MACMA will continue to monitor imports. The organization still favors a prohibition of the importation of fresh market Mexican asparagus during U.S. harvest time, he said.

President Won't Prohibit 'Gras Imports

President Gerald Ford won't prohibit imports of fresh and processed asparagus from Mexico and Taiwan, it was announced last week.

Although the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA) and other domestic groups have warned that increasing imports are a threat to American growers, the administration said that the quantity of imports is too small to merit an embargo.

The decision was announced by Ambassador Frederick B. Dent, the President's special representative for trade negotiations. Ford made the ruling because the U.S. International Trade Commission was tied in its vote on whether or not to prohibit asparagus imports.

Michigan is threatened by increasing imports from, among other countries, Mexico, according to Harry Foster, manager of MACMA. Fresh market imports from Mexico cause California growers to can more product than usual and that means that stocks of hand are high when Michigan fields come into production. Michigan can't nearly all of its asparagus crop.

Green Ruler

MSU Releases Snap Bean

A new dual purpose snap bean variety called Green Ruler has been released for experimental trials by the Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment station.

According to Dr. Shigemasa Honma, MSU horticulturist and the variety's developer, Green Ruler is a bush type variety with flavor characteristics that were previously only available in Romano pole bean varieties.

Green Ruler should be well received by consumers, he says. Also, "Growers and processors have for some time expressed interest in a bush Romano type."

The new variety has the characteristic "benny" flavor of the pole Romano; dark green, flat, fleshy pods; low fiber content; and white seeds. Pods harvested at the proper time are of excellent quality for both fresh market and processing.

He says growers will be interested in the facts that it has the ability to stand upright even when laden with pods; good seed germination; yields equal to, or better than, Spartan Arrow and Bush Romano; and matures a few days earlier than Spartan Arrow, Bush Romano or Romano 14.

Freezing and canning quality tests indicated that Green Ruler pods are stringless and low in fiber at the prime harvest time for processing and fresh market. Also, the surface tissue of the pods did not slough off in normal canning or freezing.

Honma estimates that seed for the new variety will be available commercially in a few years.

Laws Are Meet Topic

Farm labor laws will be discussed on March 22 at 1:30 p.m. at the Allegan County Farm Bureau in Allegan during a meeting sponsored by the Farm Bureau and the extension service.

M.J. Buschlen will discuss the state and federal minimum wage laws, state and federal Occupational Safety and Health Act rules and workmen's compensation. Buschlen is operations manager of the farm labor division of the state Farm Bureau.

GREEN RULER: This new Michigan State university snap bean is a bush type variety with excellent flavor. Seed will be available in a few years, provided experimental trials are successful, say MSU horticulturists.

Farm History

Lincoln Made Possible USDA, Ag. Colleges

Although preoccupied with the spreading ravages of the Civil War, President Abraham Lincoln placed important emphasis on the future of American agriculture.

In one year, 1862, the Lincoln Administration took three separate actions which would have major long-range effects on the agricultural needs of a growing nation.

Living up to the bargain he made for Western support to get elected, Lincoln signed three agriculture-related acts:

— The U.S. Department of Agriculture was organized and given independent status to promote the nation's farming.

— The Homestead Act was passed and agricultural development of the West entered a new era.

— Agricultural education received a much needed boost with the passage of the Morrill Land Grant College Act.

In his first message to Congress, President Lincoln called for the establishment of an "agricultural and statistical bureau" and on May 15, 1862, the U.S. Department of Agriculture was created.

The first agricultural division was created under the Commissioner of Patents and the distribution of seeds to leading farmers was started. Shortly before the Agriculture Department was created, the country even had an experimental five-acre garden plot in Washington.

In July of 1862 the Land Grant College act was passed and agriculture education was launched on a national basis. These early education efforts were beset with many problems, but progress was made. By 1882, organized college extension teaching in agriculture was begun.

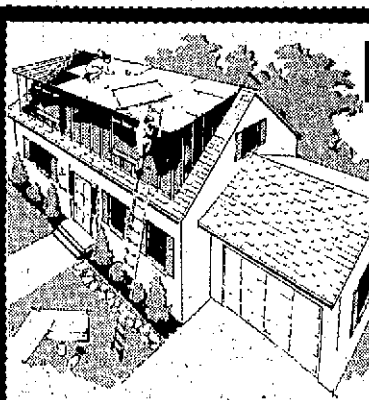

Agricultural education, which began under local societies such as the Philadelphia Society for the Promotion of Agriculture in 1785, was put on a formal and continuing basis.

On May 20, 1862, President Lincoln signed the Homestead act. Now, supposedly, heads of families could receive 160 acres of the public domain. Many problems and scandals concerning land development resulted in numerous changes in the law in coming years. But gradually settlement and agricultural development moved westward.

Thus, within a scant month-and-a-half back in 1862, Lincoln with three strokes of his presidential pen helped shape the future of American agriculture.

In this case, we'd say "yes". Otherwise, "no." Psychologists, puzzling over the behavior of the new breed of young people, seem to agree on only one point — that children tend to follow the examples they see around them.

What better example for small children than an older youngster doing an important job, consistently, well — and willingly?

Although no research has taken place, he guesses that air-blast sprayers could be one of the sources of the problem for fruit growers.

Some air-blast sprayers create 110 decibels of noise, he said. According to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), a factory worker can be exposed to 115 decibels for no longer than 15 minutes, he said. OSHA has no noise standards for agriculture.

With the industrial standards in mind, however, Doss said fruit farmers' "continuous exposure time to high noise levels" could cause hearing problems.

The 1973 test was conducted during Farmers' Week. Only men who had been farming at least 10 years and who had no history of an ear injury were tested. Seven per cent of the 80 people were fruit farmers. He said that the sample was small, "but statistically it holds water."

This year free hearing checks will be given in room 121 of the Agricultural Engineering building at MSU from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 23, 24 and 25. Doss said a check will indicate whether a person has a hearing problem; it is not a complete hearing test.

Farmers' Week, an annual event, runs March 22 through 26 at the university.

In this case, we'd say "yes". Otherwise, "no." Psychologists, puzzling over the behavior of the new breed of young people, seem to agree on only one point — that children tend to follow the examples they see around them.

What better example for small children than an older youngster doing an important job, consistently, well — and willingly?

The "Rogers" of this world are starting young to learn the meaning and importance of responsibility. Because they grasp this vital factor in organized society, they're a splendid example for younger kids to follow — and promising future leaders in the adult world.

General's Power To Fire A-Bomb May Be Cancelled

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A former U.S. nuclear strategist says the Pentagon may revoke what he said is the sole exception to civilian control over the use of American atomic weapons.

The exception cited is the power of the commander of the North American Air Defense Command to use low-powered defensive missiles against attacking bombers without the president's prior permission if the president cannot be contacted in time.

The former strategist, retired Vice Admiral Gerald E. Miller, told a House International Relations subcommittee Thursday that the Pentagon would eliminate this exception because of changing circumstances.

The Pentagon had no immediate comment.

The NORAD Commander is now Air Force Gen. Daniel James, whose headquarters is near Colorado Springs, Colo.

Miller said the NORAD commander's authority is limited to firing the weapons only over friendly territory or the open seas. Furthermore, the commander had to keep trying and trying to obtain presidential approval until the "situation was in extremis," he said.

The retired admiral made no mention of the reported authority of the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, now Gen. Alexander Haig, to use tactical nuclear weapons to repel any massive attack by Soviet forces.

Miller, who continues as a consultant to the Pentagon on nuclear policies, told the House subcommittee that he understands action is underway in the Defense Department to revoke the NORAD commander's weapon-firing authority "in the near future."

When Chairman Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., asked why the Pentagon would revoke this power, Miller said he did not know but "I surmise the delegation might have outlived its usefulness."

With modern technology and the succession of civilian leadership from the president to the vice president and on down through Congress, Miller said, there could be no case in which a civilian leader could not be immediately found to authorize the use of the nuclear weapons.

The NORAD commander's powers go back to the 1950s when the United States built nuclear-tipped Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missiles bases throughout the country.

U.P. Seafarer Vote Bills Land In Senate

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at a possible May 18th Upper Peninsula referendum on Project Seafarer has cleared the House and is in the Senate.

The House Thursday approved the two-bill package sponsored by Rep. Dominic Jaconetti, D-Negaunee, without debate.

The bills provide that if the U.S. Navy indicates its intent to use either Michigan peninsula as a site for the controversial underground communications system, the counties in the peninsula involved could hold a referendum during the May 18 presidential primary.

The Upper Peninsula has been mentioned as a possible site, although the Defense Department says Michigan is not a final candidate site.

Jaconetti said current law allows counties to hold referendums. He said what his legislation actually does is provide a way that a peninsula-wide referendum could be held at one time, instead of having scattered elections held separately in each county at different times.

Should the Navy choose Michigan as a site sometime after May 18, he said, his bills would not prevent counties from holding referendums on the question later.

Seafarer is an extensive underground radio antenna system that would be used to communicate with submarines patrolling beneath the water. Opponents have raised questions about its effect on human health and on the environment.

The Defense Department has told Gov. William Milliken that Michigan will not become a candidate site without his okay.

JOIN PROTEST: Some of the 200 southwestern Michigan auto repairmen who joined protest of motor vehicle service act yesterday in front of state capitol. In left foreground are Julius (Judy) Granke, owner Crystal Springs service center, Benton Harbor, and George Schmalbach, organizer of yesterday's convoy and partner in Selfridge Body Shop, M-139, Benton township. Small sign reads: "Bureaucrats Don't Give Estimates!!! Why Should We!!! Fat Cats." (Staff photo) it had passed. He told the garagemen the best way to get the law revoked would be to continue vigorous protest.

Area Garagemen Voice Protests

The garagemen told the legislators they feared the requirement to certify mechanics through a state-administered test would result in skyrocketing wage demands. The law requires every shop to have at least one certified mechanic by 1978 to inspect and approve repair work performed by non-certified mechanics. All mechanics performing major repairs must be certified by 1980.

The shop owners said the requirement to write an estimate for all repair work would force them to charge higher hourly rates for their mechanics. One said the rate will jump from $10-$13 to $15 an hour.

Craig Kottelhub, owner of Kottelhub's Cito station, 2501 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, estimated his station would have to write 15 to 20 estimates a day, or about four hours of work for one man. He said he would have to pass the extra expense on to his customers. The auto council estimates the requirement will cost every shop about $5,000 annually.

The law prohibits garages from exceeding their estimate by more than 10 per cent when they present the completed bill unless they have received permission to make additional charges.

Supporters of the law have argued it will protect customers from learning too late that their bill is much higher than was expected.

Not so, argued Randy Crow, a mechanic for Stan's Auto Service, 1180 East Napier avenue, Benton Harbor. He said unscrupulous repair shops will still be prevented from advertising cheap specials and then telling their customers they should replace expensive parts which may still be serviceable.

Schmalbach said he objected to being required to post a sign saying his shop is registered. The sign tells customers the shop is required to provide a written estimate and gives a toll-free telephone number to the secretary of state's office for complaints.

"That sign, if you read between the lines, says we are crooks. You don't see a sign like that in a doctor's office," he said.

When asked why the garage owners had waited so long to protest the law, one said, "We didn't know it was this lousy."

"We're fighting for our freedom to be in business," said Edward Carpenter, president of the ASCM. "We're no longer productive — we have too much paperwork."

Signs saying "We get the hassle and you get the bill," and "We will not pay," sprouted from the crowd of mechanics.

They heartily booed Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, who sponsored the new law. But he held them. "There is another side to the coin — the people who own the cars which you serve."

And a lobbying group which pressed for passage of the new act also reacted strongly to the protest.

The Michigan Citizens Lobby accused the Automotive Service Council of "scare tactics" which it said the council used in California against a similar law.

"Michigan carowners should be under no illusions," said lobby co-director Doug Ross. "What these car repair businesses want is nothing less than a return to the 'good old days' of the easy 'rip-off'."

"The level of incompetence and dishonesty was becoming so great that carowners had lost confidence in their ability to take their cars in and get them repaired properly and at a fair price."

"And no tired threats by a group of garage owners is going to frighten us into going back to those days."

Michigan Power Asks Rate Hike

THREE RIVERS — Michigan Power company has announced it has filed application with the state public service commission to increase its gas rates for all of its service areas in Michigan.

If the rate increases are approved by the commission, the annual gas revenue of the company would be increased approximately $2.1 million, according to R.W. Sampson, company executive vice president.

Michigan Power company provides natural gas service to about 48,000 customers in the state, including customers in New Buffalo, Buchanan, Niles, Dowagiac, Three Rivers, Holland and Zeeland, plus numerous Upper Peninsula cities.

Sampson said present rates charged by the company for its gas service are based upon costs experienced by the company in 1974, but now do not and will not produce sufficient revenues to permit the company to meet its ever-increasing costs for operation and maintenance expenses, wages, materials and supplies, taxes and costs of capital.

According to Sampson, a recent study of actual results of the company's operations for the 12-months ending Jan. 31, 1976, indicates the overall rate of return on the net original costs of the company's property used for its natural gas operations is only 3.3 per cent.

CONFRONTED by the demands of the American war, Parliament lowered whatever standards that existed in the recruitment of soldiers by authorizing the impressment of all men not lawfully employed, the enlistment of British Catholics, and the relaxing of physical standards to take in 16-year-old boys and 50-year-old men, provided they were at least 5 feet-3 inches tall. The World Almanac recalls.

Not so, argued Randy Crow, a mechanic for Stan's Auto Service, 1180 East Napier avenue, Benton Harbor. He said unscrupulous repair shops will still be prevented from advertising cheap specials and then telling their customers they should replace expensive parts which may still be serviceable.

Schmalbach said he objected to being required to post a sign saying his shop is registered. The sign tells customers the shop is required to provide a written estimate and gives a toll-free telephone number to the secretary of state's office for complaints.

Two BH Teens Struck By Shots

Benton Harbor police said a 16-year-old girl was to be petitioned to juvenile court as a result of a shooting incident Thursday in which the girl's sister and a young man were wounded.

Greg Clark, 18, of 1120 Monroe street, and Irene Jenkins, 13, of 502 Green avenue, both Benton Harbor, were treated and released from Mercy hospital after the 1 p.m. incident. Clark was hit in the hand, Irene was struck in the upper leg area, police reports said.

The girl was turned over to the custody of her mother pending petitioning to juvenile court today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a .22 caliber rifle. Police said the gun had been fired three times.

Police said they were called to 502 Green avenue on a report of trouble. Police said the shooting resulted from an apparent argument.

Payment Delays Possible

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Delays in payments to school districts and liquor suppliers are a possibility in June when Michigan's cash problems really will begin to pinch, State Treasurer Allison Green predicted. In a report this week to top state officials, Green said low cash totals in the treasury would make it "imprudent" to pay out even half of the $200 million monthly school aid payment in June when it is due. The state already has delayed half the payment in October and February and plans to do it again in April. He also said payments to liquor suppliers might have to be held up a month or so, and the transfer of large payments into the state retirement fund also could be delayed.

Bus Chassis Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — Some 11,000 Ford Motor Co. bus chassis and trucks are being recalled to correct a possible defect in the front suspension system, the automaker said Thursday. Ford said rivets on hanger brackets for front springs may have had undersized heads, and heavy use could cause the brackets to crack, possibly causing eventual loss of steering with continued use. Ford said the vehicles involved were 1974 and 1975 B-series bus chassis and 1975 F-series trucks with wheelbases of 200.5 inches.

Warden Denies Assaults

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Southern Michigan Prison Warden Charles E. Egeler has denied charges that assaults by guards on prisoners in solitary confinement cells was widespread in Michigan prisons. "It's an outright lie," Egeler said Thursday. In response to charges leveled by Corrections Department ombudsman James Spivey, "I've known of one case since I've been warden, and we tried to prosecute him. And he was found not guilty," said the warden. Egeler has been warden since September 1972. Spivey, a former inmate, made his charges Wednesday before the House Corrections Committee. The committee is considering a bill limiting to 500 the number of prisoners at each state prison. Spivey said most assaults occur in solitary confinement cells because they can't be witnessed by prisoners in the next cell. Spivey described the cells as "filthy, hideous places."

Blind Man Hit, Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — A blind man was struck by a car, clubbed by the driver of the vehicle and robbed of $15, police said. Ronald Utting, 33, who is totally blind, stumbled to a bar and police were called. He was treated for minor injuries at St. Johns hospital. Utting's guide dog, Toby, also was knocked over by the car, but was apparently unharmed. Police said Utting was preparing to cross a street on Detroit's East Side when the car mounted the pavement and knocked him over. Utting told police the driver told him, "I'll kill you," took $15 from his pocket, and struck him in the head with an unknown blunt object.

Youths Rocking For Food

The senior high youth group of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, St. Joseph, will start rocking at 6 p.m. today to raise money for a food bank to assist people in distress who don't qualify for welfare.

The rockathon is scheduled to last until midnight Saturday. The youths have obtained pledges to keep their chairs rocking. All proceeds will go to the food bank administered by Fairplain Presbyterian church, according to Rev. Curtis Bunkel, pastor Zion Evangelical and Reformed church.

New House Prices Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a buyer's market for "house hunters." The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported Thursday that the average price of new homes dropped $2,000 in February to $45,200.

The effective interest rates on new homes declined for the third straight month to 8.94 per cent from 8.99 per cent in January.

Two Motorcyclists Hurt In Crashes

Berrien county sheriff's officers reported two motorcyclists sustained apparently minor injuries Thursday in separate accidents as motorcycle traffic increased with warm weather.

A Berrien Springs cyclist sought his own treatment for apparently minor cuts and bruises sustained when the cyclist he was riding went out of control on US-39 in Royalltown township about 1 p.m.

Ronald Joseph Augustine, 17, of 422 West Perry street, said he hit his gravel while rounding a curve and slid into a car parked in a lot. No ticket was issued, deputies reported.

Roger Earl Yack, 24, of 1006 Fairlawn road, St. Joseph township, was released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after he was thrown from his motorcycle. Deputies said the accident occurred on private property near the intersection of Napier avenue and Pipestone road, Benton township, about 5:15 p.m. Deputies reported no ticket was issued.

Michigan Power Asks Rate Hike

THREE RIVERS — Michigan Power company has announced it has filed application with the state public service commission to increase its gas rates for all of its service areas in Michigan.

If the rate increases are approved by the commission, the annual gas revenue of the company would be increased approximately $2.1 million, according to R.W. Sampson, company executive vice president.

Michigan Power company provides natural gas service to about 46,000 customers in the state, including customers in New Buffalo, Buchanan, Niles, Dowagiac, Three Rivers, Holland and Zeeland, plus numerous Upper Peninsula cities.

Sampson said present rates charged by the company for its gas service are based upon costs experienced by the company in 1974, but now do not and will not produce sufficient revenues to permit the company to meet its ever-increasing costs for operation and maintenance expenses, wages, materials and supplies, taxes and costs of capital.

According to Sampson, a recent study of actual results of the company's operations for the 12-months ending Jan. 31, 1976, indicates the overall rate of return on the net original costs of the company's property used for its natural gas operations is only 3.3 per cent.

Two BH Teens Struck By Shots

Benton Harbor police said a 16-year-old girl was to be petitioned to juvenile court as a result of a shooting incident Thursday in which the girl's sister and a young man were wounded.

Greg Clark, 18, of 1120 Monroe street, and Irene Jenkins, 13, of 592 Green avenue, both Benton Harbor, were treated and released from Mercy hospital after the 1 p.m. incident. Clark was hit in the hand, Irene was struck in the upper leg area, police reports said.

The girl was turned over to the custody of her mother pending petitioning to juvenile court today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a .22 caliber rifle. Police said the gun had been fired three times.

Payment Delays Possible

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Delays in payments to school districts and liquor suppliers are a possibility in June when Michigan's cash problems really will begin to pinch, State Treasurer Allison Green predicted. In a report this week to top state officials, Green said low cash totals in the treasury would make it "imprudent" to pay out even half of the $200 million monthly school aid payment in June when it is due. The state already has delayed half the payment in October and February and plans to do it again in April. He also said payments to liquor suppliers might have to be held up a month or so, and the transfer of large payments into the state retirement fund also could be delayed.

Bus Chassis Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — Some 11,600 Ford Motor Co. bus chassis and trucks are being recalled to correct a possible defect in the front suspension system, the automaker said Thursday. Ford said rivets on hanger brackets for front springs may have had under-sized heads, and heavy use could cause the brackets to crack, possibly causing eventual loss of steering with continued use. Ford said the vehicles involved were 1974 and 1975 B-series bus chassis and 1975 F-Series trucks with wheelbases of 260.5 inches.

Warden Denies Assaults

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Southern Michigan Prison Warden Charles E. Egeler has denied charges that assaults by guards on prisoners in solitary confinement cells was widespread in Michigan prisons. "It's an outright lie," Egeler said Thursday, in response to charges leveled by Corrections Department ombudsman James Spivey. "I've known of one case since I've been warden, and we tried to prosecute him. And he was found not guilty," said the warden. Egeler has been warden since September 1972. Spivey, a former inmate, made his charges Wednesday before the House Corrections Committee. The committee is considering a bill limiting to 500 the number of prisoners at each state prison. Spivey said most assaults occur in solitary confinement cells because they can not be witnessed by prisoners in the next cell. Spivey described the cells as "filthy, hideous places."

Blind Man Hit, Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — A blind man was struck by a car, clubbed by the driver of the vehicle and robbed of $15, police said. Ronald Utting, 33, who is totally blind, stumbled to a bar and police were called. He was treated for minor injuries at St. Johns hospital. Utting's guide dog, Toby, also was knocked over by the car, but was apparently unharmed. Police said Utting was preparing to cross a street on Detroit's East Side when the car mounted the pavement and knocked him over. Utting told police the driver told him, "I'll kill you," took $15 from his pocket, and struck him in the head with an unknown blunt object.

He told the garagemen the best way to get the law revoked would be to continue vigorous protest.

The garagemen told the legislators they feared the requirement to certify mechanics through a state-administered test would result in skyrocketing wage demands. The law requires every shop to have at least one certified mechanic by 1978 to inspect and approve repair work performed by non-certified mechanics. All mechanics performing major repairs must be certified by 1980.

The shop owners said the requirement to write an estimate for all repair work would force them to charge higher hourly rates for their mechanics. One said the rate will jump from $10-$13 to $15 an hour.

Craig Kettelhut, owner of Kettelhut's Cito station, 2501 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, estimated his station would have to write 15 to 20 estimates a day, or about four hours of work for one man. He said he would have to pass the extra expense on to his customers. The auto council estimates the requirement will cost every shop about $5,000 annually.

The law prohibits garages from exceeding their estimate by more than 10 per cent when they present the completed bill unless they have received permission to make additional charges.

Supporters of the law have argued it will protect customers from learning too late that their bill is much higher than was expected.

Not so, argued Randy Crow, a mechanic for Stan's Auto Service, 1196 East Napier avenue, Benton Harbor. He said unscrupulous repair shops will still not be prevented from advertising cheap specials and then telling their customers they should replace expensive parts which may still be serviceable.

Schmalbach said he objected to being required to post a sign saying his shop is registered. The sign tells customers the shop is required to provide a written estimate and gives a toll-free telephone number to the secretary of state's office for complaints.

"That sign, if you read between the lines, says we are crooks. You don't see a sign like that in a doctor's office," he said.

When asked why the garage owners had waited so long to protest the law, one said, "We didn't know it was this lousy." "We're fighting for our freedom to be in business," said Edward Carpenter, president of the ASCM. "We're no longer productive — we have too much paperwork."

Signs saying "We get the hassle and You get the bill," and "We will not pay," sprouted from the crowd of mechanics.

They heartily booed Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, who sponsored the new law. But he told them, "There is another side to the coin — the people who own the cars which you serve."

And a lobbying group which pressed for passage of the new act also reacted strongly to the protest.

The Michigan Citizens Lobby accused the Automotive Service Council of "scare tactics" which it said the council used in California against a similar law. "Michigan carowners should be under no illusions," said lobby co-director Doug Ross. "What these car repair businesses want is nothing less than a return to the 'good old days' of the easy rip-off."

"The level of incompetence and dishonesty was becoming so great that carowners had lost confidence in their ability to take their cars in and get them repaired properly and at a fair price."

"And no tired threats by a group of garage owners is going to frighten us into going back to those days."

Bucks Shell Shelby, Reach Saturday's Semis

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

Sports Editor

MIDDLEVILLE — It's going to take a telescope to keep up with the Buchanan Bucks. They're out of sight.

Buchanan shellacked a supposedly strong Shelby squad 91-67 in Class C quarterfinal action here Thursday night before more than 3,000 fans.

Coach Bill Wilson's unbeaten and top-ranked Bucks lamed the Tigers with their best shooting of the season while putting all five starters in double figures.

It's now on to the semifinals against Stockbridge at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Civic Center at Lansing. Stockbridge is unrated but the winner of 12 straight in a 20-6 season.

Saturday's other Class C semifinal game will pit No. 2 Unionville-Sebewaing against No. 4 rated Negaunee.

Buchanan slammed Shelby with 58 per cent field goal shooting while getting 17 points from Ken Garrett, 14 each from Gerald Busby and Walt Vanderbush and 12 apiece from Mike Busby and Kevin Vanderbush.

"They are all they should be in being rated No. 1," declared Shelby coach James Tate while praising Buchanan. "They're really tough."

"We tried about every kind of defense. We couldn't play them man-to-man because they are so big inside (Garrett 6-6 and Mike Busby 6-5), and we couldn't play a zone because they just lobbed the ball inside."

Buchanan scored the first eight points of the game and led 26-7 after the first quarter, 48-27 at halftime and 71-38 entering the last period. The biggest lead of the night was 34 points.

"I was surprised Shelby opened with a man-to-man defense because we had bigger people (about three inches per man)," noted Wilson. "I thought they would use a zone and try to control the tempo of the game."

Shelby, the state Class C champions in 1972, bowed out of the tournament at 20-6 while seeing a nine-game winning streak snapped. The Tigers got a game-high 20 points from all-state candidate Tom Beckman, plus 18 and 12 points, respectively, from guards Gary Gosselin and Rick Zoulek.

Shelby had made it to the quarterfinals by knocking off ranked White Cloud and Byron Center.

Buchanan added a 38 to 33 rebounding edge, including seven each by Garrett and Gerald Busby, and a better floor game (17 turnovers, compared to Shelby's 26) while winning its 26th straight game.

"They are very well coached, excellent ballhandlers and super on the boards," added the Shelby coach. "They're as good as anyone I've seen this year."

Buchanan is now shooting at an impressive 53 per cent pace in the tournament while averaging 84.7 points per game with a 26.3 points winning margin. No one has come within 19 points of the Bucks in the tourney.

It was the first quarterfinal since 1955 for Buchanan, which has never won a state basketball championship.

About the only area where Buchanan stumbled Thursday night was at the free throw line. The Bucks swished seven of 15 (47 per cent) while the Tigers hit 19 of 27 (70 per cent).

Buchanan posted its 58 per cent field goal mark, by meshing 42 of 72 attempts while Shelby connected on 24 of 58 (41 per cent).

Buck starters hit at an even 60 per cent clip before the last of them left the floor midway through the last quarter. Gerald Busby hit seven of eight, Garrett eight of 12, Mike Busby six of 11, Walt Vanderbush seven of 14 and Kevin Vanderbush five of 10.

Buchanan made 13 of 18 first quarter shots without a turnover while opening up its commanding first quarter lead.

Shelby then played the Bucks on even terms the second period while getting 13 points from Tom Beckman. The Bucks were also charged with two technicals for touching the rim.

Buchanan never went to the free throw line the first half as Shelby made just three first half fouls. But after trailing 46-27 at halftime, the Tigers played more aggressively over the final two quarters and added 15 more fouls.

Shelby didn't get a field goal until the 4:14 mark of the third quarter as Buchanan scored 16 of the first 20 points.

Buchanan lost Garrett on fouls at the 5:12 point of the last quarter, but by then the issue was clearly decided.

Stockbridge advanced to the semifinals by downing Pontiac Catholic 60-57 Thursday night. Unionville-Sebewaing moved up by whipping Beaverton 88-56 and Negaunee kept rolling by whipping Roseconcom 66-40.

Stockbridge is also a small team when compared with Buchanan, with 6-2 senior center Mill Campbell the biggest man. He's also the leading Stockbridge scorer with a 16.0 average.

Campbell is the brother of former Stockbridge star Jesse Campbell, now playing college ball at Mercyhurst in Pennsylvania.

LOUISVILLE (AP) —

Michigan Coach Johnny Orr lost his cool, but his ball club didn't. "We had a lot of poise out there," said an elated Orr, who was wildly leading cheers seconds after his ninth-ranked Wolverines edged seventh-rated Notre Dame, 80-78, in an NCAA Midwest regional semifinal game Thursday night.

The victory boosted Michigan into Saturday's final against Missouri, which beat Texas Tech 88-75 behind the 30-point scoring of Willie Smith.

"I said before this one began that it would be one of the best games in America, and I think it certainly turned out that way," Orr said. "These kids never quit."

"We played more aggressively in the second half and that was the key for us," he added.

Michigan, which trailed by 11 points during the first half and by eight midway through the second half, used a ball-hawking defense to pull itself back into contention, then capitalized on some crucial steals in the final minutes to overtake the Irish.

"We got the floor open more in the second half and our quickness helped for that," Orr said. That tactic allowed Rickey Green, Michigan's leading scorer with 20 points, to drive for several layups.

Michigan's quickness was particularly telling in the final three minutes when Tom Staton and John Robinson each stole a Notre Dame pass and turned the thefts into baskets.

Staton's field goal put Michigan ahead 73-70 and Robinson's layup and free throw gave the Wolverines a 78-72 advantage with a minute left.

That set the stage for a pair of clinging free throws by Steve Grote with 21 seconds left that put Michigan in front, 78-74.

Grote's free throws put Michigan ahead 78-74 and allowed the Wolverines to withstand a desperate Notre Dame rush.

The Irish, 23-8, had two chances to tie the game in the waning seconds, but each time came up empty.

On the first occasion, Ray Martin missed the front end of a bonus free throw situation, then with 16 seconds remaining, Don Williams dribbled the ball off his knee and out of bounds.

Rickey Green, who led Michigan with 20 points, led the game with two foul shots with two seconds to go.

Meanwhile, Notre Dame All-American Adrian Dantley scored a game-high 31 in what could have been his last game with the Irish.

After the loss, the junior star said he may not be around for another try at the NCAA title, although he still has a year of eligibility remaining.

"I'd say it's about 50-50 that I'll go pro," Dantley said. "I haven't made my decision yet."

"I love Notre Dame and I love college ball, but I'll do what my gut feeling tells me. It's not only the money. That was there last year. There's a lot of things to consider. We'll wait and see."

Gaels Eliminated By East Catholic In Overtime

Tick Of Clock Short Of Semifinals

By JERRY DYKSTRA

MARSHALL — One tick of the clock...that's how close Gallien came to earning a tournament semifinal berth here Thursday night.

But instead of a trip to Lansing Saturday the Gaels are left out in the cold after dropping a heart-crushing 72-69 overtime decision to Detroit East Catholic in the Class D quarterfinals.

Gallien appeared a near shoe-in for a semifinal spot after Don Koo's driving lay up with nine seconds left put the Gaels up 65-63. But the Crusaders went the length of the floor in seven seconds with Donnell Williams driving in a short jumper off a rebound as the gun sounded, to send the thriller into overtime.

The Detroiters then outscored Gallien 7-4 in the three-minute overtime with Edgar Merchant slinking five points to give the Crusaders their second straight quarterfinal win over the Gaels.

"We had it and we let it get away...we just let it slip away," lamented Gallien coach Mike Heckathorn. "One more second...one touch of the ball on the missed shot...and we would have won it."

The Gaels go to the sidelines with a glittering 21-4 record while East Catholic (14-10) will take on No. 1 rated Detroit DePue Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Lansing Civic Center.

The sad ending overshadowed a gutsy, gallant Gael comeback. Gallien trailed by 15 points with 1:48 left in the third period but then completely outclassed the Crusaders behind the sensational play of Koo.

Koo, concluding a brilliant Gallien career, dominated play the second half when he dumped in 20 of his game-high 38 points by hitting 10 of 14 shots afield, many coming on twisting, twirling moves.

Dale Luther's hoop with 43 seconds left in regulation finally tied the game and then Koo gave the Gaels their first lead since the first period with his basket with nine ticks to go. But then Williams dropped in his seven-footer after Edgar Merchant had missed a long shot from the corner.

Williams, who scored 12 of his 14 points after the first half, gave the Crusaders the lead for good with his lay up at 1:19 of the overtime. Merchant, who hurt the Gaels all night with his long jumpers over the zone, then swished an 18 footer and a free throw to insure the victory. The Gaels missed the front end of two one-and-one chances in the overtime and five in the game to blat their chances.

Edgar Merchant paced Detroit with 27 points while his brother, Nikito, added 14. Dale Luther followed Koo's 28 with 11 while Rick Kuntz netted nine, Craig Schau eight (all in the opening half), Rick Buser seven and sub Mike Kuntz six, all in the last period.

East Catholic coach Dave Soules was hardly pleased with his team's performance. "I thought we stunk! We just stood

Face No. 1 Hoosiers Saturday

'Bad' Warriors Edge WMU

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — "If Indiana isn't asleep now, they'll never sleep," said Coach Al McGuire, whose second-ranked Marquette had just won the right to meet No. 1 Indiana in the finals of the NCAA Midwest basketball tournament Saturday.

McGuire said the Warriors looked bad as they edged 10th-ranked Western Michigan, 62-57, in the semifinals Thursday night.

"I think the change in weather had something to do with it," he added.

Earlier, Indiana had polished off No. 6 Alabama 74-69 in the tournament's opening game. The Hoosiers were led by "Mr. Basketball," Scott May, who poured in 25 points, and by bulky center Kent Benson with 15.

But Benson's biggest contribution was bottling up Alabama's Leon Douglas, who was held to 12 points and seven rebounds, far below the average that led the Crimson Tide to the Southeastern Conference championship.

"The defense dropped back on Douglas and helped out quite a bit," said Benson. "Scott and the rest of the guys did a heck of a job on him."

Marquette's Jerome Whitehead draws the task of trying to handle Benson Saturday night.

"I'll try to do it with quickness," Whitehead said. "He's big, and I don't want to try to win a leaning contest with him. I'll just try to get in front of him and keep him from getting the ball."

But Whitehead couldn't keep Western Michigan's Tom Cutler from getting the ball, and Cutler racked up 21 points and 17 rebounds to lead the losers.

Guards Lloyd Walton had 12 points for Marquette and Butch Lee, 16.

"The biggest factor in the game was not being able to shut off their guards from penetrating," said Western Michigan Coach Eldon Miller. "You can't let their guards dribble around your guards and play a man-to-man defense."

Although McGuire was critical of his team's overall effort, he singled Walton out as one player who had a good night.

Chute free goals by Tom Abernethy led Indiana's victory after May had hit a 22-foot jumper to put the Hoosiers on top, 70-69, with two minutes left in the game.

The Hoosiers ran out all but 40 seconds and Abernethy went to the line. He missed his free throw. With 14 seconds left, however, he got a chance to redeem himself and capitalized on it by hitting two foul shots.

"When I missed the first one, I was awfully upset," said Abernethy. "Of course I felt the pressure — but it lightened up on the last two, and I judged them from the way I missed the first one."

Bucks Shell Shelby, Reach Saturday's Semis

MIDDLEVILLE — It's going to take a telescope to keep up with the Buchanan Bucks...they're out of sight.

Buchanan shellacked a supposedly strong Shelby squad 91-67 in Class C quarterfinal action here Thursday night before more than 3,000 fans.

Coach Bill Wilson's unbeaten and top-ranked Bucks tamed the Tigers with their best shooting of the season while putting all five starters in double figures.

It's now on to the semifinals against Stockbridge at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Civic Center at Lansing. Stockbridge is unrated but the winner of 12 straight in a 20-6 season.

Saturday's other Class C semifinal game will pit No. 2 Unionville-Sebewaing against No. 4 rated Negaunee.

Buchanan slammed Shelby with 58 per cent field goal shooting while getting 17 points from Ken Garrett, 14 each from Gerald Busby and Walt Vanderbush and 12 apiece from Mike Busby and Kevin Vanderbush.

"They are all they should be in being rated No. 1," declared Shelby coach James Tate while praising Buchanan. "They're really tough."

"We tried about every kind of defense. We couldn't play them man-to-man because they are so big inside (Garrett 6-6 and Mike Busby 6-5), and we couldn't play a zone because they just lobbed the ball inside."

Buchanan scored the first eight points of the game and led 26-7 after the first quarter, 46-27 at halftime and 71-39 entering the last period. The biggest lead of the night was 34 points.

"I was surprised Shelby opened with a man-to-man defense because we had bigger people (about three inches per man)," noted Wilson. "I thought they would use a zone and try to control the tempo of the game."

Shelby, the state Class C champions in 1972, bowed out of the tournament at 20-6 while seeing a nine-game winning streak snapped. The Tigers got a game-high 20 points from all-state candidate Tom Beckman, plus 18 and 12 points, respectively, from guards Gary Gossein and Rick Zoulek.

Shelby had made it to the quarterfinals by knocking off ranked White Cloud and Byron Center.

Buchanan added a 36 to 33 rebounding edge, including seven each by Garrett and Gerald Busby, and a better floor game (17 turnovers, compared to Shelby's 26) while winning its 26th straight game.

"They are very well coached, excellent ballhandlers and super on the boards," added the Shelby coach. "They're as good as anyone I've seen this year."

Buchanan is now shooting at an impressive 53 per cent pace in the tournament while averaging 84.7 points per game with a 26.3 points winning margin. No one has come within 19 points of the Bucks in the tourney.

It was the first quarterfinals title since 1955 for Buchanan, which has never won a state basketball championship.

About the only area where Buchanan stumbled Thursday night was at the free throw line. The Bucks swished seven of 15 (47 per cent) while the Tigers hit 19 of 27 (70 per cent).

Buchanan posted its 58 per cent field goal mark by meshing 42 of 72 attempts while Shelby connected on 24 of 58 (41 per cent).

Buck starters hit at an even 60 per cent clip before the last of them left the floor midway through the last quarter. Gerald Busby hit seven of eight, Garrett eight of 12, Mike Busby six of 11, Walt Vanderbush seven of 14 and Kevin Vanderbush five of 10.

Buchanan made 13 of 18 first quarter shots without a turnover while opening up its commanding first quarter lead.

Shelby then played the Bucks on even terms the second period while getting 13 points from Tom Beckman. The Bucks were also charged with two technicals for touching the rim.

Buchanan never went to the free throw line the first half as Shelby made just three first half fouls. But after trailing 46-27 at halftime, the Tigers played more aggressively over the final two quarters and added 15 more fouls.

Shelby didn't get a field goal until the 4:14 mark of the third quarter as Buchanan scored 16 of the first 20 points.

Buchanan lost Garrett on fouls at the 5:12 point of the last quarter, but by then the issue was clearly decided.

Stockbridge advanced to the semifinals by downing Pontiac Catholic 60-57 Thursday night. Unionville-Sebewaing moved up by whipping Beaverton 88-66 and Negaunee kept rolling by whipping Roscommon 66-40.

Stockbridge is also a small team when compared with Buchanan, with 6-2 senior center Milt Campbell the biggest man. He's also the leading Stockbridge scorer with a 16.0 average.

Campbell is the brother of former Stockbridge star Jesse Campbell, now playing college ball at Mercyhurst in Pennsylvania.

Breslin, Beardsley Ouster Rumor Denied By MSU

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University officials denied published reports two top officials might be ousted in the aftermath of the school's football scandal.

The reports said Executive Vice President Jack Breslin and assistant athletic director Bill Beardsley were in line for possible dumping.

But no such action was expected at today's board of trustees meeting in light of a strongly-worded statement branding the report in the Lansing State Journal a complete falsehood, "sensationalism," and "journalistic irresponsibility."

The newspaper quoted an unidentified trustee as saying MSU President Clifton Wharton Jr. might force the two MSU officials to quit because they had known of alleged misuse of athletic funds. It said the resignations could occur at today's meeting.

Meanwhile, the university acknowledged that one factor behind the pressured resignation of head football coach Dennis Stolz Tuesday was a $2,300 speaking fee he received from a fund-raiser in January 1975.

Stolz "treated the fee as personal income and...he paid tax on it," MSU's statement said, apparently a misuse of the money. The trustees voted 5-2 at a secret meeting last week that Stolz should be dismissed, and Wharton asked for his resignation over the weekend.

Wharton had said "new information" led to the resignation. Negotiations are continuing with former athletic director Burt Smith over the terms of his resignation or retirement from his job as special projects director.

According to the newspaper story, the consideration of ousting Breslin and Beardsley relates to Wharton's desire to complete housecleaning at the school before the arrival April 1 of new athletic director Joseph Kearney.

Six athletic officials have resigned, or been fired or reassigned to less important duties since January, when the National Collegiate Athletic Association found MSU guilty of 34 rule violations, most involving recruiting. MSU's football program was placed on three-year's probation and its football scholarships were limited. A Big Ten probe of other irregularities, including misuse of funds, continues.

Breslin has been responsible for the school's athletic program for years, and strongly backed Stolz in 1972 when the school was seeking a new head coach. Breslin relinquished his athletic duties following the NCAA verdict.

The responsibility for overseeing the athletic program has been Wharton's since Breslin gave it up. Both Breslin and Wharton have denied that Breslin, a former MSU football captain, was pressured to resign his duties.

Along with Stolz' resignation Tuesday came the firing of head basketball coach Gus Ganakas, removed by Wharton without a public explanation.

Indiana, Marquette 'Title' Showdown Early

Defending Champ UCLA Wins, Nevada Stunned

Indiana and Marquette have scrambled into college basketball's heavyweight championship 10 days too early.

The Hoosiers, unbeaten and ranked No. 1, outloughed Alabama 74-68 and the Warriors, once-beaten and ranked No. 2, struggled past Western Michigan 62-57 in the Midwest regional of the NCAA Tournament Thursday night at Baton Rouge, La. That puts college basketball's two top-rated clubs in the regional finals Saturday. The survivor goes into the final four and the loser goes nowhere, a victim of the draw.

Neither coach was overly impressed with his team's showing. "Tough, wasn't it?" asked Indiana's Bobby Knight after his club ran its season record in 29-0 with the help of Scott May's clutch basket with 2:01 remaining. "If he doesn't hit the basket and put us ahead, we're in a very difficult position."

"Marquette never looks good," grumbled Warriors' Coach Al McGuire after baskets by Butch Lee, Jerome Whitehead and Bo Ellis finally turned back stubborn Western Michigan.

While Indiana and Marquette struggled to victory, the lineups for Saturday's other three regional finals were completed.

—UCLA, 25-4, goes against Arizona 24-8, in the West at Los Angeles. The Bruins beat Pepperdine 70-61 and Arizona stunned No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas 114-110 in overtime.

—Rutgers, 30-0, faces VMI,

22-8, in the East at Greensboro, N.C. Rutgers trimmed Connecticut 93-79 and VMI outlasted DePaul 71-66 in overtime.

—Missouri, 26-4, meets Michigan, 23-6, at Louisville, Ky. Missouri defeated Texas Tech 86-75 and Michigan overcame Notre Dame 80-76.

Only eight teams remain of the 32 that set out after the NCAA crown last week. After Saturday's games the final four will head for Philadelphia where the semifinals will be held a week from Saturday and the championship game Monday night, March 29.

But some observers think the title will be decided this Saturday in Baton Rouge when mighty Indiana and almost-as-mighty Marquette collide. Both will be hoping for better showings than they made Thursday night.

Indiana fought off a strong Alabama team with the help of May's clutch bucket and two free throws apiece by Tom Abernethy and Bob Wilkerson down the stretch. The tenacious Hoosier defense held the Crimson Tide scoreless over the final 3:57 of the game and limited highly-regarded Alabama center Leon Douglas to 12 points.

May finished with 25 points and center Kent Benson added 15 despite sitting out much of the second half with four fouls.

Western Michigan led Marquette 51-50 with 7:15 left before Lee, Whitehead and Ellis hit consecutive baskets to put the Warriors ahead for good. Marquette froze the ball over the final two minutes to assure their 23rd straight triumph and 27th in 28 decisions this season.

Lee led the balanced attack with 16 points. Tom Cutter netted 21 for the Broncos.

In the West, No. 5 UCLA, the defending champion and winner of 10 of the last 12 NCAA crowns, beat 20th-ranked Pepperdine behind Marques Johnson's 18 points and Richard Washington's 16. UCLA led by just one at 50-49 midway through the second half but ran off a 20-8 spree to insure victory.

Marcos Leite and Dennis Johnson had 16 points each for Pepperdine, 22-6.

Junior guard Herman Harris engineered 15th-ranked Arizona's triumph over Nevada-Las Vegas. Harris scored 18 of the Wildcats' final 27 points in regulation, including the tying foul shot with 14 seconds left, and then added four free throws in the overtime. Harris had 31 points for the game.

"Arizona deserves all the credit in the world," said defeated Las Vegas Coach Jerry Tarkanian. "They played a great game. Our kids worked hard for so long. It's a shame to see it all end now."

In the East, No. 4 Rutgers ran off nine straight points early in the second half, pressured Connecticut into several turnovers and won going away. Freshman Abdel Anderson came off the bench to score 18 points and pull down 11 rebounds, and Mike Dabney and Ed Jordan added 18 points each for the Scarlet Knights.

VMI, the dark horse among the eight remaining teams, blew an 11-point lead in regulation time before subduing DePaul in overtime. Will Bynum scored 23 points and Ron Carter had 21 for the Keyholes while Ron Norwood had 23 for the Blue Demons.

There were 57 personal fouls called in the game and DePaul lost five players on fouls.

Sam Smith had 26 points for the Rebels who wound up 29-2. In the Midwest, Willie Smith pumped in 30 points, mostly on long-range jump shots, to carry 14th-ranked Missouri past 16th-ranked Texas Tech. "Smith was everything we heard he was," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "He was hitting those 25-footers and they weren't set shots. They were jumpers."

Missouri pulled away early in the second half and Tech's comeback hopes evaporated when center Rick Bullock, who had 23 points, fouled out, with nine minutes left.

No. 8 Michigan overcame No. 7 Notre Dame on the strength of two free throws by Steve Grote and two more by Rickey Green in the final seconds. The Irish, behind Adrian Dantley's 31 points, led most of the way before a slew of turnovers down the stretch proved fatal.

Committee Huddles

Optimism Surfaces With Camps Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's Player Relations Committee huddled in New York today on the eve of a joint meeting of the 24 major league clubs to discuss the game's continuing labor crisis.

The two management meetings delayed resumption of negotiations with the Major League Players Association in an effort to reach a new basic agreement. It was unlikely that the two sides would meet again before Sunday.

But some optimism surfaced Thursday, if only because of the opening of spring training camps ordered by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, ending a 17-day shutdown.

"It feels good to get my uniform on," said Pete Rose, captain of the world champion Cincinnati Reds.

Rose, like many major leaguers, had worked out on his own at a local Little League field, waiting for the camps to be opened. When Kuhn gave the word, most teams held at least cursory workouts Thursday with players streaming into camps in Florida, Arizona and California.

Meanwhile, the negotiators retreated to New York following a week of talks in Florida that was climaxed by the owners' "last and final offer." That proposal included, for the first time, acknowledgement by the owners of recently won free agent rights for the players.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, had expressed displeasure with many aspects of the owners' document and said he would recommend rejection by the union's executive board.

Reportedly, the player representatives voted 17-5 to reject the offer. But instead of an outright turnaround, they decided on a softer position, neither rejecting nor accepting the owners' offer but calling instead for further negotiation and opening of the camps.

"It was a good, thoughtful meeting," said Miller. "The players understood the problems and they understood the proposal. It was the strangest 'last proposal' anybody ever got, with 14 items listed 'to be discussed.' There was a positive mood and a firmness about what they believe."

One of the key points in the owners' offer was the right for every player to become a free agent in 1976 or 1977. They would then be eligible for a special draft conducted by eight teams, picking in inverse order of the previous season's standings.

The players, however, have insisted on the same blanket free agent rights awarded to pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally by an impartial arbitrator and upheld by two federal courts. That status permits bidding by all 24 major league clubs, a right Messersmith is currently exercising.

Following the executive board meeting, however, Miller indicated, the players might accept some modified free agent rule — something less than the 24-team bidding but more than the eight bottom teams the owners have offered.

The players also suggested that the two sides seek assistance from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. That government agency has informed both sides that it stands ready to enter the dispute if requested by them.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Lake Land, Ill.; Anderson, S.C., and Henry Ford (Mich.) gained the chance to compete for fifth and sixth place with their victories in consolation play of the National Junior College Athletic Association basketball tournament Thursday.

Henry Ford trounced Bishop March 61-47 to advance to consolation championship play.

From Associated Press
The cream continues to rise toward the top in the 51st Michigan High School Athletic Association state basketball tournament, but there are Cinderellas in all four classes just waiting for the cream to sour.

Cinderella went to the ball wearing feathers and masquerading as a Chief from Pontiac Central in Thursday night's quarterfinal games. When midnight arrived, the Chiefs (15-11) had a 48-47 victory over 10th-ranked Detroit Denby in earn a spot in the Class A semifinals Saturday at Michigan State University's Jenison Fieldhouse.

Sophomore Walter Russell, brother of former Michigan All-American Campy Russell, was the prince who saved Pontiac from the pumpkin.

Russell pumped in a last-second jump shot that provided the Chiefs their margin of victory before a capacity crowd of 3,200 at Ferndale High School. Russell finished with 20 points. The defeat sent Denby to the sidelines with a 20-2 record and marked the end of a brilliant prep career for Stuart House, the Tars' 6-foot-10 center. House, a schoolboy All-American and one of the nation's most sought-after prep stars, finished with 19 points.

In other Class A quarterfinal action, top-ranked Lansing Everett (24-1) held on to nip No. 9 Detroit Northeastern, 59-58; Saginaw (19-7) rolled over Grand Rapids Creston, 64-50; and Detroit Catholic Central (23-3) bombed Detroit MacKenzie, 90-67.

In Class B, No. 1 Flint Beecher (25-0) cruised past Tecumseh, 72-63; No. 2 River Rouge (23-3), the perennial favorite, blew Royal Oak Shrine right off the floor at Ypsilanti High, 80-45; Saginaw Buena Vista (21-4) defeated Ironwood, 70-53; and Coldwater (17-9) downed Grand Rapids West Catholic, 57-52.

In Class C, top-ranked Buchanan (28-0) breezed past Shelby, 81-67; No. 2 Unionville-Sebewaing (24-0) sailed past Beaverdam, 88-66; No. 4 Negaunee (24-1) rolled over Roscommon, 86-40; and Stockbridge (18-6) outlasted Pontiac Central, 60-57.

In Class D, No. 1 Detroit St. Martin DePorres (22-1) rolled over Fowler, 80-54; and third-ranked Harbor Springs (25-0) got past Iron Mountain North Dickinson, 77-68; but Detroit East Catholic (13-10) ousted No. 7 Galesburg, 72-68, in overtime; and Maple City Glen Lake (22-3) surprised sixth-ranked McMillan North Christian, 83-62.

In a contest played before 4,000 frenzied fans at Jackson High School, Everett's super-junior Earvin Johnson poured in 19 points to keep the Vikings hopes for a state crown alive. Wilbert McCormick hit for 20, including a pair of last-minute buckets that nearly averted the defeat.

At the University of Detroit Memorial Building, Catholic Central's Mike Price pumped in 32 points as the Shamrocks buried MacKenzie.

Paul Roby scored 24 points and hauled in 14 rebounds to lead Saginaw to its third semifinal appearance in four years.

Class B

River Rouge has done it all before, 12 times since 1954 to be exact. The Panthers make such a habit of winning that Coach Lofton Greene starts apologizing because his club only finished second in the final pull of the regular season.

Lionel Reeves gunned in 21 points to pace Rouge and keep Greene wondering — at least until Saturday.

Ernest Matthews hit seven straight baskets in the fourth period to help Buena Vista nail the lid on Ironwood's coffin.

Coldwater got 28 points from Rick Gads and 13 more from Rands Sawks as the Cardinals head for East Lansing. Bill Whymer had 18 for West Catholic as the Cougars head for the sidelines.

Flint Beecher's Brian Hyson lead all scorers with 23 points, while Tecumseh's Bruce Hughes had 21.

arbitrator and upheld by two federal courts. That status permits bidding by all 24 major league clubs, a right Messersmith is currently exercising.

Following the executive board meeting, however, Miller indicated, the players might accept some modified free agent rule — something less than the 24-team bidding but more than the eight bottom teams the owners have offered.

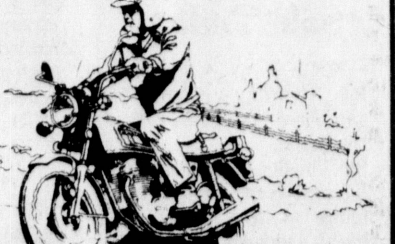

The players also suggested that the two sides seek assistance from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. That government agency has informed both sides that it stands ready to enter the dispute if requested by them.

Stays Alive

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Lake Land, Ill.; Anderson, S.C., and Henry Ford (Mich.) gained the chance to compete for fifth and sixth place with their victories in consolation play of the National Junior College Athletic Association basketball tournament Thursday.

Henry Ford trounced Bismarck 61-47 to advance to consolation championship play.

From Associated Press

The cream continues to rise toward the top in the 51st Michigan High School Athletic Association state basketball tournament, but there are Cinderellas in all four classes just waiting for the cream to sour.

Cinderella went to the ball wearing feathers and masquerading as a Chief from Pontiac Central in Thursday night's quarterfinal games. When midnight arrived, the Chiefs (15-11) had a 48-47 victory over 10th-ranked Detroit Denby to earn a spot in the Class A semifinals Saturday at Michigan State University's Jensen Fieldhouse.

Sophomore Walter Russell, brother of former Michigan All-American Campy Russell, was the prince who saved Pontiac from the pumpkin.

Russell pumped in a last-second jump shot that provided the Chiefs their margin of victory before a capacity crowd of 3,200 at Ferndale High School. Russell finished with 20 points.

The defeat sent Denby to the sidelines with a 20-2 record and marked the end of a brilliant prep career for Stuart House, the Tars' 6-foot-10 center. House, a schoolboy All-American and one of the nation's most sought-after prep stars, finished with 19 points.

In other Class A quarterfinal action, top-ranked Lansing Everett (24-1) held on to nip No. 9 Detroit Northeastern, 58-58; Saginaw (19-7) rolled over Grand Rapids Creston, 64-50; and Detroit Catholic Central (23-3) bombed Detroit MacKenzie, 90-67.

In Class B, No. 1 Flint Beecher (25-0) cruised past Tecumseh, 72-63; No. 2 River Rouge (23-3), the perennial favorite, blew Royal Oak Shrine right off the floor at Ypsilanti High, 80-45; Saginaw Buena Vista (21-4) defeated Ironwood, 70-53; and Coldwater (17-9) downed Grand Rapids West Catholic, 57-52.

In Class C, top-ranked Buchanan (26-0) breezed past Shelby, 91-67; No. 2 Unionville-Sebewaing (24-0) sailed past Beaverton, 88-66; No. 4 Negaunee (24-1) rolled over Roscommon, 66-40; and Stockbridge (19-6) outlasted Pontiac Central, 60-57.

In Class D, No. 1 Detroit St. Martin DePorres (22-1) rolled over Fowler, 80-54; and third-ranked Harbor Springs (25-0) got past Iron Mountain North Dickinson, 77-68; but Detroit East Catholic (13-10) ousted No. 7 Galien, 72-69, in overtime; and Maple City Glen Lake (22-3) surprised sixth-ranked McBain North Christian, 63-62.

CLASS A

In a contest played before 4,000 frenzied fans at Jackson High School, Everett's super junior Earvin Johnson poured

in 19 points to keep the Vikings hopes for a state crown alive. Wilbert McCormick hit for 20, including a pair of last-minute buckets that nearly averted the defeat.

At the University of Detroit Memorial Building, Catholic Central's Mike Price pumped in 32 points as the Shamrocks buried MacKenzie.

CLASS B

River Rouge has done it all before, 12 times since 1954 to be exact. The Panthers make such a habit of winning that Coach Lofton Greene starts apologizing because his club only finished second in the final poll of the regular season.

Lionel Reeves gunned in 21 points to pace Rouge and keep Greene wondering — at least until Saturday.

Ernest Matthews hit seven straight baskets in the fourth period to help Buena Vista nail the lid on Ironwood's coffin.

Coldwater got 28 points from Rick Gates and 13 more from Rands Sowks as the Cardinals head for East Lansing. Bill Whymer had 18 for West Catholic as the Cougars head for the sidelines.

Flint Beecher's Brian Ryson lead all scorers with 23 points, while Tecumseh's Bruce Hughes had 21.

Bowling Powerhouse

Skip's Other Place

Top Women's Team

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Skip's Other Place is rapidly developing into a powerhouse among area women's bowling teams.

Skip's, which bowls in the Tuesday Night Ladies league at Theo's Lanes in New Buffalo, has built some impressive statistics this season in rolling to a banner year.

The squad has twice crashed the 2000 plateau with its 2009 the best team series in southwestern Michigan. Skip's has also hit in the 2000's five times. The team has been included in the "Week's Best" column 13 of the 28 weeks this season.

And the team average of 808 plus a game surely has to rank among the tops in the area.

The team consists of captain Dutch Krycka, Diane Cuvr, Linda Sayles, Sharon Kline and Sara LaRocco. Sharon paces the fivepiece with her 172 average, Sara is averaging 166, Diane 158, Dutch 158 and Linda 153. Sharon is from LaPorte and Sara from Michigan City while the other three are all from New Buffalo.

"There always seems to be three up and two down," offers Dutch. "When two girls go bad the other three are always making up for it. And it always seems to alternate like when a 170 member is down a 151 member will come up with a big game. Everyone just helps each other out."

Team harmony and consistency also have been important ingredients in Skip's success.

"We all get along pretty good together," adds Dutch. "It's a highly-competitive league but we also have plenty of fun."

"We lost all four points last night but we've been pretty consistent all season."

Dutch is the veteran member of the team, which has been bowling together for the last three years.

The squad took the Southwestern Michigan Women's Bowling Association's city tournament team title two years ago (then known as Mrozek's Well & Pump Service team) and last season finished with an area best 2001 series.

Now Skip's hopes to nail down the championship in the rugged Tuesday Night league for the first time. The team currently holds a 10-point lead with five weeks left.

NIT Semifinals

'Beat The Clock'

NC-Charlotte, Wildcats

Gain Finals Berths

NEW YORK (AP) — They played "Beat The Clock" at Madison Square Garden — and Kentucky and North Carolina - Charlotte did just that.

Those college basketball teams advanced to the finals of the 38th National Invitation Tournament with two incredible finishes in Thursday night's semifinals.

Kentucky twice lost big leads and had all but lost the first game before Larry Johnson's dramatic field goal at the buzzer provided a tingling 79-78 victory over Providence.

North Carolina - Charlotte needed a basket by Melvin Watkins with 30 seconds remaining to stop North Carolina State 80-79 in an intense battle of intrastate rivals.

That set the stage for Sunday's championship game between two teams that did not figure to reach the finals.

"This is a mountaintop experience," said North Carolina - Charlotte Coach Lee Rice, whose 49ers clearly are the Cinderella team of this week-long tourney.

Before whipping North Carolina State, the underdogged

49ers scored upset victories over the University of San Francisco and Oregon in their first visit to the NIT.

"The game boiled down to a tip-in," said a deeply disappointed Norm Sloan, the North Carolina State coach. "If one of them went in, we would have won."

Sloan's reference was to the frantic finish after Watkins had put North Carolina - Charlotte into the lead with his dramatic shot. North Carolina State had a crack at winning the game at the end, but missed several shots inside. The ball hung on the basket for a second or two, then spilled off as the final buzzer went off.

"I don't see how the ball didn't go in," said Rice, who appeared to have someone uncaringly on his side in the last seconds.

"We didn't have a last-second shot player in there," Sloan offered, referring to the fact that star forward Kenny Carr had fouled out earlier. "As it was, I'm pleased. We played with them like we did."

The victory was the first for UNC-Charlotte over an Atlantic Coast Conference team and obviously gave the 49ers' basketball program a shot in the arm. But it may provide future scheduling difficulties for the upstart 49ers who are attempting to upgrade themselves in the shadow of the ACC.

"They're going to have a harder time getting games with Atlantic Coast Conference teams now," said Sloan.

The crowd of 11,444 really got its money's worth. The fans were still jumpy from the first game when Johnson raced down the court at breakneck speed and laid in a spectacular shot as time ran out. The Wildcats last leads of 18 points in the first half and 11 in the second, then pulled it out after the Friars had gone ahead 78-78 with seven seconds remaining.

"Johnson was going 100 miles an hour for the basket," said Providence Coach Dave Gavitt. "We just couldn't stop him."

Boltonchuk Recalled

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Capitals have recalled defenseman Larry Bolonchuk from the Dayton Gems of the International Hockey League.

"I can recruit and I can coach and I can get kids motivated. I believe in myself and know I can do the job, so why would I throw it away?" Stolz asked.

Meanwhile, he continues to work on the Spartan squad, and says he has no plans to stop until a new coach is hired. MSU officials say the new man will be chosen by April 13.

"I will continue to work until the new coach gets here or they tell me to get out," he said.

around them in the fourth quarter. Our kids just thought they had the game wrapped up. But Gallen got the crowd behind them and got going. They're an excellent team.

"But we were playing without starter Tod Anderson who missed a practice and was suspended for this game and Triplett (Terry) played but he was sick."

The run-and-gun Crusaders carved quarter leads of 14-13, 32-28 and 47-45 before the 65-65 deadlock after regulation.

The statistics reveal the closeness of the game with both teams shooting 36 per cent, Catholic holding a 64-46 rebounding margin and the Crusaders making 22 turnovers to 21 for Gallen (15 in the first half).

East Catholic went 34 of 44 from the field, including a chilly 10 of 16 in the fourth period, while Gallen was 31 of 86. Both teams had trouble making their free throws with Detroit finishing at four of 11 and Gallen seven of 14.

The work of 6-5 freshman Anthony Baker in the pivot played a key role. He only scored four points but blocked 18 rebounds and picked seven of the total of 11 Gallen shots swatted away.

The Crusaders, who only suited up 10 players Thursday, will be seeking revenge Saturday. DePortus handled East Catholic 64-51 earlier this season.

"We'll have to play much better Saturday than we did tonight or we'll get beat by at least 30 points," stated Soltes.

For Heckathorn the loss was doubly sad, as he is also losing an outstanding group of senior players.

"When they look back at it they'll probably remember those last seven seconds and the heart-breaking defeat. But they have nothing to be ashamed of."

GAELLEN SENIORS
Jameson Chemical continued its winning ways Wednesday by beating Hackers. Harvesters 120-82 in the Berrien Springs Recreation Basketball Tournament here.

Harold Wheeler and Ron Mandurino each tossed in 26 points for Jameson, while Dave Radtke had 22 for Hackers.

In other action, Jerry Hinman scored 27 points to lead Birch Printers past Sisk Datsun 94-82. Jameson Chemical and Dutch Printers meet at 8 p.m. next Wednesday for the tournament championship.

In a change in the standings this week, Larry Engler came within a whisker of a perfect game but had to settle for 279, good for at tie for third place in the area listings.

Engler started his first game in the Twin City league at Gerardo's with four strikes in a row. But then he hit the nose in the fifth frame and left the No. 4 pin.

Engler then finished up with seven straight strikes for his highest game ever.

Engler, averaging 176, ended with games of 173 and 174 for a 626 series.

Brenda Webster tossed her second 600 series of the season with a 603 in the Fellowship league at Gerardo's. Brenda, who earlier popped 601, put together games of 243-187-173.

Split conversions include the 6-7-10 by Pam Carpenter, Hank Capocanna, Rosemary Raynes, Kern Soosey, Ron Hagenbarth, A. Van Gordon, C. Nearpass, M. Gillespie, Evelyn Plummer, Clara Schulz, Jessie Nash, Ginny Lane, Loshia Price, Bob Gilreath and Dixie Sorensen; the 4-7-10 by Marlon Smith, Jan Hinrich and Shirley Williamson; the 4-10 by Hattie Zebell, Sue Williams and Lynn Hall; the 6-7 by Jennifer Epple, Mike Weller and Jan Schmitz; the 7-8 by Jean Skinner; the 7-8-10 by Lucy Pustelli; the 7-8-10 by Diana Duhman; the 4-8 by Gladis Tillman; the 4-8-7 by Bonnie Probst and E. Lindsey; the 4-6-7-10 by Bob Hansen; the 4-7-8-10 by Art Mak; the 6-7-8-10 by Rose-Black and the 4-10 and 5-7 by Doris Miller.

H. Kent fired a 190 triple and the Alladdin Laboratories team a team triplicate of 787. Junior bowler Rick Nitzel flung an all-space game of 174 and Willie Fryer earned a century patch for his 253 game, 105 points over his average.

Stolz Hopes Resignation Will Help Spartan Football

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz spent last Saturday morning making plans to change the Spartan offense next fall.

Saturday afternoon Michigan State University President Clifton Wharton Jr. asked Stolz to resign and now, Stolz says, "I'm just disillusioned to beat the devil."

"I was shocked, absolutely flabbergasted. I had no idea that it was coming, not even a hint that something was up."

Stolz, who submitted his letter of resignation Tuesday, did not quite make it to his fourth season at MSU, though he said Thursday he thought the football program had "survived the crisis and criticism."

MSU's football program has been wracked by both ever since the National Collegiate Athletic Association began investigating allegations of rule violations last spring.

It found MSU guilty in January of 34 violations, and put the school on three year's probation while limiting its scholarships.

"My final decision was based on the hope that if I stepped aside, a favorable decision might be made toward Michigan State and the penalty," said Stolz.

Stolz said he thought the NCAA might reopen MSU's case and possibly lessen the penalty. The Big Ten continues its probe of alleged misuse of athletic funds, perhaps dating back a dozen years.

Despite his resignation, MSU agreed to continue his $29,000 a year contract for its remaining two years.

"I can recruit and I can coach and I can get kids motivated. I believe in myself and know I can do the job, so why would I throw it away?" Stolz asked.

Meanwhile, he continues to work on the Spartan squad, and says he has no plans to stop until a new coach is hired. MSU officials say the new man will be chosen by April 13.

"I will continue to work until the new coach gets here or they tell me to get out," he said.

"We want to keep the players together, and have them thinking about the game," said coach Charles Coles. "We have been doing it since the district tournament started, and I am sure it has helped us in our mental approach to the games."

The Trojans defeated Grand Rapids Creston, 64-50, in quarterfinal play Thursday night at the Lansing Civic Center.

Coles said he tried to develop a close personal relationship with his team by being with it, practicing as a member of the squad whenever possible.

"Our thing is being close knit," he said. "We have been working hard, and it is starting to pay off."

"We want them thinking about the game and what they have to do," Coles said. "We try to get it together and laugh a bit and we try to be loose. Later in the day I get real cruncky. The team wants me that way or it does not think I am ready."

There was plenty of space, but a hardwood floor is not exactly a spring mattress, said team officials.

Bowling Powerhouse

Top Women's Team

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Skip's Other Place is rapidly developing into a powerhouse among area women's bowling teams.

Skip's, which bowls in the Tuesday Night Ladies league at Theo's Lanes in New Buffalo, has built some impressive statistics this season in rolling to a banner year.

The squad has twice crashed the 2600 plateau with its 2609 the best team series in southwestern Michigan. Skip's has also hit in the 2500's five times. The team has been included in the "Week's Best" column 13 of the 28 weeks this season.

And the team average of 808 pins a game surely has to rank among the tops in the area.

The team consists of captain Dutch Krycka, Diane Covert, Linda Sayles, Sharon Kline and Sara LaRocco. Sharon paces the fivesome with her 172 average.

Sara is averaging 166, Diane 159, Dutch 158 and Linda 153. Sharon is from LaPorte and Sara from Michigan City while the other three are all from New Buffalo.

"There always seems to be three up and two down," offers Dutch. "When two girls go bad the other three are always making up for it. And it always seems to alternate like when a 170 member is down a 151 member will come up with a big game. Everyone just helps each other out."

Team harmony and consistency also have been important ingredients in Skip's success.

"We all get along pretty good together," adds Dutch. "It's a highly-competitive league but we also have plenty of fun."

"We lost all four points last night but we've been pretty consistent all season."

Dutch is the veteran member of the team, which has been bowling together for the last three years.

The squad took the Southwestern Michigan Women's Bowling Association's city tournament team title two years ago (then known as Mrozek's Well & Pump Service team) and last season finished with an area best 2600 series.

Now Skip's hopes to nail down the championship in the rugged Tuesday Night league for the first time. The team currently holds a 10-point lead with five weeks left.

In a change in the standings this week, Larry Engler came within a whisker of a perfect game but had to settle for 279, good for at tie for third place in the area listings.

Engler started his first game in the Twin City league at Gersonde's with four strikes in a row. But then he hit the nose in the fifth frame and left the No. 4 pin. Engler then finished up with seven straight strikes for his highest game ever.

Engler, averaging 175, ended with games of 173 and 174 for a 626 series.

Brenda Webster tossed her second 600 series of the season with a 603 in the Fellowship league at Gersonde's. Brenda, who earlier popped 601, put together games of 243-187-173.

Split conversions include the 6-7-10 by Pam Carpenter, Hank Capoccia, Rosemary Raynes, Kern Sosey, Ron Hagenbarth, A. Van Gordon, C. Neapress, M. Gillespie, Evelyn Pierman, Clara Schulz, Jessie Nash, Ginny Lane, Loshia Price, Bob Gilreath and Dixie Sorensen; the 4-7-10 by Marion Smith, Jan Hinrich and Shirley Williamsen; the 4-10 by Hattie Zebell, Sue Williams and Lynn Hall; the 6-7 by Jennifer Eppic, Mike Weller and Jan Schmal; the 7-9 by Jean Skinner; the 7-8-10 by Lucy Postelli; the 7-9-10 by Diana Dubman; the 4-6 by Gladis Tillman; the 4-6-7 by Bonnie Probst and E. Lindsley; the 4-7-9-10 by Art Mak; the 6-7-8-10 by Rose Black and the 4-10 and 5-7 by Doris Miller.

H. Kent fired a 190 triplicate and the Alladdin Laboratories team a team triplicate of 787. Junior bowler Rick Nnizt flung an all-spare game of 174 and Willie Fryer earned a century patch for his 253 game, 105 pins over his average.

Tourney Win For Jameson

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Jameson Chemical continued its winning ways Wednesday by beating Hackers Harvesters 120-82 in the Berrien Springs Recreation Basketball Tournament here.

Harold Wheeler and Ron Mandarino each tossed in 26 points for Jameson, while Dave Radtke had 22 for Hackers.

In other action, Jerry Hinman scored 27 points to lead Burch Printers past Sink Datsun 94-82. Jameson Chemical and Burch Printers meet at 8 p.m. next Wednesday for the tournament championship.

Stolz Hopes Resignation Will Help Spartan Football

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz spent last Saturday morning making plans to change the Spartan offense next fall.

Saturday afternoon Michigan State University President Clifton Wharton Jr. asked Stolz to resign and now, Stolz says, "I'm just disillusioned to beat the devil."

It found MSU guilty in January of 34 violations, and put the school on three years' probation while limiting its scholarships.

"My final decision was based on the hope that if I stepped aside, a favorable decision might be made toward Michigan State and the penalty," said Stolz.

Stolz said he thought the NCAA might reopen MSU's case and possibly lessen the penalty. The Big Ten continues its probe of alleged misuse of athletic funds, perhaps dating back a dozen years.

Saginaw Sleeps, Wins As A Team

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Saginaw High School's basketball team, seeking the Class A state high school basketball title, used a unique gym slumber program as its secret weapon.

Each night before this year's tournament games, the Trojan players and coaches dragged sleeping bags and mats into the Saginaw high gym and slept there.

The group usually got together after practice for dinner at an area restaurant and around 9 p.m., the sleeping bags were set in place.

There was plenty of space, but a hardwood floor is not exactly a spring mattress, said team officials.

"We want to keep the players together, and have them thinking about the game," said coach Charles Coles. "We have been doing it since the district tournament started, and I am sure it has helped us in our mental approach to the games."

NIT Semifinals 'Beat The Clock' NC-Charlotte, Wildcats Gain Finals Berths

NEW YORK (AP) — They played "Beat The Clock" at Madison Square Garden — and Kentucky and North Carolina — Charlotte did just that.

Those college basketball teams advanced to the finals of the 39th National Invitation Tournament with two incredible finishes in Thursday night's semifinals.

Kentucky twice lost big leads and had all but lost the first game before Larry Johnson's dramatic field goal at the buzzer provided a tingling 79-78 victory over Providence.

North Carolina — Charlotte needed a basket by Melvin Watkins with 30 seconds remaining to stop North Carolina State 80-79 in an intense battle of intrastate rivals.

That set the stage for Sunday's championship game between two teams that did not figure to reach the finals.

"This is a mountaintop experience," said North Carolina — Charlotte Coach Lee Rose, whose 49ers clearly are the Cinderella team of this week-long tourney.

Before whipping North Carolina State, the unheralded

49ers scored upset victories over the University of San Francisco and Oregon in their first visit to the NIT.

"The game boiled down to a tip-in," said a deeply disappointed Norm Sloan, the North Carolina State coach. "If one of them went in, we would have won."

Sloan's reference was to the frantic finish after Watkins had put North Carolina — Charlotte into the lead with his dramatic shot. North Carolina State had a crack at winning the game at the end, but missed several shots inside. The ball hung on the basket for a second or two, then spilled off as the final buzzer went off.

"I don't see how the ball didn't go in," said Rose, who appeared to have someone uneasily on his side in the last seconds.

"We didn't have a last-second shot player in there," Sloan offered, referring to the fact that star forward Kenny Carr had fouled out earlier. "As it was, I'm pleased we stayed with them like we did."

The victory was the first for UNC-Charlotte over an Atlantic Coast Conference team and obviously gave the 49ers' basketball program a shot in the arm. But it may provide future scheduling difficulties for the upstart 49ers who are attempting to upgrade themselves in the shadow of the ACC.

"They're going to have a harder time getting games with Atlantic Coast Conference teams now," said Sloan.

The crowd of 11,444 really got its money's worth. The fans were still limp from the first game when Johnson raced down the court at breakneck speed and laid in a spectacular shot as time ran out. The Wildcats lost leads of 18 points in the first half and 11 in the second, then pulled it out after the Friars had gone ahead 79-78 with seven seconds remaining.

"Johnson was going 100 miles an hour for the basket," said Providence Coach Dave Gavitt. "We just couldn't stop him."

around there in the fourth quarter. Our kids just thought they had the game wrapped up. But Galien got the crowd behind them and got going. They're an excellent team.

"But we were playing without starter Ted Anderson who missed a practice and was suspended for this game and Triplett (Terry) played but he was sick."

The run-and-gun Crusaders carved quarter leads of 14-13, 32-26 and 57-45 before the 65-65 deadlock after regulation.

The statistics reveal the closeness of the game with both teams shooting 36 per cent, Catholic holding a 54-46 rebounding margin and the Crusaders making 22 turnovers to 21 for Galien (15 in the first half).

East Catholic went 34 of 94 from the field, including a chilly four of 16 in the fourth period, while Galien was 31 of 86. Both teams had trouble making their free throws with Detroit finishing at four of 11 and Galien seven of 14.

The work of 6-5 freshman Anthony Baker in the pivot played a key role. He only scored four points but he picked off 18 rebounds and blocked seven of the total of 11 Galien shots swatted away.

The Crusaders, who only suited up 10 players Thursday, will be seeking revenge Saturday. DePorres handled East Catholic 64-51 earlier this season.

"We'll have to play much better Saturday than we did tonight or we'll get beat by at least 30 points," stated Soules.

For Heckathorn the loss was doubly sad, as he is also losing an outstanding group of senior players.

"When they look back at it they'll probably remember those last seven seconds and the heart-breaking defeat. But they have nothing to be ashamed of."

Issues Should Be Negotiated -- Anderson

Stalemated NFL Talks Resuming?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A show of good faith may have brought progress in the stalemated and often hostile contract negotiations between the National Football League clubs and their players.

Both commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL and Dick Anderson, the Miami Dolphins' defensive back who is new president of the Players Association, said after an amiable session Thursday that they hoped talks could resume next week.

For two years, there has been no collective bargaining agreement between the owners and players who have been battling in the courts.

A breakthrough was seen in Anderson's statement that all issues in the dispute should be negotiated. This presumably would include the so-called Rozelle Rule of compensation for a team losing a player who plays out the option year of his contract and thus becomes a free agent.

Under the rule, which has been held illegal by courts in Minneapolis and San Francisco, the team signing such a free agent must compensate the club which has lost him.

Anderson said he and fellow members of the players executive committee — Fred Willis of Houston and Jack Youngblood of Los Angeles — came to the Hotel del Coronado to show their good faith that contract negotiations could resume.

Rozelle said he could not recall any such effort in the past and said he was certain a meeting between the players' association and the NFL Management Council could be arranged for next week or the following week at the latest.

The NFL annual meeting ends today.

Rozelle said the owners were impressed by the Anderson presentation at an executive session. The player told newsmen, "Basketball worked out its problems and there has been progress in baseball."

The meeting between Anderson and the owners highlighted Thursday's session.

Earlier, the owners turned down a suggestion that instant replay tape be used by officials before determining crucial plays.

But Jim Kensil, executive director of the league, said owners decreed the instant replays should be studied further.

The league also decreed that all games must be played to a conclusion, a rule brought about because of a 24-16 victory in San Diego last fall when the Chargers beat New York's Jets. There was no try for an extra point after the final San Diego touchdown as fans rushed onto the field.

Although that game had no bearing in the playoff picture, Kensil said that points for and against contending teams could make a difference in the site of playoff battles.

Also put in the rule books was a decree against a defensive player using his hands to vault off a teammate in an effort to block kicks.

A 15-yard penalty will be assessed.

A third rule change gives the offensive club an option on penalties if the defense commits a foul on a try for extra point. If the play is halted, the offensive team can take the penalty or decline it and subsequently take the advantage on the ensuing kickoff.

Warriors Love Home Cooking

Heard Scores 27 As Phoenix Tips Pistons

From Associated Press

If the Golden State Warriors continue their present pace and finish with the best record in the National Basketball Association, they will have the home court advantage in every playoff series in which they are involved.

And at the rate they have been winning at home, that will be an awesome advantage. The Warriors, Pacific Division champions with a 50-26 record — best in the NBA — extended their home-court winning streak to eight games and their season's over-all record at the Oakland Coliseum Arena to 34-14 edging the Buffalo Braves 310-100 Thursday night in a game with a wild West ending.

It was a victory that Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsey thought the Warriors "stole."

Ramsey's anger was aroused in the closing seconds when the Braves appeared to have stolen an inbound pass by the Warriors with the score 110-109. But referee Bill Jones gave the ball back to Golden State on the grounds that the ball was not yet inbound when it was swiped.

The Warriors had led by five points, 110-105, with only 29 seconds left but almost threw away the game. Randy Smith pulled Buffalo within one point with a pair of field goals in the space of six seconds.

The Braves eventually got the ball back following a jump ball, and after Smith missed a shot, teammate Ken Charles grabbed the rebound. Charles attempted another shot with three seconds left, but the Warriors' Jamaal Wilkes blocked it, preserving the victory.

In other NBA games, the Phoenix Suns downed the Detroit Pistons 106-100, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 110-104, and the Washington Bullets topped the Kansas City Kings 110-102.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets whipped the Denver Nuggets 119-98 and the San Antonio Spurs trimmed the Spirits of St. Louis 115-105.

Garfield Heard's season-high 27 points, Paul Westphal's 24 and Alvan Adams' 21, including 18 in the second half, led Phoenix past Detroit. Bob Lanier topped the Pistons with 24.

Although Cleveland went scoreless for 8:27 — a stretch spanning the third and fourth periods — the Cavs were able to overcome the 76ers with the help of Austin Carr's 11 points in the final quarter.

Elvin Hayes and Dave Bing combined for 11 points during a 90-second span early in the fourth period, helping the Bullets overcome the Kings.

Julius Erving's 32 points, 16 rebounds, five assists, four blocked shots and two steals keyed the Nets to their fifth straight victory and moved them within 5½ games of first-place Denver in the ABA race.

Larry Kenon's 25 points led a balanced San Antonio offense against the Spirits, paced by Marvin Barnes' 34 points. Kenon also grabbed 14 rebounds.

Life-Style Change Aids Floyd's Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ray Floyd, once one of pro golf's most flamboyant, swinging bachelors, has turned his life-style around.

And with it, he's turned his golf game around.

"It was a pretty haphazard way," Floyd recalled Thursday after a solid, four-under-par 68 provided him with a tie for the lead in the first round of the $175,000 Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

"I was making a lot of money, at least enough to live pretty good. If I played bad, so what? There was always next week."

"I really didn't even much like playing golf. It was just a way to make a living, a way to get from town to town, a way to get from week to week. I really didn't care about anything. It was just a way to go."

And Floyd made a very good living — and lived it high — with his happy-go-lucky attitude. He reached the peak in 1969 when he won the PGA national championship, two other tournaments and more than $100,000. Then it stopped. Nothing happened. His natural talent kept him going, but nothing important happened. He didn't win again for six years.

The turning point came in this tournament three years ago.

"I shot a bad score in the first round and I withdrew," he recalled. "That's not a very professional thing to do, but I did it."

"And then I sat down and had a long talk with my wife. I'd only been married about four months at the time. We talked about a lot of things, a lot of mental things. I guess you could call it my awakening."

"It was the turn-around of my career."

"My wife (Maria) made me wake up. She made me see that I'd been lax. I'd been just waiting for my game to come back. She made me see I had to work to make it come back, that you have to work for anything you want."

So Floyd went to work. It paid off with a solid, $100,000 season in 1974. He broke through as a winner again in 1975. And, in only four events this season, he's knocking on the door again.

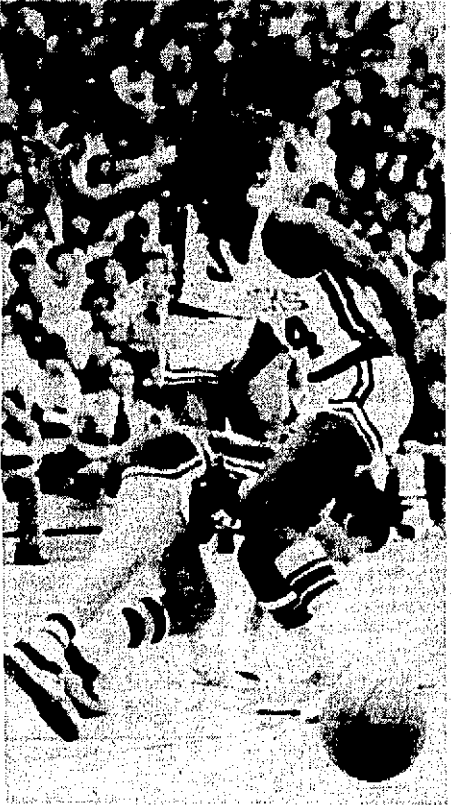

He shared the top spot in a slow-starting field with Lanny Wadkins, trying to break a two-year slump, and young Danny Edwards, in only his second full season on the tour.

The group at 89, three under par on the 7,140-yard, lake-dotted, pine-studded Deerwood Club course, included gangling, 6-foot-5 Peter Oosterhuis of England, Nate Starks, Mike Hill, Barney Thompson and Buddy Allin.

Ben Crenshaw, already a two-time winner this year, and Mark Hayes, the young man who has made unsuccessful title challenges in the last three tournaments, headed a big group at 70.

Hubert Green, a winner last week, shot a round of par 72 but some of the game's other top attractions had their difficulties despite the mild, sunny weather and gentle breezes. South African Gary Player and Tom Weiskopf were at 73 and frustrated Arnold Palmer must improve from a 75 if he is to survive the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Hal Irwin and Lee Trevino are not competing.

Benko Captures Third Foil Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Senior Greg Benko won his third straight National Collegiate Athletic Association foil championship Thursday, but it wasn't enough as Wayne State University lost its national fencing crown to New York University.

NYU finished the tournament with 79 points to the Tartars' 77. Notre Dame finished third with 76.

Benko went 28-0 in foil to win his third individual title. He is only the third fencer in NCAA history ever win three straight championships.

Ann Arbor's Greg Massialas, fencing for Cornell, was runnerup to Benko.

Ben Crenshaw, already a two-time winner this year, and Mark Hayes, the young man who has made unsuccessful title challenges in the last three tournaments, headed a big group at 70.

Hubert Green, a winner last week, shot a round of par 72 but some of the game's other top attractions had their difficulties despite the mild, sunny weather and gentle breezes. Price Hike Pays Off

BUFFALO (AP) — The National Football League Buffalo Bills sold fewer tickets but took in more money during the 1975 season than 1974, an audit revealed Tuesday.

An Erie County audit of Rich Stadium football receipts stated that the team sold 687,271 tickets in 1975, down from 705,201 in 1974.

A price boost averaging $1 per ticket, however, raised gross ticket revenues from $5.7 million in 1974 to $8.3 million last year, according to the audit.

Flyers, Scouts' Streaks Continue

From Associated Press

The Philadelphia Flyers tied a National Hockey League success record and the Kansas City Scouts set a club record for failure, but neither feat was easy ... the Flyers had to erase a two-goal deficit and the Scouts had to blow a two-goal lead.

The Flyers ran their unbeaten streak to 23 games by nipping the Vancouver Canucks 3-2 as Reggie Leach scored his 14th goal of the season, most ever by a right wing in the NHL. Meanwhile, the Scouts' winless skid reached 17 games when they lost to the Boston Bruins 3-2. In the only other game, the Detroit Red Wings trounced the St. Louis Blues 6-3.

The Indianapolis Racers and San Diego Mariners tied 4-4 in the only World Hockey Association contest.

The Flyers' unbeaten streak — 17 wins and six ties — equaled the mark set by the 1940-41 Boston Bruins. After spotting the Canucks the lead on first-period goals by Bobby Lalonde and Dennis Ververgaert, Philadelphia rallied for second-period goals in less than 90 seconds by Jack McIlhargey, Leach and Dave Schultz.

Coach Fred Shero wasn't overly impressed by the streak since the Flyers still trail Montreal by eight in the over-all NHL point race.

"I guess it's good for the players," he said. "It gives them and the fans something to talk about. But it means nothing to me. We haven't accomplished what we set out to do and that is get the home ice advantage in the playoffs."

Boston's Jean Ratelle got two goals and an assist after Kansas City took a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Dave Hudson and Gary Croteau. Boston tied the game with goals 24 seconds apart in the middle period by Ratelle and Hank Nowak and Gregg Sheppard scored the tiebreaker.

"I'll tell you, when you're down it's like a beaten dog," sighed KC Coach Eddie Bush. "They just kick the hell out of you."

Rookie Michel Bergeron scored four goals, three on power plays, as Detroit snapped a seven-game winless string. Bergeron's third goal at 1:28 of the final period broke a 2-2 deadlock and Dennis Polonich and Bill Luched scored within a three-minute span. Detroit's Bryan Watson received seven minutes in penalties and became the NHL's all-time bad boy with 1,861 in 13 seasons to 1,906 by Ted Lindsay in 17 years with Detroit and Chicago.

Indianapolis eked out the tie on Dave Koon's power play goal in the third period. The Racers came back twice from two-goal deficits. Ronald Leclerc and Brian McDonald erased a 2-0 San Diego lead and, after Andre Lacroix and Wayne Rivers gave the Mariners a 4-2 edge, Kerry Bond of Indianapolis made it 4-3 with an assist by Koon.

Tiger Camp Ready For Action

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — All but 11 of the 36 men on the Detroit Tigers roster showed up for the first day of spring training Thursday, with the rest reported en route.

Even as they were getting settled in, the Tigers declared themselves ready for action.

Manager Ralph Houk talked it over with the players and made it known afterwards that a respectable team can be fielded to face the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition contest Monday night.

If the Red Sox can't get it together that soon, however, the Tigers won't see action until Wednesday when they're scheduled to play the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg.

With Monday's game, there are 17 left, slightly more than half the original schedule. Houk says he hopes to beat that up by playing seven-inning doubleheaders beginning April 1.

Spirits were high at the Tiger training camp on the long-awaited first day.

"I've really been looking forward to this," said center fielder Ron LeFlore. "A lot of players were talking about going home if this thing had dragged on because they were running out of money. But I told myself I was going to stay here if I had to get a job sweeping streets."

"This should be the most interesting spring training this team has had in quite a few years. Everybody is going to have to work for what they get. And I think it will give people a little more desire, when they know they don't have a job won."

"I'm not saying I don't have a job — but I know there is a possibility I might not have a job. And if that happens it'll be my fault."

Willie Horton woke so early Thursday that he did his daily exercises and hit for a half-hour in the batting cage at Marchant Stadium before some of the other players even made it out of bed.

"You never get too old to be nervous," the chunky 32-year-old blither said.

For Houk there was relief.

"It seems funny to be working," he said. "At least now I won't have to change my plans any more. That was the toughest part of the whole thing. Every day we were delayed, I had to change my whole program."

Issues Should Be Negotiated -- Anderson

Stalemated NFL Talks Resuming?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A show of good faith may have brought progress in the stalemated and often hostile contract negotiations between the National Football League clubs and their players.

Both commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL and Dick Anderson, the Miami Dolphins' defensive back who is new president of the Players Association, said after an amiable session Thursday that they hoped talks could resume next week.

For two years, there has been no collective bargaining agreement between the owners and players who have been battling in the courts.

A breakthrough was seen in Anderson's statement that all issues in the dispute should be negotiated. This presumably would include the so-called Rozelle Rule of compensation for a team losing a player who plays out the option year of his contract and thus becomes a free agent.

Under the rule, which has been held illegal by courts in Minneapolis and San Francisco, the team signing such a free agent must compensate the club which has lost him.

Anderson said he and fellow members of the players executive committee — Fred Willis of Houston and Jack Youngblood of Los Angeles — came to the Hotel del Coronado to show their good faith that contract negotiations could resume.

Rozelle said he could not recall any such effort in the past and said he was certain a meeting between the players association and the NFL Management Council could be arranged for next week or the following week at the latest.

The NFL annual meeting ends today.

Rozelle said the owners were impressed by the Anderson presentation at an executive session. The player told news- men, "Basketball worked out its

The meeting between Anderson and the owners highlighted Thursday's sessions.

Earlier, the owners turned down a suggestion that instant replay tape be used by officials before determining crucial plays.

But Jim Kensil, executive director of the league, said owners decreed the instant replays should be studied further.

The league also decreed that all games must be played to a conclusion, a rule brought about because of a 24-16 victory in San Diego last fall when the Chargers beat New York's Jets. There was no try for an extra point after the final San Diego touchdown as fans rushed onto the field.

Electronic Dart Gun Now 'Firearm'; Subject To Federal Control Laws

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional supporters of a ban on public possession of the space-age TASER electronic dart gun say they will renew their efforts in the wake of a government ruling putting the weapon under federal gun controls.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms reversed a 1973 opinion on Thursday and ruled that after May 1 the weapons will be considered firearms and thus subject to federal gun laws.

Bureau Director Rex Davis attributed the change of heart to a study prompted by "increasing reports of its use in crime."

The weapon is called a "TASER," after "Taser's Electric Rifle." It shoots a dart into its victims, then, through a connecting wire, can inflict a pulsating electrical jolt of up to 50,000 volts, according to the bureau. The weapon, which costs about $200, currently is permitted under federal law to be purchased by anyone who wants one. Some localities, such as New York City and California, limit its possession.

Such a gun immobilized a Miami service-station attendant last September while handits staged a robbery. In January, police in Philadelphia's suburban Montgomery County reported that four handits used dart guns to torture a couple until they disclosed the location of their valuables.

And over the weekend, police discovered the bodies of a 77-year-old Langhorne, Pa., couple who had apparently been jolted with the electronic guns and then shot with conventional weapons. The causes of the deaths are still under investigation.

In 1973, the bureau, part of the Treasury Department, notified the weapon's maker, TASER Systems Inc. of Los Angeles, that the device was not a firearm and thus not subject to the Gun Control Act.

By reclassifying the weapon as a firearm, TASER now can be sold only by registered gun dealers, and the bureau must be notified of sales.

Shorter Hours Top Goal Of UAW New Contracts

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — A cut in hours, put on the job but not money, put in the paycheck will be the United Auto Workers top aim when it negotiates new contracts with industry this summer, union leaders say.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Thursday the union is prepared to strike if necessary for reduced work schedules to put some 60,000 members now on indefinite layoff back to work.

"If we don't find a satisfactory solution, there could be a strike," the president of the 1.4-million member union warned at the opening session of a UAW collective bargaining convention here.

Woodcock did not outline any specific plan for reducing work time, saying union negotiators need flexibility at the bargaining table "so as not to be locked into any one position."

"The central theme of 1976 bargaining has to be job security. This has to be achieved by reduced work time," he said before 2,800 delegates meeting through Saturday.

During the conference, delegates will approve general demands which will be presented to industry bargainers when formal talks begin in July. Contracts covering 850,000 auto and farm implement workers in the United States and Canada expire in September.

The UAW says the severe sales slump of 1974 and 1975 has cost the union 75,000 jobs in addition to current long-term layoffs.

"We want to examine all possibilities of reduction in hours below 40, the reduction in the time worked each week, in the time worked each year, in total work life or any feasible combination which results in more jobs," he said.

At a news conference following his speech, Woodcock would not rule out a drive for a 32-hour week at 40 hours' pay, a proposal sought by several UAW locals. However, top union sources say that proposal is too costly for serious consideration.

Woodcock said "union demands this year also would include improvements in the cost-of-living wage adjustment, health care programs, company-paid supplemental unemployment benefits for laid-off workers and pension provisions."

Auto workers earn an average $6.76 an hour in straight pay and about $3 an hour in benefits. The pay scale ranges from $6.53 for an assembler to $8.11 for a top-rated skilled employee.

Tragedy Strikes Family Again

MILLINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Tragedy has struck again at the family of Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Brown. Two weeks ago, on the night of the March 2 ice storm, their home burned to the ground. The Browns and their four young children escaped but lost everything they owned. Late Wednesday, their only son, Lannie Lee, 8, a first grader at St. Paul Lutheran school, was playing with one of his three sisters and an older cousin near the home of relatives with whom the Browns are staying temporarily. Witnesses said Lannie darted across the road in front of a car whose driver swerved in a vain attempt to avoid hitting the boy. Funeral services will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at St. Paul Lutheran Church. Members of the congregation plan to make a door-to-door collection in this Tuscola County community to help the hard luck family.

PISTOL PACKERS: The Ice Capades imitate the famed Kilgore College Rangerettes in their act of Ice Capades at Wings stadium, Kalamazoo. Performances are tonight at 7:30, Saturday 2 p.m. and 7:30, Sunday 2 and 6 p.m. Ice Capade scouts will hold talent auditions immediately after tonight's performance.

Chrysler Officials Forego Pay Hikes

DETROIT (AP) — All but one of the top officers of Chrysler Corp., which lost $260 million last year, received no salary increases in 1975, and for a second straight year no executive bonuses were paid.

The firm reported Thursday in a proxy statement that the only raise to a top officer last year went to company President Eugene A. Cafiero, who was elevated from executive vice president last October. Cafiero's salary of $181,042 was increased from $158,858 in 1974. Chairman John J. Riccardo, Chrysler president for the first nine months of the year, received $215,825 in salary last year, the same amount he was paid in 1974, when the firm lost $62 million.

In addition, outside directors of the firm voted themselves a pay cut a year ago, reducing their annual fee from $10,000 to $7,500.

Overall, 51 Chrysler officers and directors received a total of $3,623,186 in salaries last year. A total of $3,602,528 was spread among 55 officers and directors in 1974.

In 1973, the last year the firm awarded executive bonuses, then President Riccardo received $202,750 in salary and $378,106 in bonuses for total compensation of $580,856. Cafiero, a vice president then, earned $148,750 in salary and $252,200 in bonuses for a total of $400,950.

Ex-Egg Thrower Now Uses Poetry To Back Workers

By PIERO VALSECCHI
Associated Press Writer
MILAN, Italy (AP) — In the hot years of student unrest, Giulio Stocchi pursued the cause of proletarian revolution by hurling tomatoes and stones at policemen and visiting political leaders.

Former U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among his targets, Stocchi claims, hit by an egg during a visit to Italy.

Ten years later, at age 32 Stocchi, a curly haired, bespectacled philosophy student, has turned to a more gentle way to support the cause of workers — poetry.

His poems about occupied factories, fired workers and political violence — all serious problems gripping this country — have won a large audience of students and workers in the past few months.

When Stocchi first read to a crowd of 50,000 strikers crowding Milan's cathedral square last December, reciting a verse about the workers dismissed by an auto firm, he received roaring applause, louder than that given to union leader Luciano Lama.

Now dubbed "The Poet of the Workers," Stocchi says he did not expect such success.

"I was afraid to read a poem to workers. I feared not being understood. But they realized I could also support their struggle through poetry," Stocchi said.

Since his first public appearance, Stocchi has been invited to read his poems in various factories and at political rallies. He even gets "orders" for poems by workers.

"They call me at home, asking some lines about problems at their plants, or about their fight for a new contract. They now trust poetry, or at least this kind of social poetry," he said.

His most popular work, written after the Leyland-Innocenti auto factory was closed by the British parent company with the loss of 4,500 jobs, was printed by the metalworkers unions and distributed among blue collar employees of several Italian firms.

Stocchi, an avowed leftist militant, has written poems attacking President Ford's visit to Italy last year, and about leftist students killed in clashes with police.

"I write against capitalism and of Italy's social plagues. But I also deal with love. I have been writing poems since I was 15 and many of my works were devoted to love. I also read love poems to the workers and they liked them as much as the ones about their problems," Stocchi said.

GIULIO STOCCHI
Poet of the workers

"I could become a 'professional' poet, but not from the financial point of view. Professional because I could devote full time to poetry," Stocchi explained.

To support himself he translates poems from Spanish and French.

Stocchi devotes much of his time to meetings with workers in factories.

"You must give them problems to write about the problems. This is essential for understanding their fight and bridging the gap which has always divided the workers and the so-called intellectuals," he asserted.

JOHN P. ROCHE A Word Edgewise

On Tuesday night, March 9, I finished a seminar at 7:30 and went to get my coat. As I was turning off the lights in my office, one of my students rushed up and said, "Carter has won 42 per cent in Florida!" Looking at my watch, I noted that many of the polls hadn't yet closed and asked for the source — "The CBS check of key precincts." Although it was unexpected, it was a pleasure to know George Wallace had been beaten... but then came the recollection of the Massachusetts version of the CBS poll of "key precincts," which had Morris Udall winning. My student told me that Wallace received 30 percent and Scoop Jackson 18.

Politics must bow to the "Adams Chronicles," but at 10 p.m. we tuned in and discovered that the "key precincts" seemed to be having some problems: Carter was down to about 37 percent, Wallace stable, but Jackson had moved up to 20. We went to bed and awakened Wednesday morning to discover that in the final tally Carter had received 34 percent, Wallace, 31, and Jackson 24. The New York Times managed to keep Udall in the race with a subhead: "Udall Fourth"; actually he was sixth with 2 percent.

Now fun is fun, but this nonsense should be stopped. Do you realize the margin of error between the original Carter figure and the final results? Unless my math is hopelessly defective it was about 25 percent — as was the Jackson miscall. Moreover, the original computation had Carter beating Jackson by a margin of 7-3; the final results brought this down to less than 3-2.

But leaving that aside, British experience indicates — as I pointed out here in connection with their last General Election — that voters take delight in lying to pollsters who greet them as they emerge from the booth and ask them who they picked. On this basis one British authority gave Labor a 100-seat majority in Commons early in the evening — by the time Labor's margin had gutted down to 3, he quietly vanished.

On the Republican side, President Ford put the fourth nail in Ronald Reagan's coffin. Despite the fact that I think Reagan would be easier for a Democrat to beat in November, I am glad. In my judgment, character is fate; and whatever our political differences, Mr. Ford strikes me as a straight arrow. On the other hand, when I first saw Reagan in action in the late 40s — he was then a leading light in the Southern California branch of Americans for Democratic Action — I thought he was a mechanical man with no depth of conviction. Today his conservatism comes through in the same fashion; indeed, I have speculated on occasion that his politics are in his wife's name. His ADA-period wife was a solid liberal; his present one, a convinced conservative.

Finally, since I recently patled myself on the back for correctly calling the Massachusetts primary, I feel the obligation to use my Rubie Goldberg machine and boot myself in the duff for overestimating Wallace's clout in Florida. Perhaps Wallaceism is a one-time malady like chicken pox: Once you have had it, you are thereafter immune. I trust this is the case: Michigan will be the real laboratory. As for Jimmy Carter, I am unrepentant: I'm sure that down deep inside he is shallow.

Austerity Cuts In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Four city departments will be eliminated. The Historical Museum shut and 467 workers laid off permanently under austerity cuts announced Thursday by Mayor Coleman Young. An additional 721 employees will be laid off for two weeks before returning to work on the federal payroll, city officials said. Funds will be provided by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

To the Voters of the Fourth Congressional District,

It seems wrong that the contest for this district's seat in the U.S. house of Representatives has so few candidates. It is a mark of public apathy and the Democratic Party's being unable to take advantage of its possible strength and its numbers.

I know the problems are organization and money; only an organization with funds and help can hope to challenge the long tenure of the Republicans in this district. If the Democrats here do not make a serious bid for the office this year, they must recognize that the leading Republican candidate will represent them in Congress for at least ten years.

I am willing to run as a Democrat for the office if I can get personal and financial support from the regular Democrats and additional support from other interested voters. I have neither the funds nor the time to make a worthwhile bid without such assistance.

I will be 54 years old this year; I am a graduate of the U. of Colorado (1949), a U.S. Army veteran (infantry) and a retiree from 22 years of service with the Central Intelligence Agency. (The Director of CIA has given me permission to state this publicly but I am, from personal conviction, not allowed to discuss my work in detail.) I retired from CIA in 1973 and resumed teaching at Lake Michigan College. I say "resumed" since my first job after leaving the University was at the Junior College of Benton Harbor from 1949 to 1951. I am married and have two children, a son 24 and a daughter 22.

I have seen a great part of this world and for 22 years was deeply involved in the workings of the U.S. Government. I am aware of most of the problems and consider some of them grave.

This, then, is my plea. I believe the District deserves a campaign which stresses the desire of the electorate — that an experienced person be sent to Washington. There are no real "national" issues in this campaign — nobody says they like inflation, or unemployment, or forced busing, or inadequate defenses, or uncontrolled government spending. The only issue is whom the electorate wants in office. I am willing to try since I believe that the voters should have a real choice.

If I can count on your help or can give you additional information, please let me know.

Ex-Egg Thrower Now Uses Poetry To Back Workers

By PIERO VALSECCHI
Associated Press Writer
MILAN, Italy (AP) — In the hot years of student unrest, Giulio Stocchi pursued the cause of proletarian revolution by hurling tomatoes and stones at policemen and visiting political leaders.

Former U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among his targets, Stocchi claims, hit by an egg during a visit to Italy.

Ten years later, at age 32 Stocchi, a curly haired, bespectacled philosophy student, has turned to a more gentle way to support the cause of workers — poetry.

His poems about occupied factories, fired workers and political violence — all serious problems gripping this country — have won a large audience of students and workers in the past few months.

When Stocchi first read to a crowd of 50,000 strikers crowding Milan's cathedral square last December, reciting a verse about the workers dismissed by an auto firm, he received roaring applause, louder than that given to union leader Luciano Lama.

Now dubbed "The Poet of the Workers," Stocchi says he did not expect such success.

"I was afraid to read a poem to workers. I feared not being understood. But they realized I could also support their struggle through poetry," Stocchi said.

Since his first public appearance, Stocchi has been invited to read his poems in various factories and at political rallies. He even gets "orders" for poems by workers.

"They call me at home, asking some lines about problems at their plants, or about their fight for a new contract. They now trust poetry, or at least this kind of social poetry," he said.

His most popular work, written after the Leyland-Innocenti auto factory was closed by the British parent company with the loss of 4,500 jobs, was printed by the metalworkers unions and distributed among blue collar employees of several Italian firms.

Stocchi, an avowed leftist militant, has written poems attacking President Ford's visit to Italy last year, and about leftist students killed in clashes with police.

"I write against capitalism and of Italy's social plagues. But I also deal with love. I have been writing poems since I was 15 and many of my works were devoted to love. I also read love poems to the workers and they liked them as much as the ones about their problems," Stocchi said.

GIULIO STOCCHI
Poet of the workers

"I could become a 'professional' poet, but not from the financial point of view. Professional because I could devote full time to poetry," Stocchi explained.

To support himself he translates poems from Spanish and French.

Stocchi devotes much of his time to meetings with workers in factories.

"You must live their problems to write about the problems. This is essential for understanding their fight and bridging the gap which has always divided the workers and the so-called intellectuals," he asserted.

JOHN P. ROCHE
A Word Edgewise

On Tuesday night, March 9, I finished a seminar at 7:30 and went to get my coat. As I was turning off the lights in my office, one of my students rushed up and said, "Carter has won 42 per cent in Florida!" Looking at my watch, I noted that many of the polls hadn't yet closed and asked for the source — "The CBS check of key precincts."

Although it was unexpected, it was a pleasure to know George Wallace had been beaten. . . but then came the recollection of the Massachusetts version of the CBS poll of "key precincts," which had Morris Udall winning. My student told me that Wallace received 30 percent and Scoop Jackson 18.

Politics must bow to the "Adams Chronicles," but at 10 p.m. we tuned in and discovered that the "key precincts" seemed to be having some problems: Carter was down to about 37 percent, Wallace stable, but Jackson had moved up to 20. We went to bed and awakened Wednesday morning to discover that in the final tally Carter had received 34 percent, Wallace, 31, and Jackson 24. The New York Times managed to keep Udall in the race with a subhead: "Udall Fourth"; actually he was sixth with 2 percent.

Now fun is fun, but this nonsense should be stopped. Do you realize the margin of error between the original Carter figure and the final results? Unless my math is hopelessly defective it was about 25 percent — as was the Jackson miscall. Moreover, the original computation had Carter beating Jackson by a margin of 7-3; the final results brought this down to less than 3-2.

But leaving that aside, British experience indicates — as I pointed out here in connection with their last General Election — that voters take delight in lying to pollsters who greet them as they emerge from the booth and ask them who they picked. On this basis one British authority gave Labor a 100-seat majority in Commons early in the evening — by the time Labor's margin had gotten down to 3, he quietly vanished.

On the Republican side, President Ford put the fourth nail in Ronald Reagan's coffin. Despite the fact that I think Reagan would be easier for a Democrat to beat in November, I am glad. In my judgment, character is fate; and whatever our political differences, Mr. Ford strikes me as a straight arrow. On the other hand, when I first saw Reagan in action in the late 40s — he was then a leading light in the Southern California branch of Americans for Democratic Action — I thought he was a mechanical man with no depth of conviction. Today his conservatism comes through in the same fashion; indeed, I have speculated on occasion that his politics are in his wife's name. His ADA-period wife was a solid liberal; his present one, a convinced conservative.

Finally, since I recently patted myself on the back for correctly calling the Massachusetts primary, I feel the obligation to use my Rube Goldberg machine and boot myself in the duff for overestimating Wallace's clout in Florida. Perhaps Wallaceism is a one-time malady like chicken pox: Once you have had it, you are thenceforth immune. I trust this is the case: Michigan will be the real laboratory. As for Jimmy Carter, I am unrepentant: I'm sure that down deep inside he is shallow.

Budget-Balancing Legislation Advances

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two key budget-balancing bills are headed for the House floor and a third may follow soon. The House Appropriations Committee on Thursday reported out measures allowing the state to borrow $50 million from the Veterans Trust Fund and $20 million from the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

The third bill in the package would extend the fiscal year three months to Sept. 30 to let the state pick up an estimated $80 million. The committee Wednesday could not muster a large enough majority to report the extension bill out of committee. "We're coming out," House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, said Thursday. Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, chairman of the committee, said the extension bill, which he opposes as a stopgap measure, "has a fair chance of being reported out."

Members said they want the Department of Management and Budget to submit supplemental appropriation bills showing exactly how the extra $80 million would be spent. Members also said they want documentation to show the figure is accurate.

Questions also have been raised on how the proposed Sept. 30 ending date would affect state school aid payments. "We'll be meeting with (Budget Director Gerald) Miller early next week, and I'm sure after that that the extension will be Rep. Philip Mastin, D-Hazel Park, a committee member, said he anticipates some action on the bill within the next week. The extension bill also provides for a 1976-1977 fiscal year to run from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30, and a 1977-1978 fiscal year to run from Oct. 1, 1977 to June 30, 1979. From June 30, 1979, on, the fiscal year schedule would be as it is now, from July 1 through June 30. Gov. William Milliken says the three bills, coupled with $124 million worth of spending cuts he ordered last year, would wipe out a projected $280 million deficit for 1975-1976 and meet the constitutional mandate for a balanced budget. The Senate has passed all three bills. The appropriations committee approved the Motor Vehicles Accident Claims Fund bill, 8-0, with no debate or changes. The Veterans Trust Fund bill was voted out, 11-3, after the committee rewrote it to change the formula for state repayment of the $50 million. Although the committee couldn't get a large enough majority to report the bill out at a Thursday morning meeting, members voted again Thursday afternoon during House session and finally got the measure out. Veterans groups are opposed to the bill because they say there is no guarantee the state will pay the money back.

Silence Is ... Required

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Thursday signed into law legislation aimed at curbing noise in cars and reducing dangers from exhaust fumes. The bill Milliken signed requires vehicle owners to maintain tailpipes and resonators — noise-muffling devices — in proper condition at all times. Milliken also signed into law a bill giving probate courts the same powers circuit courts have in matters concerning estates and wills, including the power to issue injunctions.

Drug 'Excesses' Told

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Department of Mental Health has issued guidelines for use of mind-affecting drugs in the wake of a report that they are widely used in excess of recommended maximum doses. A report issued earlier this week by the auditor general's office says a survey of patients in state mental hospitals showed 97 per cent received at least one of the so-called "psychotropic" drugs and about half received two or more such drugs.

The audit survey also showed that 30 per cent received such drugs in excess of recommended maximums and many received them for longer periods than are generally recommended. The psychotropic drugs are used for treatment of depression, anxiety and psychosis. Some critics have charged they are used more to control patients than as a cure.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Gives Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The best consumer price news in four and a half years failed to offset mounting concern over rising interest rates as stock prices gave ground again today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off more than a point at the opening. Losers topped gainers by about 4 to 3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As the market opened, the government reported that consumer prices in February were up only 0.1 per cent, the smallest rise since September 1971.

But that good inflation news apparently was nullified by Wall Street's apparent concern over a sharp rise in the nation's money supply reported Thursday, a rise that could bring with it a new climb in various interest rates.

Among today's prices, DuPont declined 1/2 to 143 1/2. Digital Equipment was off a point at 160 1/2, while J.P. Morgan gained 1/4 to 58.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 8.14 to 976.85 after gaining ground in the two previous sessions.

NYSE-listed losers topped gainers by about a 2 to 1 margin as volume slowed to 20.33 million shares.

On the American Exchange, the market value index declined 0.50 to 103.32.

FEC Tangle Threatens Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican parties say their nominating conventions may be in financial trouble unless Congress can settle the future of the Federal Election Commission.

The FEC, faced with losing its powers to disburse funds to the parties and presidential candidates, refused Thursday to approve early release of $1 million to help pay for the conventions.

Both parties said they had planned on receiving the funds and would face difficulties without them.

Meanwhile, legislation to restructure the FEC was stalled by intense labor lobbying and may be further threatened by a filibuster.

The FEC will lose its authority to disburse funds on Monday unless Congress acts to meet Supreme Court objections. The court said all FEC members should be appointed by the president.

Under current law, the major political parties are to receive $2.18 million, each in federal funds. The parties sought early certification of $500,000 each in hopes of avoiding a delay that will be inevitable unless the FEC is restructured by Monday.

But the FEC refused, voting 4 to 2, and cited a rule that would bar disbursement of the funds until at least nine days after the deadline.

Labor's lobbying showed through in Senate debate in Thursday's defeat of a GOP effort to preserve a provision in the FEC bill to require unions and corporations to disclose how much they spend in trying to influence the votes of their members, stockholders and employees.

The motion was defeated 55 to 39, leading Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., to say labor's lobbying was "as much as arm-twisting and screw-turning as I've seen around here in a long time."

Waterliet Protesters Want Probe By State Tax Panel

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

WATERLIET — A meeting called to protest property reassessments in Waterliet township drew 11 people last night, along with pledges to begin a letter-writing campaign and petitions asking for an investigation by the state tax commission.

Mrs. Robert (Karen) Postelli, in whose North Waterliet home the meeting was held, alleged that some township officials, some of her friends and relatives and some prominent businessmen, have not had their property assessed at the same rate applied to others. She urged those at her home to start comparing the assessments on homes around them, demand assessment figures from township officials "in writing," search for other dissatisfied property owners, and begin sending letters to State Sen. Harry A.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Gives Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The best consumer price news in four and a half years failed to offset mounting concern over rising interest rates as stock prices gave ground again today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off more than a point at the opening. Losers topped gainers by about a 4 to 3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

As the market opened, the government reported that consumer prices in February were up only 0.1 per cent, the smallest rise since September 1971.

But that good inflation news apparently was nullified by Wall Street's apparent concern over a sharp rise in the nation's money supply reported Thursday, a rise that could bring with it a new climb in various interest rates.

Among today's prices, DuPont declined 1 1/2 to 145 1/4. Digital Equipment was off a point at 169 1/4, while J.P. Morgan gained 3/4 to 58.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 6.14 to 979.85 after gaining ground in the two previous sessions.

NYSE-listed losers topped gainers by about a 2 to 1 margin as volume slowed to 20.33 million shares.

On the American Exchange, the market value index declined 0.50 to 103.32.

FEC Tangle Threatens Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican parties say their nominating conventions may be in financial trouble unless Congress can settle the future of the Federal Election Commission.

The FEC, faced with losing its powers to disburse funds to the parties and presidential candidates, refused Thursday to approve early release of $1 million to help pay for the conventions.

Both parties said they had planned on receiving the funds and would face difficulties without them.

Meanwhile, legislation to restructure the FEC was stalled by intense lobbying and may be further threatened by a filibuster.

The FEC will lose its authority to disburse funds on Monday unless Congress acts to meet Supreme Court objections. The court said all FEC members should be appointed by the president.

Under current law, the major political parties are to receive $2.18 million, each in federal funds. The parties sought early certification of $500,000 each in hopes of avoiding a delay that will be inevitable unless the FEC is restructured by Monday.

But the FEC refused, voting 4 to 2, and cited a rule that would bar disbursement of the funds until at least nine days after the deadline.

Labor's lobbying showed through in Senate debate in Thursday's defeat of a GOP effort to preserve a provision in the FEC bill to require unions and corporations to disclose how much they spend in trying to influence the votes of their members, stockholders and employees.

The motion was defeated 55 to 39, leading Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., to say labor's lobbying was "as much arm-twisting and screw-turning as I've seen around here in a long time."

FBI REPORT

N-Plants Survive Threats From Kooks

By WARREN E. LEARY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's nuclear facilities have faced bomb threats, several arson attempts and cases of people breaking through security, but none of these incidents has resulted in a major problem that would endanger the public, according to federal authorities.

Authorities also disclosed Thursday that since 1970 there were 28 incidents in which persons threatened to use nuclear material against cities. In each case, FBI investigations uncovered no unauthorized possession of nuclear material, officials said, and the threats were labeled the work of crackpots and the mentally ill. The FBI refused to discuss the incidents.

Authorities said there have been at least 175 threats or actual acts of violence against nuclear facilities since 1969.

A spokesman for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) said most involved telephone bomb threats that proved false, but he acknowledged there also were several arson attempts and in two cases a pipe bomb and dynamite were found.

Nuclear regulatory officials, not wanting to give ideas to potential terrorists or saboteurs, DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, a member of the Senate's taxation committee. "Our goal," her husband Robert said, "is to get the state tax commission in here."

Mrs. Postelli, 33, has been carrying on what has been up to this time, a one-person campaign against what she alleges were property reassessments that were not uniform.

She said last night before the beginning of the two-hour meeting that she has decided to run for election as Waterliet township supervisor, a post that incumbent Supervisor Lyle Woodworth has already said he would not seek re-election to. Woodworth, who has been supervisor for four years, announced on March 1 that a property reassessment had produced property value increases for over half of the 1,864 properties in the township.

He added that about 12 per cent of the assessments went down as he and Assessor Michael McGuire sought to put the township in have been reluctant to discuss threats or acts of violence. However, they released general information about security problems to Congress Watch, an organization associated with consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

Jim Cubie, who requested the information under the federal Freedom of Information Act, said he wanted to find out how great a security problem nuclear facilities faced.

"We wanted to find out if people with twisted minds are thinking nuclear," said the nuclear power critic, "and it appears that they are."

The NRC information listed 99 incidents of threats or violence at licensed nuclear facilities, which include research reactors and power plants. The Energy Research and Development Administration, which also released figures to Cubie, said there were 76 such incidents since 1969 involving government-owned or operated facilities, which are not licensed by the NRC but responsible to ERDA.

Among the incidents the NRC listed, but did not elaborate on, was a pipe bomb found on May 4, 1969, near an Illinois Institute of Technology reactor and an undisclosed amount of dynamite found in September 1970 outside a Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. plant.

Several breaks or incidents of people breaching security fences were reported, but the NRC said nothing was taken.

Cubie said it was obvious that "security at nuclear plants must be greatly upgraded."

The NRC spokesman discounted potentially serious security threats, saying, "It's not that easy to sabotage a nuclear facility."

"Each licensed facility has a very effective security program with guards, fences, alarms and all sorts of security protection, and we inspect the security measures of licensees."

Airline

Eviction Delayed

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — North Central Airlines has gained at least a temporary delay on a March 31 deadline to get out of the Emmet County Airport.

The delay emerged from a meeting Thursday between county officials and Jack Dow, a vice president of the airline, in a dispute over unpaid landing fees.

Jim Harris, a member of the county's airport committee, said only that the departure deadline was delayed.

The eviction order was issued last week by the county commission because North Central owes $5,600 in landing fees for the first two months of this year.

Dow said the airline would not pay a 300 per cent hike in landing fees which took effect Jan. 1 since the increase was too great, and there were no negotiations prior to the change.

Dow offered to pay a 60 per cent increase, but there has been no comment from the county on that offer.

Silver Creek Taxes Explained

DOWAGIAC — Tax assessments on residential property in Silver Creek township have increased an average of 12.2 per cent for 1976 because about $2.3 million has been added to the township's state equalized valuation, according to Richard Grabemeyer, assessor.

Grabemeyer explained how he made the increased assessments at Wednesday night's township board meeting. About 60 people attended the meeting to protest the hikes.

In addition to residential property increases, agricultural property assessments increased an average of 5.5 per cent, Grabemeyer said. He said increases in commercial and industrial assessments were "negligible."

The assessments were hiked after about $2.3 million was added to the township's SEV for 1976, Grabemeyer said. He said the SEV hike was made after a study of property sales in the township.

In turn, Grabemeyer added, he then made a "subdivision - by - subdivision, lake-by-lake" sales study so that the SEV hike would be spread on the basis of increased value by area, and not on an across the board hike.

The assessor stressed that the 12.2 and 5.5 per cent figures were averages, and that some increases varied in different locations in the township.

In other areas, the board took two steps to make Forest Beach road at Indian Lake a public road. The action came after property owners along the now private, dirt road requested it be made public and that a special assessment district be created to help pay for improvements to the road.

The board instructed its attorney to petition Cass county circuit court to declare the road public, and approved hiring a surveyor to determine the exact route of the road.

Creation of a special assessment district and an updated estimate on the cost of the project have yet to be approved. Jean Casey, township clerk, said a preliminary estimate on the street improvement, made last December, set total costs at about $18,000.

Al Ray of the Indian Lake fire department said his unit would again provide fire protection for the south part of the township for the next two years under the previous payment plan. At last month's meeting, the department asked that the plan be based on revenue from a two-mill levy instead of one and one-half mills. The rate will produce about $13,000 a year.

The board accepted for study a preliminary plat plan submitted by Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Love, Dowagiac, for a proposed mobile home park to be built near Indian Lake and called Indian Woods estates.

A request from the Sister Lakes Lions club for a contribution to help pay for a Bicentennial fire works display on July 4 was tabled until the board can receive an opinion for its attorney on whether the contribution would be legal.

Storage Firms Fined

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Three Michigan storage firms were fined a total of $29,500 in federal court Wednesday for conspiring to fix bids on storage contracts with K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base. Two other firms charged in the conspiracy were fined two weeks ago. U.S. District Court Judge Wendell A. Miles on Wednesday levied fines of $4,000 against Expressways Inc. of Saginaw, $12,500 against Flanigan Brothers Storage Co. of Marquette, and $13,000 against Vanways Inc. of Saginaw. Previously, Miles levied a $13,000 fine against Nystrom's Moving and Storage Inc. of Marquette and a $5,000 fine against Dobson Cartage and Storage Co. of Bay City.

Oscoda Bank Firebombed

OSCODA, Mich. (AP) — Two men were held today in the Iosco County jail today following the firebombing early this morning of the Oscoda State Savings Bank. Although the blaze caused by the firebomb was quickly extinguished, bank officials said damage could reach $10,000. Oscoda and Au Sable police, as well as Iosco County sheriff's deputies, said they had not established a motive for the bombing.

Ice Gives Way; Boy Dies

MIDDLEVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Playing on the thin ice of a Barry county pond cost a 4-year-old Irving Township boy his life Thursday. Sheriff's deputies said Timothy A. VanTil was playing with two of his young brothers when the ice cracked and he fell into the pond. The other children escaped and did not plunge through the ice.

Executives Enter Innocent Pleas

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirteen cardboard box company executives, including four from the Packaging Corp. of America in Evanston, have pleaded innocent to charges involving an alleged nationwide price-fixing conspiracy in the industry from 1960 to 1974.

An indictment on Feb. 18 named 23 corporations and 50 officers. The 13 entered pleas Thursday, while other executives named in the indictment entered pleas earlier this week.

Waterliet Protesters Want Probe By State Tax Panel

By STEVE MCQUOWN
Staff Writer

WATERLIET — A meeting called to protest property reassessments in Waterliet township drew 11 people last night, along with pledges to begin a letter-writing campaign and petitions asking for an investigation by the state tax commission.

Mrs. Robert (Karen) Postelli, in whose North Waterliet home the meeting was held, alleged that some township officials, some of their friends and relatives and some prominent businessmen, have not had their property assessed at the same rate applied to others. She urged those at her home to start comparing the assessments on homes around them; demand assessment figures from township officials "in writing"; search for other dissatisfied property owners; and begin sending letters to State Sen. Harry A.

Mrs. Postelli said last night: "As long as reassessments are across the board, and done fairly, no one is going to complain. But I don't think it was and that's why everything is out of whack." She listed the names of some six or seven township residents, some of them elected and appointed township officials, and alleged their assessments this year are below purchase prices or grossly unfair compared to other residents with lesser homes and property.

Said Mrs. John Trail: "Who you are or what you do should not mean your property should not be assessed." Mrs. Postelli said another meeting will be arranged when more facts have been obtained from the township office.

Two Bound Over On Drug Counts

Two Battle Creek men charged with possession of heroin March 8 in St. Joseph township were bound over to Circuit court yesterday after Berrien Fifth District court hearings. Freed on $20,000 bonds were Cleven R. Robertson, 26, and William L. Finnie, 25.

Demanding examinations yesterday in District court were:

R.H. Callum, 24, of 135 Hazel street, Benton township, accused of writing an insufficient funds' check for $151.71 Dec. 17 in St. Joseph. He was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Charles W. Thomas, 30, of 1949 Union, Benton township, on a charge of larceny in a building, theft of money from the Benton township Owens service station. He was jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Halton L. West, 23, of 134 Burton street, Benton township, on a charge of breaking into a car March 17 in the parking lot of Benton township Bargain Center. Bond of $5,000 was not posted.

Jo Ann Reese, 21, of 1759 Crystal court, Benton township, charged with carrying a concealed pistol in Benton township March 18. Also arrested during the incident was James G. Johnson Jr., 25, of 560 Warwick terrace, Benton Harbor, who demanded examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Jesse Vaughn, 22, of 396 Ohio, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to charges of assault and battery against Lillie Butler and drunk and disorderly. All were jailed under bonds.

Yesterday a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver was dismissed against Michael M. Brown, 27, of Dowagiac.

Sentenced were:

Anthony G. Hoffner, 18, of 226 Lake street, Benton Harbor, seven days in jail for filing a false police report in Lake township March 11.

David E. Hawks, 26, of 1989 John Beers road, Stevensville, fine and costs of $200 and two years probation for obtaining a license on a state charge of carrying a concealed pistol.

Jerry D. Banks, 26, of 888 Kephart lane, Berrien Springs, was released on $2,000 personal recognizance bond after a preliminary hearing in Berrien Fifth District court.

He is also free on bond from the U.S. Federal District court in Grand Rapids, where he is charged with making and possessing a silencer for a rifle.

Banks was arrested north of Berrien Springs Feb. 20 in an auto. Police said they confiscated a .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle with a silencer attached and a loaded .25 caliber pistol.

Questioning led to the confiscation of a .45 caliber submachine gun from an unidentified Berrien Springs man who won't be charged, federal agents said.

Threat Defendant Cleared By Jury

A Benton township man accused of threatening a friend of a witness in Berrien Fifth District court was cleared of the charge Thursday after a Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated 4½ hours.

Accused was Charlie Howard, 23, of 1304 Union street. The maximum penalty for an extortion charge is 20 years imprisonment. Howard was accused of extortion by allegedly threatening the girlfriend of a witness who was to testify against Howard during an examination on an armed robbery charge April 14, 1975, in district court. He was charged with threatening Lattie Mae Harris to persuade her to convince Larry Barlow that he shouldn't testify against Howard, the prosecution contended during the three-day trial.

The defense maintained Howard did not threaten anyone. He is still awaiting trial on the armed robbery charge. Opposing counsel during the trial in Judge Julian E. Hughes' courtroom were St. Joseph Atty. Jack Struwin and Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher.

Berrien Man Bound Over On Gun Count

A Berrien Springs man arrested last month on state and federal firearms charges was bound over to Berrien Circuit court yesterday on a state charge of carrying a concealed pistol.

Jerry D. Banks, 26, of 888 Kephart lane, Berrien Springs, was released on $2,000 personal recognizance bond after a preliminary hearing in Berrien Fifth District court.

He is also free on bond from the U.S. Federal District court in Grand Rapids, where he is charged with making and possessing a silencer for a rifle.

Banks was arrested north of Berrien Springs Feb. 20 in an auto. Police said they confiscated a .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle with a silencer attached and a loaded .25 caliber pistol.

Questioning led to the confiscation of a .45 caliber submachine gun from an unidentified Berrien Springs man who won't be charged, federal agents said.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Officers Summoned To School, Tavern

Benton Harbor police arrested Marvin Martin Evans, 19, of 794 Buss avenue, Thursday on a charge of attempted breaking and entering of Calvin Britain elementary school, 209 East Britain avenue.

Police said they were called to the school about 11:20 p.m. where a burglary was reported in progress. Police said a man was seen standing by a broken window on the west side of the school when they arrived. Evans was booked at the Berrien county jail where he was treated for a small cut on his hand, police reported. Police said entry to the school was not gained.

Benton Harbor police reported a man was arrested inside the Brooklyn tavern early today, after the tavern had been closed, when officers were summoned by a silent burglar alarm.

Booked at Berrien county jail on a charge of entry without breaking with intent to commit larceny was Leonard Gene Smith, 28, no address reported.

Police said they were called to the tavern, 379 Territorial road, about 3:25 a.m. Early Wednesday, the tavern was broken into and about $45 in March of Dimes money was stolen.

A Sodas township man reported he was beaten by two men Thursday in the 400 block of Pipestone street, Benton Harbor police said. Charles Williams, 23, of 139 Burkett avenue, sought his own treatment for apparently minor cuts and bruises after the incident about 8:30 p.m. Police said the attack apparently stemmed from an earlier argument.

Three thefts were investigated Thursday by Benton Harbor police and Berrien sheriff's deputies, including a handgun, citizens' band radio and an overcoat.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

A .22 caliber revolver, valued at $75, from the home of Benton township police dispatcher Oliver Slater, 755 Pipestone street.

A CB radio, valued at $169, from the car of Clark Steinhaus, 5956 Ontario street, Lake Michigan Beach, Hagar township, parked on Arthur Mendel road.

Irving Gelder, 4150 Ridge road, Stevensville, told Berrien deputies an overcoat, valued at $225, was stolen from his car parked at his home.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ON ESTABLISHMENT OF AN ASPARAGUS PROMOTION AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

A public hearing will be held pursuant to 1969 PA 306, Section 71, on Friday, March 26, 1976 at 10:00 a.m. in the Michigan Department of Agriculture hearing room, 5th Floor, Lewis Cass Building, Walnut Avenue, Lansing, Michigan, to consider an asparagus promotion and development program proposed by an Asparagus Industry Committee pursuant to 1965 PA 232, 10, as amended by 1974 PA 324. A petition signed by over 300 asparagus producers, has been filed with the Director of Agriculture.

The proposed program was developed to improve the economic position of the Michigan asparagus growers by:

a. Conducting advertising and promotion programs.

b. Developing projects to expand asparagus markets.

c. Authorizing and carrying on research programs.

d. Gathering and disseminating market information.

e. Cooperating with other organizations and agencies.

f. Assessing producers for funds to conduct the above programs.

The department urges all Michigan asparagus producers to study the proposal carefully. Interested persons are invited to present their views orally or in writing.

Please bring the enclosed copy of the proposal with you if you attend the hearing.

B. Dale Ball, Director March 19, 1976 H.P. Adv.

Ambulance Plan To Be Discussed At Watervliet

WATERVLIET — Members of the Watervliet joint ambulance board will meet informally with the Watervliet fire board Monday, March 22, at 7:30 p.m., in the Watervliet fire station, to discuss the possibility of the Watervliet fire department taking over the ambulance operation.

Al Kuiper, vice chairman of the ambulance board, said the meeting has been set up to learn the fire board's feelings toward taking over the operation of the now independently run city-township ambulance service.

Kuiper said should the change materialize a savings of tax dollars will be realized by both city and township taxpayers.

The ambulance service presently employs three full-time employees and 10 volunteer drivers, eight of whom are members of the fire department.

The cost for operating the service is paid half by the city and half by the township. The fire board and fire department are also a combined city-township function.

Watervliet township voters last September voted approval of a 1½ mill property tax levy to pay the township's share of maintaining the ambulance service for three years. The revenues expected to be collected during the first year will produce $19,200.

Centennial Descendants Sought By Keeler

KEELER — The Keeler Bicentennial committee is attempting to locate relatives or descendants of people who lived in Keeler township in 1876, relatives or descendants who still live in the township were asked by the committee to contact a committee member. The members are John Roosevelt, Miss Ruth Roosevelt or Mrs. Dorothy Ruple.

TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, March 19, the 79th day of 1976. There are 287 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1820, the U.S. Senate rejected the Versailles Treaty providing for a League of Nations. The action set the tone for a decade of U.S. isolationist policy.

On this date: In 1628, the English founded the Massachusetts Colony.

In 1813, the first territorial legislature of Alaska granted suffrage to women.

In 1817, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld a law reducing the working day of all railroad employees to eight hours.

In 1942, during World War II, American men between the ages of 45 and 64 were ordered to register for non-military duty.

In 1962, relative calm returned to Algeria after a ceasefire ended seven years of warfare between the French and Algerian nationalists.

Ten years ago: The United States and the Soviet Union signed a two-year cultural exchange agreement.

Five years ago: An avalanche touched off by an earthquake buried a mining camp in the Andes in Peru, killing at least 400 people.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that widowers with children were entitled to the same Social Security benefits as widows.

Today's birthdays: Writer Philip Roth is 43. Mrs. Charles Robb — the former Lynda Bird Johnson — is 32.

Thought for today: Woe unto them that are tired of everything for everything will certainly succeed of them — G.K. Chesterton, English writer, 1874-1936.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, after the British evacuation of Boston, General George Washington ordered his soldiers to stay out of the city unless on official missions because of a smallpox epidemic.

Lakeview Credit Union Will Meet

The Lakeview credit union's 17th annual meeting will be held at the St. Joe Kicker's club, Heller drive, Royalton township, Sunday, March 28, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., according to David Kienzie, credit union manager.

A social time will be from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., dinner from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m., and a business meeting from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at the credit union office, 883 Lester avenue, St. Joseph, or from credit union officers.

The ambulance service originally went into operation last July 1 after a Watervliet funeral home ceased ambulance service. According to Kuiper, last month the ambulance responded to 29 calls.

Kuiper pointed out similar combined fire-ambulance operations have been successful in the Sister Lakes area and in Hagar township.

IUEW Chief To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Jennings has announced he will resign, effective June 1, as president of the 250,000-member International Union of Electrical Workers.

Jennings, 58, said Thursday he had been advised by his physician to retire for health reasons.

VAN BUREN CHAPTER

Democrats Will Hold South Haven Meeting

DECATUR — The Van Buren Democratic committee will meet in the UAW hall in South Haven, Wednesday, March 24, at 8 p.m.

Chairman Leah Bennison, of Decatur, has announced that the committee's fund-raising auction date has been changed to May 15. Anyone having articles may still have them picked up by calling Joe Miller, Vernon Anthony or Ted Lapekas. The auction will be held one mile north of Decatur on M-51.

Mrs. Bennison also said that Merle B. Hamre, Paw Paw, has been named Van Buren county chairman for the Democrats 1976 Jefferson-Jackson dinner. Hamre is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 45th state representative district.

Mrs. Bennison stated that the dinner is to be held April 10, in Cobo hall, Detroit.

Announced Democratic Presidential candidates have been invited and will be the featured speakers at the dinner. In addition, this event will feature informal candidate forums.

Mrs. Bennison said honorary co-chairmen of the annual event are Coleman A. Young, Detroit mayor, and Philip A. Hart, retiring U.S. Sen. from Michigan.

Whale Captures Are Defended

SEATTLE (AP) — Sea World Inc. of San Diego has taken the offensive in answering criticism of its capture of six killer whales, the large, intelligent animals more akin to dolphins. The company said Thursday that killer whales on display and performing tricks in Sea World aquariums around the country are happier than those swimming free in Puget Sound.
